BISHOP'S '41

The Year Book of the University of
Bishop's College

This Year Book is dedicated to

Lieut.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

General Officer Commanding the Canadian Army Corps.

TO BISHOP'S 1941:

"The struggle in which we are now engaged is no ordinary war for the settlement of minor squabbles between nations. It is a clash between the fundamentals of right and wrong and the results will determine the manner of men's lives for untold generations yet to come. That the principles of Democracy will triumph, we do not doubt, but the struggle will be long and bitter and every resource at our disposal will be needed. In material matters the mobilization of man power and of industry proceeds at an ever-increasing rate and we are within sight of having adequate forces fully equipped for battle. It is even more important that increased attention should be given to the moral and intellectual fields and to research, and in this the mantle rests with our colleges and universities to provide the leaders we require. Nothing is more vital than this."

Andrew McNaughton

ARTS AND SCIENCE

Ian MacLachlan Hay

President: Students' Association

Never has there been a Senior Man at Bishop's better qualified for that position than 'Feather' Hay. His appointment, acclaimed by student and professor alike, has been justified many times over by his accomplishments as President of the Students' Association. Through him we have seen the culmination of many of the promises and hopes of the past, not the least of which is the complete redecorating and refurnishing of the students' common room.

Three years ago this gentleman and scholar brought his ability in both physical and mental endeavour to the hallowed walls of this institution, where he immediately embarked on the well rounded and colorful college life which has made him the pride of his old school mates of Montreal West High School. Seldom has a student dived with as much enthusiasm into all activities as did Ian. For three years he has played Rugby with a vigour and courage that belies his small stature. As a result he has received two major awards in addition to being elected captain of the team in his last year. He has carried his indomitable energy and spirit onto the basketball floor, and here he has also had his share of awards. Due to the conflict of the two major sports taking place in the winter months, the hockey team was never able to acquire his services. However that his prowess extended well into this field was seen in the inter-year hockey matches in which he was a more than competent forward.

A runner of no mean ability, in his first year he was outstanding in the annual road-race. C.O.T.C. has taken up a good deal of Ian's time since he has been here, and since he joined in his first year, he has done very well, receiving his commission and being appointed a platoon commander this last year. His ability as a leader of men was early recognized and was responsible for his election to the post of president of second year, a post which he filled so well that there was no question this year about who was best qualified for the job of Senior Man. His manifold activities did not keep him from entering actively into inter-faculty and inter-university debating where he showed poise and ability. Self-expression seems to be one of Ian's fortes; he will long be remembered as a coiner of well-turned witticisms and pithy epigrams, and his popularity with both sexes has been far from hampered by his invariable ability to say just the right thing at the right time. In preparation for a career in advertising he took over that side of the work on the Year Book last year and, characteristically, did it well. How a man could do all this and still get any academic work done is a mystery that few can fathom, but he seems to be taking an honours History course in his stride.

An ability to combine extracurricular and curricular activities, keeping each in its proper place, such as our Senior Man has evinced while with us at Bishop's, is an eloquent foreshadowing of the success he is bound to make of his life hereafter. All of us wish him luck, but we cannot help feeling as we remember him always first in academic endeavour, in sports, and in social activities, that even without it his success is a foregone conclusion.

Arthur Raymond Tulk

Secretary-Treasurer: Students' Association

Ray arrived at Bishop's in the fall of '38 glorying in the title of 'Waldo's little brother'. Unwilling to lounge among the laurels or rest on the proud reputation of the aforementioned brother Ray immediately became involved in practically every activity to be found at Bishop's.

"He is reminded of a story." Debating took his fancy in his first year, and since then not a year has passed without a Tulk anecdote flavouring the inter-faculty contests... "From history honors to histrionics". The Dramatics Society fostered his stellar rise from House Manager in his second year to a sensational walk-on and three nods in his third...

"Big Ray." It should be emphasized that his activities were not confined to the politer arts. Winning his letter as a crushing defenceman in Junior hockey in his freshman year he repeated easily in his second. Playing intermediate rugby in all three years — alternating between a sturdy centre position and a shifty backfield spot — he collected a minor and major award for those years in which the intercollegiate league was functioning. Inter-year basketball and the Road Race were also annual events for the versatile Cookville Kid.

"Wife vs Secretary". With such a variety of interests it is not surprising that Ray numbered among his third year offices Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Executive Council and of the Literary and Debating Society, and Acting Adjutant of the C. O. T. C. Apparently less perturbed than his colleagues by the multitude of financial statements, resolutions, and forms in triplicate with which these offices cluttered up his path, he sought diversion from the drab routine of college life as an officer of the 7/XI Hussars, and in several local leagues of organized sport... his showing with the Cookshire hockey team was indeed commendable.

"Student and Philosopher." This wealth of activity was of course subordinated to the primary aim of obtaining an Arts degree. As may well be imagined Ray went about this in the hard way too, electing to take History Honors in his third year. How Ray managed so admirably in the realm of academic endeavour and still earned regular mention in 'Notes and Comments' has always mystified the less fortunate of us. Lest this recitation of Ray's activities convey a picture of horn-rimmed efficiency and inhuman energy it should be stressed that Ray was perhaps the most human member of his year, devoid as he was of affectation and pretense.

Upon graduating, Ray intends to enlist in the army, a career for which he has shown particular aptitude while at college... from cadet to sergeant to second lieutenant... If the scattered energies of his college career are concentrated on military endeavour we predict a well-earned success, and concede an anticipatory salute!

Ralph H. Hayden

Vice-President: Students' Association

When Ralph was ready to begin his University career he naturally made his way to his father's Alma Mater. Since that day he has held the position of interpreter of the news in the New Arts. His walls are covered with maps of Europe, Asia, and Africa, and in a way his room has become the common room of the New Arts, for he is of course the president of the Parchesi Club.

In his first year Ralph played rugby long enough to miss lining the field. In basketball, however, he was one of the college aces, obtaining his Major 'B' for two years. This year when the college was without a basketball coach Ralph very capably took over. His executive ability soon gave him the position of Assistant Advertising Manager of the Mitre, from which he rose to the Manager's position. This year as Vice-President of the Students' Association, Ralph has had a hand in administering most of the college affairs. To see him sitting back in his chair in the council office vehemently puffing a twenty-five cent cigar, and discussing the Farmers' Formal, the renovation of the common room, or a means of raising money for the British War Relief Fund, is a sight to behold. Besides this he has given much of his time to the Advertising Committee.

One day while hunting for debaters, Shag stumbled upon Ralph, who was peacefully dozing in his favorite easy chair, and from that day on Ralph has been one of the most formidable men with whom the Divines have had to contend.

Next year Ralph plans to take an M.A.L.D. at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. We all wish you the best of everything, old boy, in whatever field you enter.

Ernestine Roberta Roy

President: Women's Association

'Ernie' was born at Levis in 1922. Three years ago she came from King's Hall, Compton, to Bishop's, where the class of '41 was quick to recognize her as the logical choice for senior freshette. To do justice to her personality and subsequent achievements is a difficult task.

It is probably in the field of dramatics that Ernie has made her most outstanding contribution to Bishop's. She made her debut on the stage of the Little Theatre as the heroine of 'Bargains in Cathay'. The following year she starred in 'The Trysting Place', and again in the major play 'The Perfect Alibi'. This year Ernie has distinguished herself both as an actress and a directress, producing the clever comedy 'Sham', and excellently portraying the difficult role of Mrs. Haggett in 'The Late Christopher Pean'. The Mitre has also claimed Ernie's attention. Always a willing contributor she worked for two years on the Literary Board.

In sporting circles she has been no less active . . . in her first year a valuable addition to the Girls' Basketball team . . . an enthusiastic badminton player, and past Secretary-Treasurer of the club . . . an active member of the newly organized Women's Ski Team.

As Senior Lady, Ernie fittingly climaxed a versatile college career. After graduating in History and English she will take up her chosen career as a 'White Collar Girl'. Her many friends at Bishop's join in wishing her success and good luck!

Travers Patrick Boyle

Pat's past is unknown to most of us, but rumor has it that he was born in England. Later Montreal became his home, and Westmount High School claimed much of his spare time. We do know, however, that before arriving at Bishop's Pat had had a very active life, cramming into it more than many find time for in half their lifetime.

Restless and energetic, Pat was the centre of many freshman activities. It was he who first set up a radio transmitter in the New Arts. It was also he who planted a microphone in the Girls' Common Room. It was he who . . . (censored). Dramatics at once enlisted his talent, and he appeared in "Little Father of the Wilderness" and in the major play "Laburnum Grove". It was the Mitre, however, that became his major concern. In his second year he was Editor, delighting one and all with his optimistic predictions as to publication dates. This year saw him President of the Mitre and of course its Council Representative.

The O. T. C. has occupied much of Pat's time, this year finding him senior corporal. The football field also clasped Pat to its muddy bosom during his first and second years. For after dinner diversion, before retiring to the odors of the chemistry lab, Pat could often be heard lustily singing with the glee club.

Pat's future is clear. This summer he will be busy as a radio engineer. Then in the fall he will join the Air Force.

H. Ross Bradford

Ross spent the early part of his life in Sherbrooke, where he attended Cambridge School and St. Pats Academy. On graduating he joined the ranks of the Bishop's day students, those unfortunate beings who have to get up in the morning. At the end of his first year Ross's family moved to Montreal, and of course Ross forsook the ranks of the commuters. Ever since then he has made the Old Lodge his home.

During the last two years Ross has marched faithfully with the O. T. C. under the eagle eye of 'Papa' Bouchard. The golf links have found him a frequent visitor, both in summer pursuing the elusive pill and in winter among the host of skiers. His contributions to the Mitre have been many, and all have shown a touch of the philosopher.

Ross leaves us this June with a B. A. in Philosophy. His plans for the future are uncertain, but whatever course he chooses all our best wishes go with him.

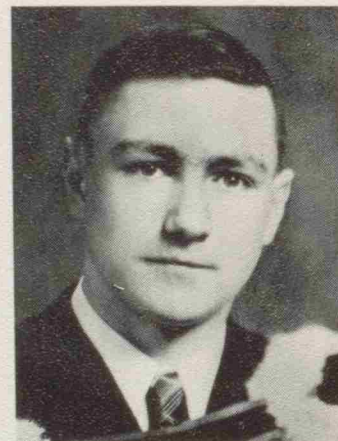

Edwin James Brown

On February 25th., 1920, the pleasant town of Streatham in Surrey was disturbed by the sounds of rapid conversation — in baby talk of course — which ultimately proved to have emanated from one Edwin Brown. Succeeding years found him in Canada, attending Sherbrooke High School and the local Drafting School.

Entering Bishop's in the fall of '38, Eddie proceeded immediately to great academic heights. His fast work (in the lab of course) amazed his less industrious fellow students and even at times Professor Kuehner. Chemistry, of course, was his guiding light.

In his spare time Eddie played inter-year basketball and hockey. His aggressiveness in the latter sport proved a big factor in his team winning the championship last year. He also marched with the O. T. C. and qualified handily for a commission in the Mobile Artillery. Cross-country skiing, both with the O. T. C. and on his own, was another favorite pastime.

Graduating with Chemistry and Physics Honors, Ed's future is somewhat uncertain. We wish him the best of luck in whatever he attempts.

Marguerite Mary Burbank

Although born in Sherbrooke on January 30th., 1921, Marguerite left at an early age without really becoming acquainted. After attending Montreal, Haileybury and Kirkland Lake Schools, she eventually returned to Sherbrooke. With considerable travelling and the experiences of a summer in a mining town to back her up, Marguerite decided to put her matric to good use by coming to Bishop's for a B. A. and a teacher's certificate with which to defy the business world. Taking, as we all do, plenty of time out from lectures, she added much to the spirit of good fellowship and friendship prevailing among the co-eds.

After she receives her B. A. in History and Philosophy this June, Marguerite plans to join Dr. Rothney's little flock. All our best wishes, and good luck to you!

Donald William Chute

Don, one of the original members of the triumvirate, was born in Montreal, and came to Bishop's via West Hill High School. In his first year Don became assistant Rugby Manager, graduating the next year to Rugby Manager, and finally this year to President of Athletics. Starting his first year off beating the bass drum in the O. T. C., Don soon received his "A" certificate, the next year becoming the best sergeant in the corps, and climaxing his O. T. C. career with the rank of second lieutenant and second in command of the contingent. During his years at Bishop's Don also took an active part in the Glee Club. Don's popularity can be ably demonstrated by the fact that in his first year he was a member of the Parchesi Club, the next a member of the Frothblowers, and this year an honorary member of each of the clubs. Besides these activities his extra time was taken up with golf, tennis, skiing, learning to drive a car, and some hard studying. Don is also an authority on classical music, pipe smoking, and snowshoeing. This year he ably fulfilled the position of "Ambassador of Good Will" on the sleigh ride, as well as retaining his position of Honorary member of the Receder's Club.

The final year finds Don graduating with a B. Sc. in Chemistry and Biology. He hopes either to go on active service with an Artillery unit, or help the war industry in a chemistry laboratory. Whatever he does, we know that Don's personality and leadership will see him through to success.

Patricia Joyce Hall

Pat, born in Sherbrooke, received her early education at Sherbrooke High. After various trips, including a tour of England during Coronation Year, she was ready to settle down to work in the three year stretch of studying before her to obtain her B. A.

The field of dramatics soon caught her fancy, so that 1937 found Pat as Miss Matty in 'Cranford'. In 1938, following up her previous success, she gave her all to 'Pargains in Cathay' in the role of Miss Bliss, lady with memories, and to 'Berkeley Square'.

Roaming farther afield Pat indulged in batting a badminton bird back and forth in the gym between lectures. Unable to complete the term of 1939-40 because of illness, Pat was also forced to give up the office of Senior Lady, President of the Women's Council.

Returning to Bishop's in the fall of 1940 for the History and English Options she easily swung back into the run of things. Now, although the inevitable final, are in view, her spirits are not dampened, for she is making definite plans for her marriage in the near future. To her we extend our best wishes for her happiness.

Mary Elizabeth Hoye

Mary is another of the many Bishop's students who claim the United States as their birthplace. South Bend, Indiana, was the city. In '38 after completing her early education, which took her to Providence Classical and to Sherbrooke High, Mary arrived at Bishop's in pursuit of an Arts degree.

The Dramatics Society has claimed a good deal of Mary's time while here at Bishop's. In her first year the memorable 'Drums of Oude' gave her a chance to show her ability as an actress. This year she filled the position of Second Vice-President and was the Society's representative on the Women's Council. The Mitre also attracted her attention, and she served on the Literary Board in her freshman year.

During her three years here at Bishop's the golf course has been the scene of most of Mary's athletic endeavours, for she has been an enthusiastic skier and golfer. In activities of a more social nature her charming personality and sense of humor have won her many friends.

After graduating this June with a B. A. in French and English, some sort of a business course seems to rear its ugly head. We wish her all the best in her chosen career.

Robert L. Jamieson

Bob, our youngest graduate, is a soldier at heart. Last summer he spent fifteen days on active service as a sergeant in the 5th. Army Troop, R. C. E. (Active Army). Our representative from Kinnear's Mills received his early education at Kinnear's Mills Consolidated School, and proceeded from there to Thetford Mines to obtain his Junior Matriculation. This year 'Red' graduates with a B. A. in History and Philosophy.

For three years the O. T. C. has been the centre of Bob's activities. Obtaining his 'A' certificate in his freshman year, he turned to the 4.5 'Hows' and the Artillery in his second. Finally in '41 the infantry claimed his attention when he became sergeant of No. 2 Platoon. A member of the shooting team in '40 he did much to uphold the honor of Bishop's on the ranges.

When not engaged in matters of military import 'Red' could be found playing badminton or skiing. He was also a member of the famous Parchesi softball team, and an active participant in inter-year activities.

This year Bob deserted the ranks of the day students to become the 'Honorary Freshman' of the New Arts and a staunch member of the Parchesi Club. Bob's future lies either at Laval or with the Active Army. Whichever it may be, we wish him the best of luck!

Bruce H. W. Kirwin

Bruce's demeanour while at Bishop's allows us to judge correctly that his arrival into this world on June 11th., 1919, was a quiet one. Where? At the Sherbrooke Hospital of course. Educated at Beebe High School and at Stanstead College, Bruce made his entry into Bishop's in '38 to begin the long struggle towards a B. Sc.

When he could take time off from his labs, golf, skiing, hockey and the O. T. C. claimed most of his attention. That he could not be persuaded to take part in more sports is the college's loss, for he excelled in his chosen few. For three years he has been one of Bishop's best skiers, culminating his career by winning the second highest aggregate of the college Eastern Townships Zone championship team. In his first year he played forward on the junior hockey team, and in his second he starred for the inter-year champions. After two years in the C. O. T. C. Bruce rose to be sergeant of No. 1 platoon. The Mitre also claimed his attention this year in the capacity of Sports Editor.

Bruce graduates with a B. Sc. in Chemistry and Physics. After the war, chemistry will be his chosen profession, and in his quiet, unforced, natural way Bruce will be a success. Bishop's will miss his cheerful disposition and readiness to lend a hand, and the room in the Old Lodge where friendship opened the door and congeniality was the watchword within. Best of luck, Bruce!

Donald Maxwell Long

Don, a comparatively local product, was born in Sherbrooke on September 2nd., 1920. Coming to Bishop's from Sherbrooke High, Don was convinced by some well-meaning person that industrial chemistry could not survive without him. As a result a B.Sc. in Chemistry and Physics became his guiding light. Many of the unpleasant odors floating up from the chemistry lab to haunt the residents of the Old Arts may be traced to Don this year, for most of his afternoons have been spent in that intriguing place.

An active lad in his own well-ordered way, Don was a member of the Mitre's advertising staff in his first year. Since then the fact that he is a day student has necessarily curtailed his activity somewhat. In spite of this he has found time for badminton, skiing, and to support enthusiastically all the college activities. Long hours spent with the O. T. C. were rewarded this year when he received a commission in the 35th. Field Battery, R. C. A.

Don's plans for the future depend upon the war. If circumstances permit, he intends to make a name for himself as a chemist. Whatever your future may be, best of luck, Don!

Hugh Ellice MacKenzie

Born in Montreal in 1921, Mac came to these hallowed halls, by way of B. C. S., in search of a B. A. The storms of first and second year having been successfully weathered, he settled down this year to conquer a History and Philosophy course.

A man of considerable practical imagination, Mac has made the gym the home of most of his constructive work. From the first he has been seriously involved in the mechanics of getting the stage ready for the Thespians of the Dramatic Society. In successive years he has been Assistant Stage Manager, Property Manager, and finally Stage Manager. In his first year he also saw the other side of the picture, acting in "The Drums of Oude", and in the major production of the season, "Laburnum Grove". He has also been an indispensable member of many Dance Committees, once even staging an air raid for our benefit. The Mitre has claimed Mac's attention too. For two years he was a member of the Literary Board, and finally he became Secretary-Treasurer.

Mac's activities have not been confined to the Politer Arts. In his second year he was a member of the Junior Hockey team, while he has always been a tower of strength for the Parchesi team in their struggles with their traditional rivals. Badminton and skiing have also found him an enthusiastic participant.

When he graduates this June, Mac hopes to become a member of the Active Army. His career in the O. T. C., where he rose to the rank of Staff Sergeant, and his work this year as a 2nd. Lieutenant in the 35th. Battery, R. C. A., make his success assured. Best of luck, Mac!

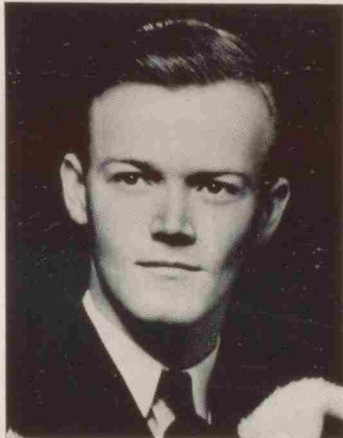

Robert Mackie

Professor Preston's Classics student — "Bob" — was born on April 21st, 1919, in Montreal. He received his early education at the Intermediate School, Riverbend, and his matriculation at Bloor Collegiate Institute, Toronto. Bishop's and the Anglican Church then called him to the Eastern Townships — to study Horace, Plato, and Aristotle. However, his college life has by no means been confined to the works of Latins and Greeks. Bob has had a story of his own to write — and, to date, it has been well done.

While in Lennoxville he has done much both in and outside of "The Shed". For three years he has been a member of the C. O. T. C., now holding the rank of Corporal; he has been Secretary-Treasurer both of the St. Francis District Soccer League and also of the Sherbrooke and District Basketball League; he has played inter-year hockey for Divinity and been a member of three Arts road race teams. Now, after being manager of basketball for the past year, he has been elected President of Athletics for 1941-42.

Besides his interest in sports, he has taken an active part in two inter-faculty debates, been a Councillor for the Debating Society, and acted in a one-act play, "The Drums of Oude".

Next fall, Bob hopes to be back at Bishop's to take up Theology, another chapter which many will read with great interest.

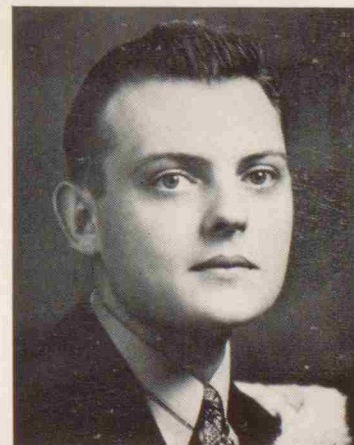

Thayne Charles McGilton

Eaton, Quebec, was the birthplace of this energetic occupant of the New Arts. Life in a residential institution of learning was nothing new to him when he joined the freshman class in '38, for he had already passed through Stanstead College from the first to the last grade. He even had the delightful experience of having the school burn down while he was a student there, although this did not prove as pleasant as most would imagine.

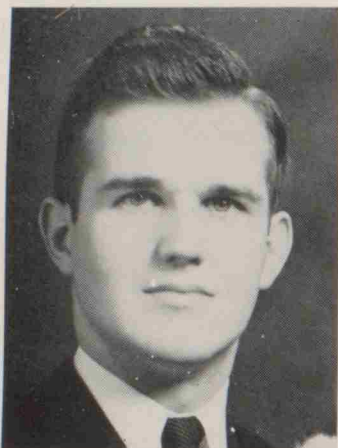

Thayne's college life has been an active one. The O.T.C. provided him with two outlets for his energy. Not only did he drill, but he was also a member of the shooting team for two years, in one of which it captured the "C" Class championship. Last year he obtained his Mobile Artillery qualifications, and was promoted to corporal for the current marching season. For three years he has been an efficient member of the basketball team, while he has also shown his ability as an inter-year hockey player, helping his team to win the championship in 1940.

Thayne's activities have not been confined to the world of athletic endeavour. He has sung with the glee club for three years, and has been an active member of the Parchesi Club. This year the Year Book Committee realized that his energy would make him an excellent Business Manager. As a result he has spent much of his time during the last term struggling with photographers, printers, and contributors.

This June Thayne graduates with a B.Sc. in Biology and Chemistry. The future is a little uncertain, but he hopes — and so do we — that he will be back next year for the Education course.

Russel Charles Rexford

Rex lives in Magog — that is when he isn't in the chemistry lab, the Q.M.S., or entertaining the Dramatics Executive. Magog High School sent him forth with a matric in 1938, and he lost no time in coming to Bishop's in search of further knowledge.

His first year found him freshman associate on the football team. From this humble start he rose to be assistant manager, and this year he filled very capably the position of manager. Dramatics also found him an enthusiastic worker. As a freshman he was seen, but not heard, in one of the Minor Flays. Next year he retired to the comparative obscurity of being business manager, which led finally to his election as President of Dramatics.

For three years the O. T. C. has claimed a large share of Rex's time. This year he filled the difficult position of Quartermaster Sergeant. The Contingent was completely outfitted with new equipment, and much credit is due Rex for the smooth way in which it was issued. The Q. M. Stores were also built over on modern lines while he was C. Q. M. S.

Among the more minor activities Rex has found time for Badminton, Skiing, Golf, and one debate.

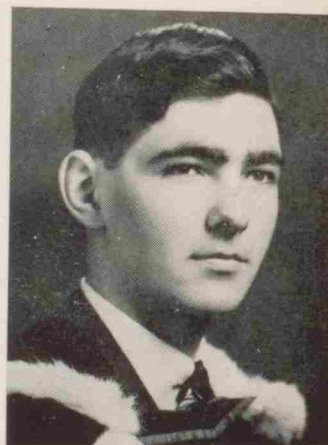

When he graduates in June with a B. Sc. in Chemistry and Physics, Rex plans to become a chemist and to obtain a commission in the Reserve Army. If he puts half the energy into this that he has put into his activities here at Bishop's, Rex is sure to be an unqualified success.

Duncan Donald Ross

Another of our American-born students, Don first saw the light of day in Lewiston, Maine. Moving to Sherbrooke at an early age, he received his education at the Mitchell School and at Sherbrooke High. '38 found him a freshman at Bishop's in search of a B. A. Maths and Physics were his chosen subjects, and so well did he do that this year an Honors Course occupied most of his time.

Don's activities at Bishop's have been varied. The most important of these was of course the O. T. C., where Don specialized in Artillery. The two College publications also made use of his talents — the Mitre as Exchange Editor, and the Year Book as Day Student Representative. His main field of athletic endeavour was inter-year hockey, where he was a member of the championship second year team. Tennis and skiing also numbered him among their devotees.

Don's immediate future has been definitely settled. The R. C. A. F. has welcomed him to its ranks, where he will train to become a pilot. Knowing Don, we are sure that the Air Force could not hope for a better qualified man. Dependable, clever, and a hard worker, Don's success as an airman seems assured. All his friends join us in saying "Best of luck, Don!"

Helen Jean Ross

Born February 13th., 1921, in the city of Sherbrooke, Helen received her early education at the Mitchell School and at Sherbrooke High. In the fall of '38 she joined the freshette class at Bishop's, intending to make up for what she had considered a somewhat uneventful life and to continue her academic career, both of which she did in her characteristically capable manner. From the very outset of her college life Helen exhibited an admirable combination of charm and executive ability that immediately won the friendship and confidence of her class-mates.

In her second year she was elected to the imposing position of Vice-President of the Women's Council, and proved herself such an invaluable aid that her final year round her holding the responsible position of Secretary-Treasurer. In addition to a History Option course, Helen has round time to serve as Women's Representative on the Year Book Committee and to willingly take part in many college activities.

It cannot be too greatly stressed that whenever called upon, Helen's cheerful co-operation was assured. Her plans for the future are as yet uncertain, but wherever she may be and whatever she may undertake, the class of '41 joins in wishing her every happiness and success.

Ivor M. Richards

After completing his schooling in the States, 'Iwa' came to Bishop's to round off his education. One of those people who just won't be satisfied with average results, he determined from the first to take an honors course. This June he realizes that ambition when he graduates with honors in Philosophy, the first to do so in more years than 'Pop' cares to think about.

In winning three major letters in basketball, Ivor has proved that he is one of the best basketball players ever to don the Purple and White, and this year he captained the team. Besides this he showed himself a capable coach, succumbing to the lure of the co-eds and doing a fine job coaching their team.

In the field of minor activities Ivor's tendencies lean strongly towards the 'rackets'. Besides being a tennis and badminton player of no mean ability, he is also prominent in the social life of the U. He plays golf, and was a member of the O. T. C. in his first two years. This year the Mitre claimed much of his time as business manager, a newly-created position which he filled very capably.

'Iwa' plans to enter business school next September. Best of luck to one of the most popular chaps who ever came to us from south of the border!

Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy

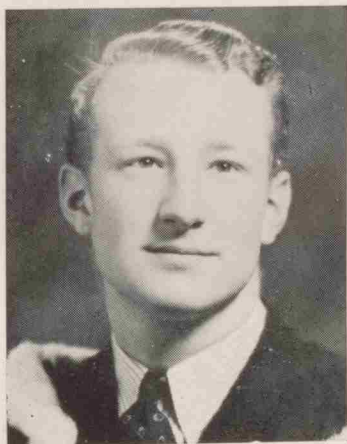

After due preparation at Selwyn House and B. C. S., Shag ventured to Bishop's in 1938 at the tender age of sixteen. It was the dawn of a brilliant and varied college career.

Shag's chief interests while at college have been Debating, Dramatics, and Sports. He has had an excellent record as a debater, having participated in several inter-faculty debates, represented Bishop's three times against other colleges, and in his final year becoming president of the Debating Society. In his second year Shag took a part in the one act plays, and followed it up with a part in the year's major production, 'The Perfect Alibi'. His crowning success, however, was his portrayal this year of 'Rosen' in 'The Late Christopher Bean'.

As an athlete he was energetic both in word and in deed. The first football team was bolstered by his presence in his first and third years. In the winter he helped the Second Year hockey team to victory, but to Gerry Wiggett's dismay the attractions of skiing kept his heart in the hills.

For three years Shag's lusty tenor has served the Glee Club faithfully in all its appearances. The Mitre claimed him as Sports Editor in his second year, while the Advertising Committee also made good use of his energy. In spite of this diversified activity Shag has found time to keep an English and History course well under control.

Shag's immediate aim is a place in the Active Army. In two years of O. T. C. he proved himself an excellent soldier, with the result that this year he obtained a commission with the 35th. Battery, R. C. A. His record there vouches for his undoubted ability, and promises well for the future. Best of luck, Shag!

Gilbert Morrow Sinclair Stairs

Preparatory to coming to Lennoxville, Gib received his early scholastic training at Montreal High School. After two years at B. C. S. he enrolled as a member of the Arts faculty in the fall of 1938. This June sees the culmination of his last year at Bishop's, bringing to a close an extremely active and fruitful period at college.

After his rigid training in the B. C. S. cadet corps, Gib necessarily proved himself a capable member of the O. T. C. Rising to the rank of senior corporal of No. 2 platoon last year, he this year received an appointment as 2nd. Lieut. in the 35th. Battery, R. C. A. Despite his many other activities Gib has found time to pursue his avocation of music. Having performed for two years in the bass section of the Glee Club, he this year assumed the responsibility of directorship, and succeeded in producing a marked "esprit de chanson", partly by enriching its repertoire with his own arrangements. Apart from organized music, Gib's impromptu dexterity at the piano has provided us with a great deal of pleasure; surely the jubilant strains of his after-dinner music will be missed next year.

Gib's major athletic activity has been on skis. Both in 1940 and 1941 he was a prominent member of the Ski Team, and in both years contributed to our winning of the Eastern Townships Championship by his excellent performances.

A combination of cool imperturbability and keen insight has made Gib an invaluable adviser on all matters of business and policy. This was recognized this year when he was elected President of Dramatics. His term was not an easy one, but the stability of judgment which he showed through the harrowing days of rehearsal and cast-changing enabled those who worked with him to carry out their duties with complete confidence in the resultant success of their efforts. Knowing him as we do, we are sure that in the Active Army, which he hopes to join this summer, or along whatever other path he may choose to follow, he will meet with unqualified success, and to this belief we add our best wishes.

Catherine Edith Thompson

Kay was born in Waterloo, Quebec, on September 30th., 1920. Finally settling in Lennoxville she proved a decided asset to the graduating class of Lennoxville High School, and thus had few worries about embarking on the Arts course at U. B. C.

Kay has contributed to nearly every sphere of college life. In the minor plays of 1939 she successfully played a silent part in 'Little Father of the Wilderness'. Turning her attentions farther afield she proved her ability in sports by winning the Ladies' Singles Badminton Championship in 1940 and again in 1941. During the same years she was a very useful member of the Badminton Committee and played a large part in all of that body's activities. Besides badminton, Kay also numbers golf and skiing among her conquests. Her steady style in golf is the envy of many of the male members of the club.

Kay has also been prominent in the literary world, discharging with vigour and enthusiasm the duties of Lady Editor of the Mitre and also of the Year Book. Making sure that she always had something to do, she also represented the Mitre on the Women's Council of 1940-41.

Kay leaves us this June with a B. A. in English and History. We may be sure that as she has played such a prominent part in college life so she will find success in whatever she attempts, carving out for herself a place in the business world.

Charles Lester Tomlinson

Les came to Bishop's in 1938 after a few years at B. C. S., and immediately set out to do everything differently from anyone else. From the first he distinguished himself on skis, and has turned skiing into an important sport at Bishop's. For two years he was the Eastern Townships Zone ski champion, while for the last two years he has been, as he himself describes it, Secretary-Treasurer and chief trail trampler for the zone. His sporting activities have by no means been confined to skiing, since he was a member of the soccer team for two years, and won a 'Minor B' for hockey in his first year. Since then he has played inter-year hockey with great enthusiasm. This year he culminated his athletic career by holding the positions of Manager of Minor Athletics and Vice-President of Athletics.

Athletics were by no means Tommy's sole interest. This year found him a member of the Mitre Board in the capacity of Circulation Manager. On the outbreak of war his career in the O. T. C. took a sudden leap ahead, with the gaining of his Lieutenant's qualifications in '40 and his appointment this year as 2nd. Lieutenant in command of No. 2 Platoon. After two years as one of the most active members of the 'Frothblowers', he this year was elected 'Senior Blower'. He has also become noted for a complete disregard for the four seasons, since he holds the early swimming record (March 14th.), and the incongruous picture of a fair-haired lad in ski mitts, ski boots and a bathing suit has often astonished Lennoxville residents still muffled in furs.

After a last term divided between chapels and labs, Les graduates with a B. Sc., and despite his unwillingness to follow the stereotyped chemistry course, Bishop's is losing one of her best chemistry students. Although his plans for the future are still uncertain, we know that whatever Les decides to take up he will achieve the same success as he has here, and we wish him the best of luck!

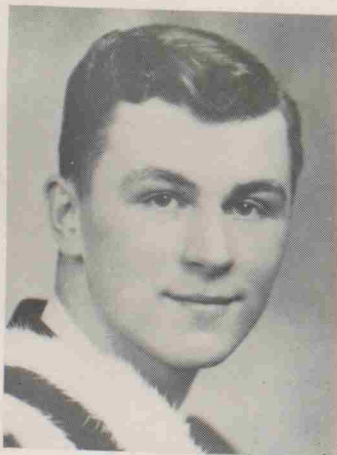

Edward Udall

Eddie was born in Modlin, Poland, in 1920. Coming to Canada at an early age he attended schools in the West and finally St. Patrick's Academy in Sherbrooke. Then he came to Bishop's to start the long pull towards a degree.

With a fine reputation at St. Pat's to uphold, Eddie at once submitted himself as material for the football team to work on. For three years he was an energetic and enthusiastic member of the team, winning a minor and a major award for his endeavours. The O. T. C. of course claimed much of Eddie's time. For two years in succession the 'winning platoon' numbered him among its members. In addition to this he was one of that group of muscle-bound gentlemen who compete in the annual inter-year road race.

Entering these portals as a (slap-) happy-go-lucky freshman, Ed has passed through a better and more serious man. He now laughs at only the better jokes. His hobby has become, as he himself puts it, collecting words of wisdom, poetic statements, and anecdotes. If those are samples that we have been hearing this year, well...

Leaving us this June with a degree in Maths and Physics, Ed plans to be a Designing Engineer. We feel certain that his ambition will be realized, and extend out best wishes for every success.

John Stuart Visser

Jack was a good boy when he came to Bishop's, but he soon succumbed to the old adage that 'It's a great life if you weaken'. He did.

Jack hails from Thetford Mines. In his first year he scored a major success in the Minor Flays — he had one work to say and said it very well indeed. Social activities have taken up a good deal of Jack's time. For the last two years he has been the Dramatic Society's House Manager, while nearly every dance committee has claimed his services. Of course he was always on hand to see how his work stood up under service conditions. Jack is also a piano player of no mean ability, holding down that position in the now famous 'Jerks of Jive'. In the field of sport it is rumoured that Jack plays badminton, tennis, and golf.

His room, the common room of the third floor Old Arts, is probably the most popular in the college. His fish have been the bane of the janitor's life, and his sleeping bag the poor man's joy. (Just fold it up and dump it in the cupboard). Nor can we forget Gandhi, may his soul rest in peace!

Jack graduates this year with a B. A. in French and English, but returns next year to take Education — much to our joy and we hope to Dr. Rothney's.

Donald Gifford Wadsworth

Don is another Sherbrooke boy. Born in that city in 1921, he received his early education at the Mitchell School and at Sherbrooke High. After obtaining his High School Leaving Certificate, Don took time out to visit Great Britain and the Continent.

The fall of '38 saw Don enrolled as a freshman at Bishop's and a member of the 'Commuters' Club'. At once he became an ardent supporter of the society into which he had just entered. The fact that he was a day student necessarily limited his activities. He did find time, however, to take part in inter-year hockey, skiing and golf. He was of course a member of that formidable aggregation which took the inter-year hockey crown in 1940.

The O. T. C. also numbered Don among its members. For two years he marched faithfully with the corps, and paid strict attention in the lecture rooms. As a result he passed all his exams and became qualified for a commission in the Artillery.

A B. A. in History and Philosophy will be Don's this June. His future will be a career in business, if circumstances permit. Wherever fate leads him we wish him the best of luck!

Farewell

Many have passed this way before, but few to encounter the state of world affairs that awaits the graduating class of '41. The current World War in the eyes of the modern, disillusioned observer, is nothing better than a necessary evil. . . few realize its contribution to the graduate. To the individual it provides an answer to the perennial problem, "where to turn, what to do?"; for the humanitarian it provides concrete support to the contention that natural science has advanced far beyond the social studies; that a new world, constructed on tolerance and humanity, will have to devote its energy to the study of mankind until psychology is as advanced as physics, economics as chemistry, and politics as physiology.

To answer the challenge of war, and to meet the responsibility of reconstruction is the task of our generation. Our Alma Mater has played her part in preparing us for this task. Let us turn from the prospect of what lies ahead to the consideration of that exceedingly pleasant phase of our life just closing, and its contribution towards the development of men and women capable of coping with life's problems. In retrospect it occurs to us that the evolution of a graduate comprises three phases, corresponding roughly to the three academic years.

As bewildered freshmen we accepted our humble place in chapel, the lowly table at dinner, and soon learned submission to the forceful requests of seniors who were the last to know the horrors of initiation within these walls and still cherished the memory of the discarded ritual. A wealth of activity invited our participation. Innumerable events, personalities and traditions made fleeting impressions on receptive minds. It was a year of initiation into a new era of our lives . . . obedience was its lesson.

Not until second year were the varied interests appreciated, the binding forces of community life first realized. The graduation of one class and the arrival of a group of successors to the title 'freshman' partially dispelled the illusion of the ultimate significance of individual personalities, and fostered a consciousness of things more permanent. That sophistication so often mistaken for maturity was the principal acquisition of second year.

The responsibility of administering the variety of activity that bewildered us in our first year and became fully appreciated in our second, fell on our ready shoulders in the final year. This responsibility was probably the greatest privilege we enjoyed in our college career. It was our first taste of life's diet . . . and there was sufficient for the keenest appetite.

Graduation year provided ample opportunity for one and all to assume positions of responsibility and to earn by experience how to cope with the problems of actuality.

The frank atmosphere of the bull-session made us aware of our own failings and sympathetic with those of the other fellow. The give and take on rink and gridiron drove home the value of determined effort, good winning, and cheerful losing. Three years of community life taught the lessons of tolerance, co-operation, and efficiency. Conceit was whittled down to confidence; self-consciousness was molded into self-assurance. Affectation and backwardness went by the board.

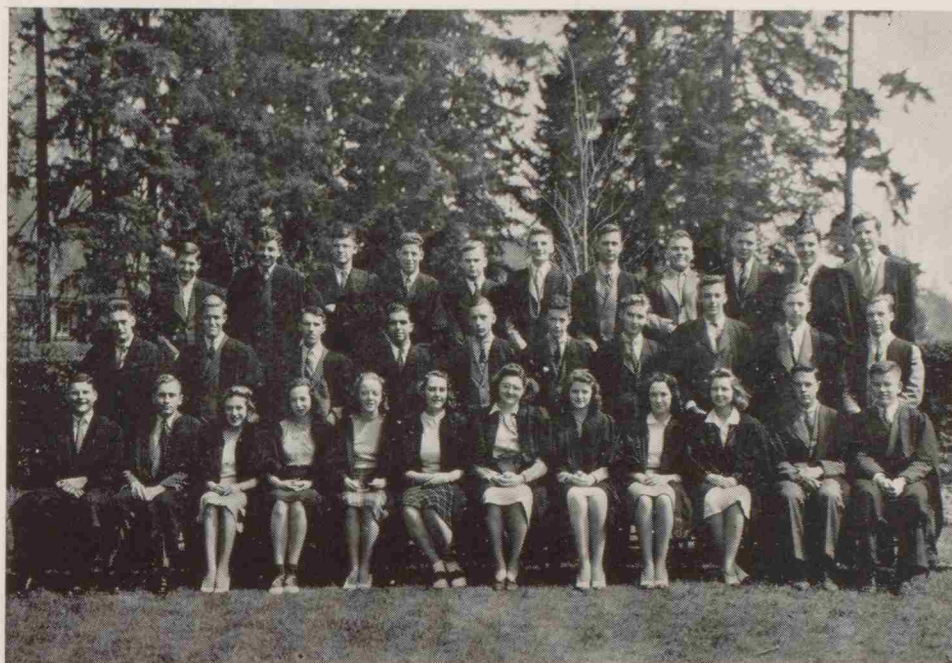

All this, together with a consciousness of our own immaturity, Bishop's has given us . . . and we to her? Accounts of individual achievements are already recorded within these pages; modest reviews of college careers that constitute our proud record, yours to read, marvel at, and emulate!

To those who are to follow we leave a reminder of your priceless heritage — employ it to your best advantage . . . goodbye, and good luck!

Handicapped by a smaller enrollment than in previous years the freshmen have nevertheless proved themselves worthy of Bishop's. They were the inter-year hockey champions . . . they formed a large part of the hockey and rugby teams . . . the badminton champion rose from their ranks . . . skiing, dramatics and the O. T. C. benefitted by their talents. And of course they have not fallen down in their studies.

Nor must the freshettes be forgotten . . . besides brightening up the campus they have made a name for themselves in dramatics and sports.

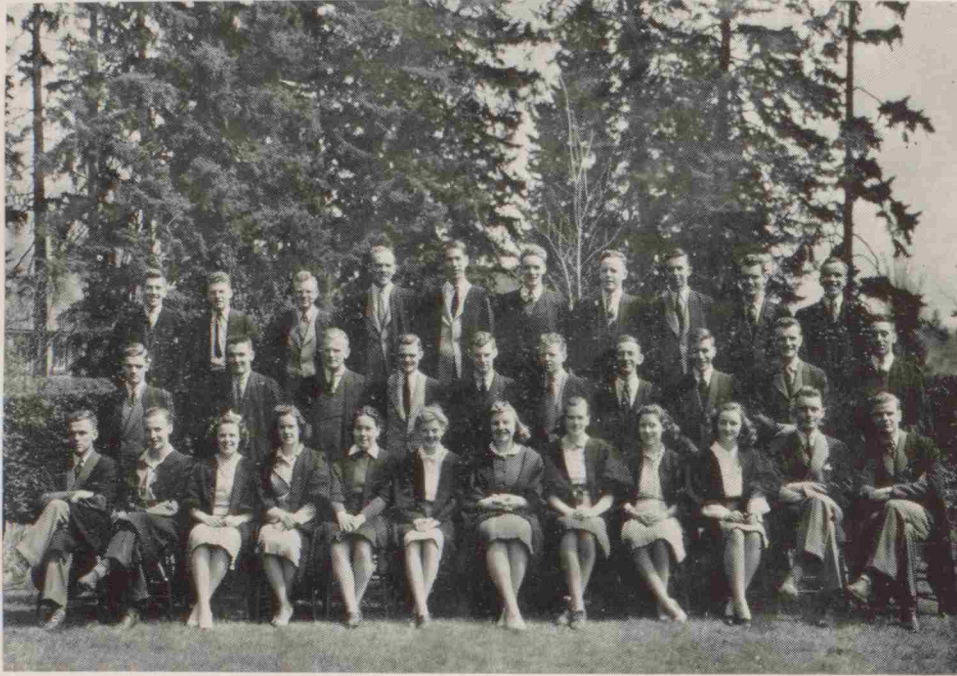

To us belongs the responsibility of carrying on the tradition of Bishop's for the next two years; giving the best we have and receiving much in return.

To the graduating class, for their guidance and advice, we give thanks, coupled with sincere wishes for continued success in future years.

As once again June approaches we turn to the Second Year Students, men and women, upon whom depend to a great extent, the activities of the next year. Although we are not altogether unbiased, it is with considerable hope that we look to our future leaders for guidance along the collegiate path. With such material for the senior year we may safely anticipate success, not only in academic matters, but also in athletic and social activities.

To the class of '41, whose many achievements are recorded throughout this Year Book, we extend our sincere congratulations and best wishes for the future.

DIVINITY

B. A. in Theology

Alexander Barlow
Craig

For four years Alex has been one of the bulwarks of "The Shed" and the college. A man of well-combined humour and seriousness, he has been known for his good sense of evaluation and his enthusiasm for Church, world, and college affairs. But when did this start?

March 3rd., 1916 was the beginning of it all. Alex was born in Hamilton Ontario, and attended the Delta Collegiate Institute in that city. After getting his matriculation, he spent two years in the Royal Bank and a year working in the mines at Val d'Or, Quebec. Then he came to Bishop's to get a B.A. in Theology.

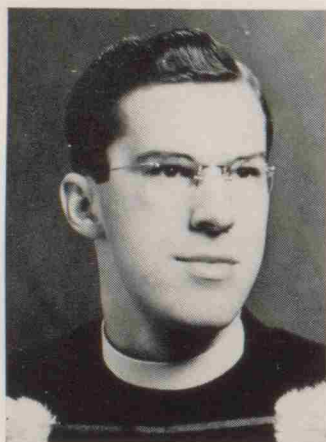

Alex has truly revealed his versatile nature in every department of university activity. For four years he played both soccer and inter-year hockey for Divinity; for two years he was a member of the C. O. T. C., and this year rose to the rank of Staff-Sergeant.

Music and the higher arts have increasingly claimed his attention — from Verdi's operas to "Take me out to the ball-game". He sang in the Glee Club last year and for three years has added much weight to the Chapel choir. He was also Secretary of the Dramatics Society for 1940-41.

In his final year, he has upheld the honour of the Shed by his powerful stand and vigorous attacks both in interfaculty debates and a victorious debate against Loyola on the Rowell-Sirois Commission — politics being one of Alex's pet hobbies. In "The Shed" itself, he has been an efficient Secretary-Treasurer of the Guild and an ardent committee member.

The future at present is a big question mark as far as Alex is concerned, but he expects to be ordained Deacon soon after graduation and serve, eventually, the Church in the Diocese of Kootenay, British Columbia.

Nevertheless, whatever the future may hold, we earnestly hope that it will at least contain much happiness and great success — for he deserves both.

The Rev.
James Guy Marston

"Father Guy" came to Bishop's in 1937 after spending a year at the Montreal Diocesan College. Then he was just plain Mr. Marston to the faculty and Guy to his fellow students. But during his four years in the Divinity House he has well earned the name "Father" by distinguishing himself as a born leader, of sound judgment and great humour. Here are the facts:

Guy was born in Paris, Ontario, on May 31st. 1911. He received his early education at Public and High School. Before coming to college, he had some very interesting experiences "working in a bank, falling in love, and touring Europe". But Mother Church stepped forth and claimed him for her son.

Since he has been here he has ranked among the first in every phase of our college life. He has always taken a keen interest in dramatics, featuring one year in "Berkeley Square" and the following year directing a one-act play, "The Little Father of the Wilderness". In 1939-40 he capably filled the chair of President of Dramatics and the next year was elected President of the Students' Council. However, owing to the pressure of clerical work, he had to resign this position. "The Shed" has been proud to claim him as one of its champion debaters.

He was ordained Deacon on April 2nd. 1940 in St. Mark's Chapel, and a few months later, Sept. 19th., ordained Priest in St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke, where he is now serving as Curate.

For the past we may truly say, "He came. He saw. He stooped to conquer." For the future we sincerely say, "We wish you good luck in the Name of the Lord."

The Guild of the Venerable Bede

The Guild of the Venerable Bede has continued to lead the devotional life and social activity of the Divinity House throughout the year. The daily Offices have been said in the Oratory and the Guild Eucharist on Thursday mornings has been well-attended.

The activity of the Guild has, however, by no means been confined to spiritual development — although that is the most important aspect of its existence. This year the members held their annual Sports Party, at which over twenty-nine dollars was raised to give to the missionary work of the Anglican Church in Canada. During the year, twenty-five dollars was sent to the M. S. C. C., twenty dollars to the Fellowship of the West, and ten dollars to the Bishop of Quebec.

Each month the Guild has held a meeting purely for intellectual stimulation and fellowship. The Dean of Divinity, Fr. Burt, Fr. Moffatt, Dr. Boothroyd, and Dr. Owen have kindly given very instructive papers at these meetings.

This year there have been two spiritually invigorating Retreats, one conducted by the Venerable Arch-deacon Jones of Lennoxville, and another by Fr. Elton Scott.

Dean Jones, Fr. Moffatt, and Fr. Burt have accepted Honourary Membership in the Guild and eight new members have been admitted to its ranks.

Absent — B. C. WESTGATE.

With nine veterans and five recruits on strength the Divines pitched camp in the familiar 'Shed' Barracks in September; fit and ready to take their full share in the University activities for the year — both military and otherwise.

All but Rev. J. G. Marston, who having been ordained Priest in September was acting as Curate at St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke, took their places in the ranks of the C. O. T. C. The majority were to be seen toting stretchers and sporting bandages with the Stretcher Bearers.

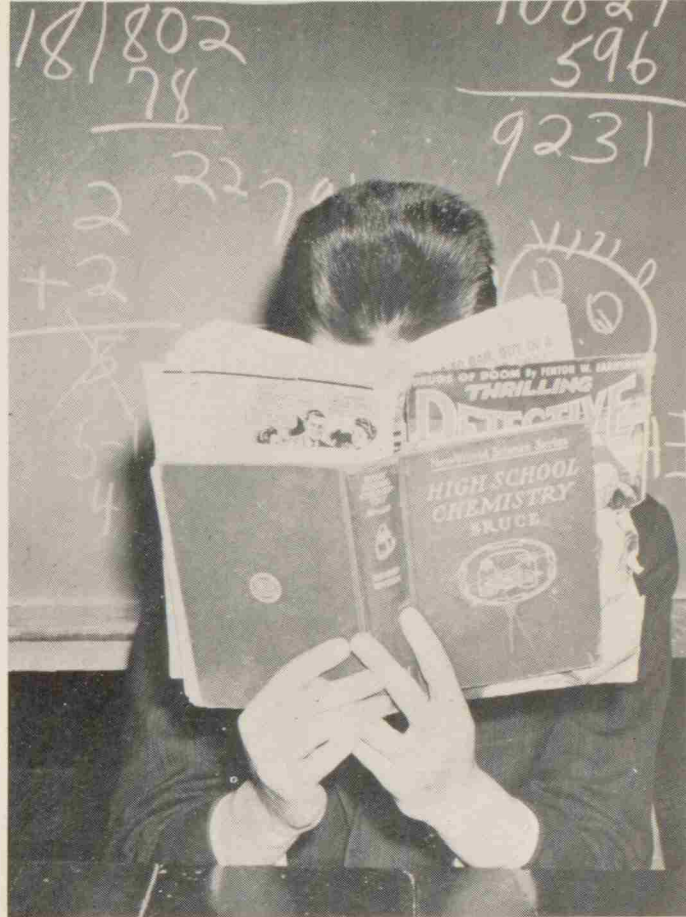

The Dramatic Society felt the influence of Shed members on the stage, behind the scenes, in the director's chair, and on the executive. In debating, too, the Shed made its weight felt. Their team outtalked the valiant Artsmen to retain the Skinner trophy, although only by the narrowest of margins. Two of their members also took the Loyola stalwarts into camp in an Intercollegiate debate in February.

In May Recruit Bill MacVean left the College to do radio work with the R. C. A. F., and veterans Rev. J. G. Marston and A. B. Craig depart in June. Otherwise the squad should return next year to chance the life of the University and to retain the Skinner Trophy.

EDUCATION

Miss P. Bishop, B.A.

Miss V. Boomhour, B.Sc.

Miss A. Bellam, B.A.

MISS VIOLA L. BOOMHOUR, B. Sc. — Viola's home town is Stanbridge East, Quebec. This year the Education course has occupied most of her time.

MISS PHYLLIS BISHOP, B. A. — Phyllis hails from Marbleton. This year she has enthusiastically supported all the college activities.

Miss J. Ashton, B.A.

MISS AUDREY BELLAM, B. A. — A local girl, Audrey makes her home in Lennoxville. This year she has been active as Red Cross Convener and as a representative on the Women's Executive Council.

MISS JOYCE ASHTON, B. A. — Joyce is a Granby girl. She is the only one of this year's class not to have graduated from Bishop's. She obtained her B. A. at Queens, majoring in English, History and French.

Miss B. Brennand, B.A.

MISS BERNICE BRENNAND, B. A. — Bernice's home is in Coaticook. This year, when she could spare time from her work, she was manager of the women's basketball team.

PAUL IRWIN, B. A. — Paul's home is in Melbourne, Quebec. The C. O. T. C. was Paul's chief 'sideline' this year.

Paul Irwin, B.A.

LLOYD J. LANE, B. A. — A Lennoxville boy. 'Tubby' has been very active in athletics, playing football, basketball and Inter-year Hockey. He also was a corporal in the O. T. C. and Year Book Representative.

Lloyd Lane, B.A.

MISS ELIZABETH MACDOUGALL, B. A. — From Three Rivers. Bessie has been active this year in basketball — she was captain — and in badminton. She was also fourth year representative on the Women's Council.

Miss E. MacDougall, B.A.

Education -- 1941

As this civilization of ours writhes and struggles to free itself from the cobra-like grip of a systematized barbarism, we sometimes wonder — whither education? That we have been unwise to assume diplomacy can regulate the behaviour of nations is true. The meaner traits, greed, treachery and hate, which display themselves in isolated individuals, have magnified themselves to nation wide proportions, until chaos beckons us with outstretched arms. But what has this to do with Education '41? Simply this. Education — where all else has failed — must let the youth of rising generations realize the benefits of living in co-operation, peace, and accord with those around us. When individuals learn that lesson, then we can expect such behaviour, ultimately, amongst nations.

We hope that Education '41 realizes the importance of his mission — we feel he does. May luck accompany his endeavours.

The class which confronted Dr. Rothney this year was only half the size of last year's unusually large class of seventeen teachers. It would be a horrible attempt at originality to say that what they lacked in quantity they made up with quality, but . . . Nonetheless the class of '41 rendered valuable contributions to college activities in proportion to their number. Elizabeth MacDougall, Bernice Brennard, and Audrey Bellam were representatives on the Women's Council; Bessie MacDougall was captain and high scorer of the co-ed basketball team; and Bernice Brennard was player-manager of the same team. Tubby Lane was back at his middle wing position on the football team (remember Lanowski?); and also was starting left forward on the cage squad. Paul Irwin and Lane both were members of the C. O. T. C. All other members of the class lent their support to the various teams.

These are what Bishop's will remember us for. And what have we for memories? We shall remember the first day we drove into the school yard at Ascot, to the shouts of "Here come the students! Aren't they funny looking?" etc., etc.; — The amusing situations that developed as a result of six females and two males being compressed into a five passenger car; — the voice of authority saying, "Not in twelve years has any student ever tried that . . ."; — such statements as "my discipline would be good if I could make myself heard over the din"; — "if I only had my I. Q. tests to live again!" — "Thank you very much, Dr. Rothney."

And now we bid adieu to Bishop's for the last time. Our stay was an enjoyable one; and it is with reluctance that we part company with our many friends. To our successors — Education '42 — we hand the torch. May they carry it high.

The Mitre

The Mitre has fought its difficult way through another year with a fair degree of success, thanks to the faithful few — students, alumni and faculty — who contributed to its ever-hungry pages. Despite the obvious handicaps prevalent in these times, the magazine appeared reasonably near its publication dates, and, as the year ended, the books were still being kept in black ink.

Warm words of gratefulness and praise are due to the members of the board — literary and executive — who capably carried through their tasks despite the pressure of time and other activities.

Although the dissolution of the Bishop's University Alumni Association seriously cut into the Mitre's circulation outside the college, nearly 300 copies of each issue were distributed to students and faculty, as well as to many alumni. The twofold aim of the Mitre — to encourage creative literary activity and to record the activities of the college — was accomplished more or less thoroughly. Some hitherto unnoticed literary talent was presented in the Mitre, and Wilder Penfield in his "Notes and Comments" department, and Bruce Kirwin in his "Sports" department kept the readers adequately informed on all the phases of college life.

To Leon Adams praise is due for competent and tireless work on his "Alumni Notes", and Miss Catherine Thompson, with the aid of faculty articles, was responsible for the "Bishop Looks Down" department with its many well written and tastefully selected book reviews. Don Ross exhaustively perused all the publications from other colleges to concoct for each issue an Exchange department not without color and interest. Rud Everett in his position as Art Editor turned out some fine linoleum work.

Jack Apps as Advertising Manager harassed the various business establishments in this vicinity and elsewhere to obtain enough advertisers to keep the Mitre out of the hole, and Les Tomlinson capably handled the circulation department, while Hugh Mackenzie took care of the rather sordid details concerning the Mitre's funds and minutes of meetings in his position as Secretary-Treasurer. Ivor Richards as Managing Editor, a position added only this year, offered valuable assistance in the behind-the-scenes part of publishing a college magazine. Pat Boyle, as President, directed the policy of the magazine, and offered his experience to help out the board, while Rob Carpenter served as Editor and Vice-President. Other members of the board are representatives. William Blackstock and Edmond de Lotbinière were freshman members of the advertising board.

The Mitre is especially grateful to Dr. W. O. Raymond, honorary vice-president, for his patience and indispensable assistance in evaluating the material submitted for publication and for his sound advice.

The 1940-41 Mitre board extends its best wishes for even greater success to its successors, the 1941-42 board.

Standing — R. MACKIE (Councillor), W. G. PENFIELD (Councillor), A. R. TULK (Secretary).

Literary and Debating Society

The programme of the Debating Society was, this year, limited to a necessary minimum. The shortness of time and the prevalence of work placed restrictions on all extra-curricular occupations, and debating had to give ground to more popular and less exacting activities. Nevertheless the regular fixtures were held, and some experimentation was carried out.

A somewhat riotous Freshman debate was held at the beginning of the year, but no sensational new talent was revealed. The first Inter-Faculty debate of the season resulted in a victory for the Arts team, but the closeness of the decision presaged a hard fought series. The Honorary President of the society opened the revival of the Political Discussion Group, at which the question of post-war reconstruction was discussed.

The annual I. U. D. L. debate was held on February the twelfth. The travelling team won for the college at Loyola, but the home team was beaten at the hands of the visitors from Ottawa University. The second Inter-Faculty debate — a victory for the Divinity faculty — took place in the second term, and again the result was close.

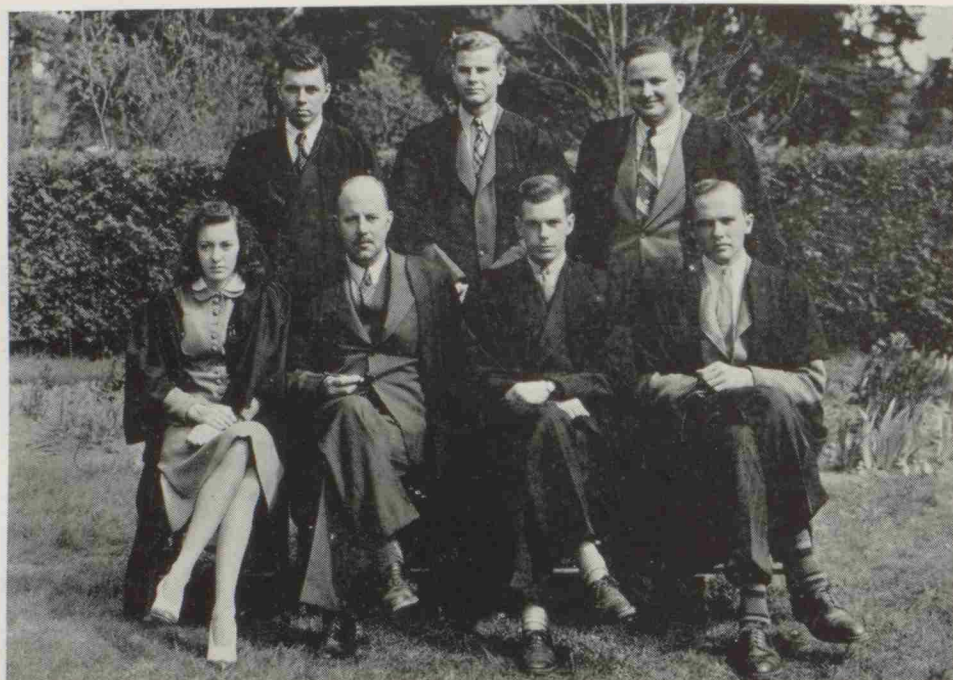

The final fixture saw the Divinity team overcome the Arts team by 3.5 points to win the coveted Skinner Trophy for the second year in succession. This was perhaps the most interesting debate of the year.

Certificates were awarded to Hay, Hayden, Craig, Marston and Shaughnessy at the sports banquet on May 1st: they were well deserved.

The retiring executive will hand over at the end of the year to the incoming slate with Leon Adams as President. With the able support of Hollinger, Van, Loosemore and Turpin his term of office will, we feel sure, prove successful if not expansive.

The Dramatic Society

Entertainment has to provide relief in these grim war years. The strain has been felt at Bishop's perhaps more than some other places in Canada, and the Dramatic Society has endeavoured to bolster morale by giving of its best.

A society without a president is hopelessly handicapped, and the beginning of the year found Hector Belton in the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment. Russel Rexford was elected in his place, but was able to remain in office only through the fall plays. Gilbert Stairs was the next to hold office, and was fortunate in being able to carry on for the remaining period.

New talent was plentiful in the autumn plays, fifteen of the players making their debut in Bishop's Little Theatre. The best of the three plays produced was "Thread O' Scarlet", which was admirably directed by Leon Adams. All the actors were Divinity students, who handled their parts very well. The setting was also most effective. Ernestine Roy produced "Sham", an amusing social satire. The original cast was doing very well when there occurred one of the incidents that prove that the show does go on at Bishop's. At the last moment Joan Jenckes had to drop the part of Clara, and Ernestine took her place, filling the gap like a professional. The third play of the set was a romantic comedy called "The Far-Away Princess". Wilder Penfield directed this difficult play with great skill.

The Society was asked to present these plays in Sherbrooke as entertainment for the local garrison, but arrangements for the show fell through. The request itself, however, was a great honour.

The choice of a play for the spring production was a simple matter this year. "The Late Christopher Bean" was waiting on the shelves for a suitable cast to appear at Bishop's. As this was now the case, great care was taken to find the very best possible. The Society now has a very real admiration for our friend Dickson-Kenwin, who has directed three first class plays for Bishop's Little Theatre. He has added considerably to our reputation, and has also made a name for himself in this district. This year's Stage Manager was Hugh Mackenzie. He built three excellent sets for the fall plays, and deserves much credit for aiding in the successful production of "The Late Christopher Bean".

"The Late Christopher Bean"

The Dramatic Society's spring production "The Late Christopher Bean" enthralled a large audience on the nights of April 21st., 22nd., and 23rd. As usual it was under the direction of Mr. Dickson-Kenwin, the well known actor. The action took place in the home of Dr. Haggett, "a simple country doctor", in a village not far from Boston. Wilder Penfield, playing the head of the family, did a beautiful job, excusing his greed by saying it was "all for his loved ones". Ernestine Roy established herself as a character actor by her interpretation of Dr. Haggett's crudely ambitious wife. The part of their maid, Abby, who is really the heroine and the widow of Chris Bean, was exquisitely played by Kay Hall. The improvement she showed over her performance of last year is most encouraging. She should be a very valuable asset to the Society during the coming season. Joan Jenckes took the part of the elder daughter, Ada, who diligently applied herself to the task of finding a rich husband. Jean McCallum supplied a delightful contrast in the character of Susan, the other sister, who was both charming and sincere. The young lover, a self-satisfied village lad called Warren Creamer was capably played by Dean Williamson. The cast also included three representatives of the New York world of art. Eill Shaughnessy brought the house down with his portrayal of Rosen, the oily and vociferous Jew. George Rothney played the part of Tallant, one of the best forgers in the business. Both, however, were held well in check by Davenport (Edmond de Lotbinière), the distinguished art critic.

This play brought to a close one of the most successful seasons in the history of Bishop's Little Theatre. Dr. E. Owen as Honorary President has been a helpful advisor. Wilder Penfield and Mary Hoyer were the two Vice-Presidents; Alec Craig was Secretary, and Dean Williamson Treasurer. Robin Lindsay and Barclay Westgate were the principal stage assistants. Mrs. Richardson and Mr. Speid once again lent a helping hand. The excellent work done this year has inspired the Executive to award certificates for merit to those who have taken a major part in the production of two major plays, either as actor, director, stage manager, or house manager. Next season will see most of our actors back again, and Wilder Penfield as President of Dramatics. Best of luck to all!

The Glee Club

This year the Glee Club successfully completed its fourth year of activity. Owing to a feeling at the beginning of the year that some phases of college life should be curtailed in wartime we had a rather late start. However about sixteen enthusiasts realized the enjoyment to be found in group singing. Some of these men fortunately were old-timers, and we soon produced a respectable brand of music.

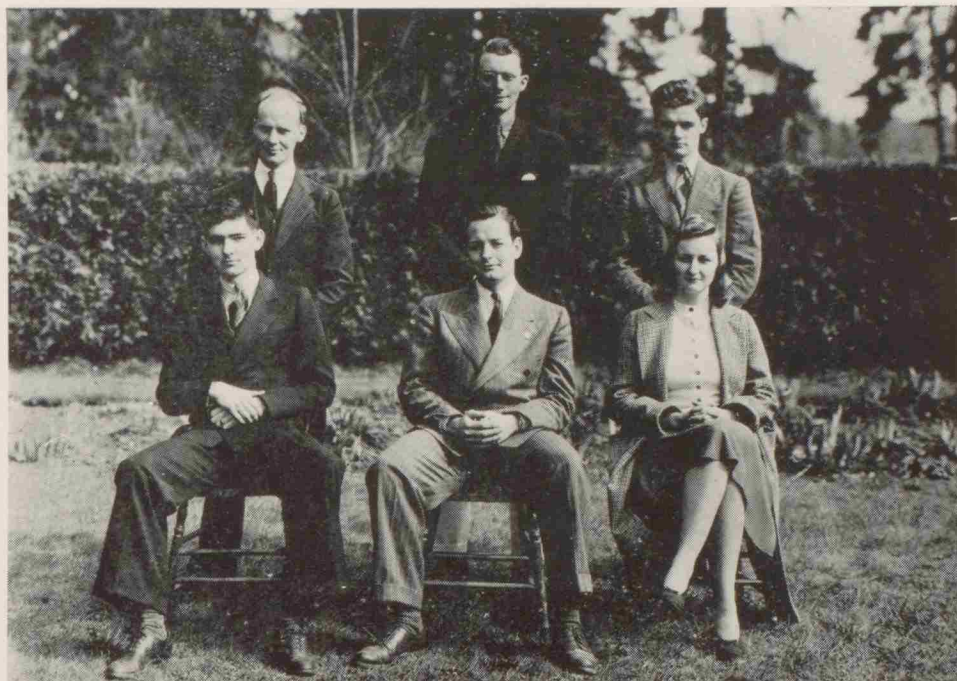

The musical Meades were sorely missed this year. Gib Stairs acted as conductor, Bill Blackstock as accompanist, and Robin Lindsay as 'Keeper of the Music'. For the most part we used the excellent arrangements of Sid Meade, but Gib and Robin managed to increase the library to the extent of three new pieces.

Our most important public performances were two radio broadcasts over station CHLT. Both of these were a credit to the Glee Club, and they seemed to make the year's work really worth while. Our final appearance was in a short programme at the Athletic Banquet. We were also assured of a warm welcome at Compton, but our repertoire was hardly sufficient and practice time is hard to find in May.

In spite of setbacks the Glee Club has shown that Bishop's men will sing, and sing well — war or no war.

The Advertising Committee

Last year someone got the notion that advertising in the College was not all that it might be, with each society publicizing its own activities. Out of this chaos the Advertising Committee was born. Its function was the handling of all advertising in the college, except that of the Mitre and the Year Book.

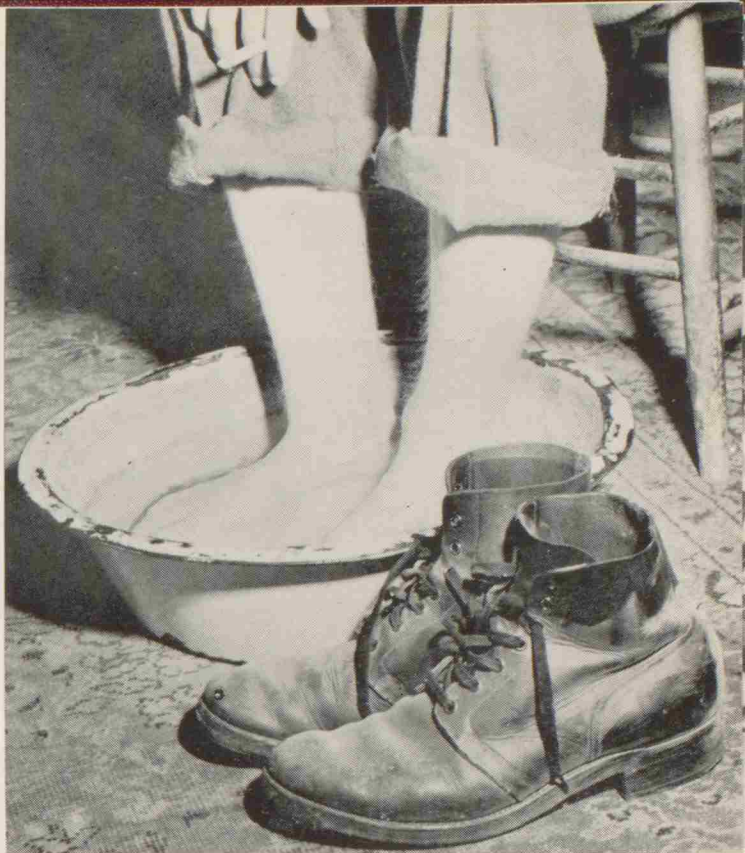

The enterprise proved so successful that another committee was formed this year to entice John Q. Public from his home, and out to the rink, the rugby field, and the 'Little Theatre'. Activities have necessarily been curtailed this year, thus lessening to a certain extent the need for such a body. In spite of this fact it is clear that the Advertising Committee is a necessary organization, and that it has become a permanent fixture at Bishop's.

Guided by the capable hand of Ralph Hayden, the committee of six undertook to convince us that there were thrills at the hockey, basketball and rugby games; soft music at the dances; keen interest at the debates. Two speakers under the auspices of the National Council of Education were well advertised, while attendance at the fall and spring productions of the Dramatics Society showed that the committee had done its work efficiently.

On September 16th., 1940, Colonel McA'Nulty relinquished his command of the contingent on being appointed to command the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment (AF). The contingent was most fortunate in obtaining Major C. H.M. Church of the 72nd. Battery, Coaticook, as O. C. for this year.

In order to comply with the N. P. M. A., military training at the university became compulsory this year. Parades began on September 30th., and were held three times a week from that date until the Inspection parade on May 5th. From September till December the corps was divided into two groups for instructional purposes. Those who obtained their qualifications last year constituted group one. This group pursued a course in mutual instruction. The recruits — group two — took the Common to all Arms course, writing the examination at Christmas. During the autumn months the contingent went on several route marches in the immediate vicinity of Lennoxville. During these route marches interesting and instructive schemes were carried out. By arrangement made with the Sherbrooke Regiment (RF) the corps was able to obtain bayonet dummies with which to complete the weapon training.

On November 22nd. we were fortunate in seeing the return of S. M. I. Bouchard, whose popularity has, if anything, grown since last year. His voice ringing out once more through the quad brought many memories to the 'veterans' of the corps.

A very successful O. T. C. dance was held in the gym on November 26th. Many officers of units in the neighborhood were present. Qualification certificates earned last year were presented by Dr. McGreer, many of them to men already serving in the Active Army.

On the day following the dance, the contingent received a visit from Brigadier General E. de B. Panet and Colonel Van den Berg.

The members of group one carried out the annual classification course at the Sherbrooke Regiment miniature range during the month of December. One-third of the group qualified as first class shots.

The New Year opened with a bang when, due to the untiring efforts of Major Church and 2nd. Lieutenant C. L. Tomlinson, the corps was 100% ski-mobilized. During the months of January and February numerous ski parades were held, all of which did a good deal towards making the contingent at home on their skis. On February 4th. the whole company turned out on skis for an all-day scheme. The rations were brought to a rendezvous by car; the skiers arrived there after a map-march which occupied most of the morning. The afternoon was spent in further manoeuvres.

The courses conducted between Christmas and the examination date in March were Infantry (Rifle), Artillery (Mobile), and Stretcher Bearer Training. Major Church and S. M. I. Bouchard were the instructors for the Infantry class, while 2nd. Lieutenants Tomlinson and Hay very capably took charge of the Artillery course. The Stretcher Bearers' course, as prescribed by the R.C.A.M.C. was very efficiently handled by Staff Sergeant Craig and Corporal Williamson. All the candidates passed the examination held at the conclusion of this course.

During the Easter holidays the corps undertook to renovate the Q. M. Stores along approved Ordnance lines. C. Q. M. S. Rexford then had ample space to store the large quantities of web equipment and battle dress at present in our hands.

After the March exams, the contingent commenced outdoor training again with a view to the approaching Flatoon Competition and the Inspection. On two occasions the contingent paraded through Sherbrooke to the music of the bugle band.

This winter the contingent established an O.T.C. Reading Room in the New Arts, accomodation being provided by the University authorities. This room was equipped with a chesterfield set and a complete set of army manuals, and various army instructional posters.

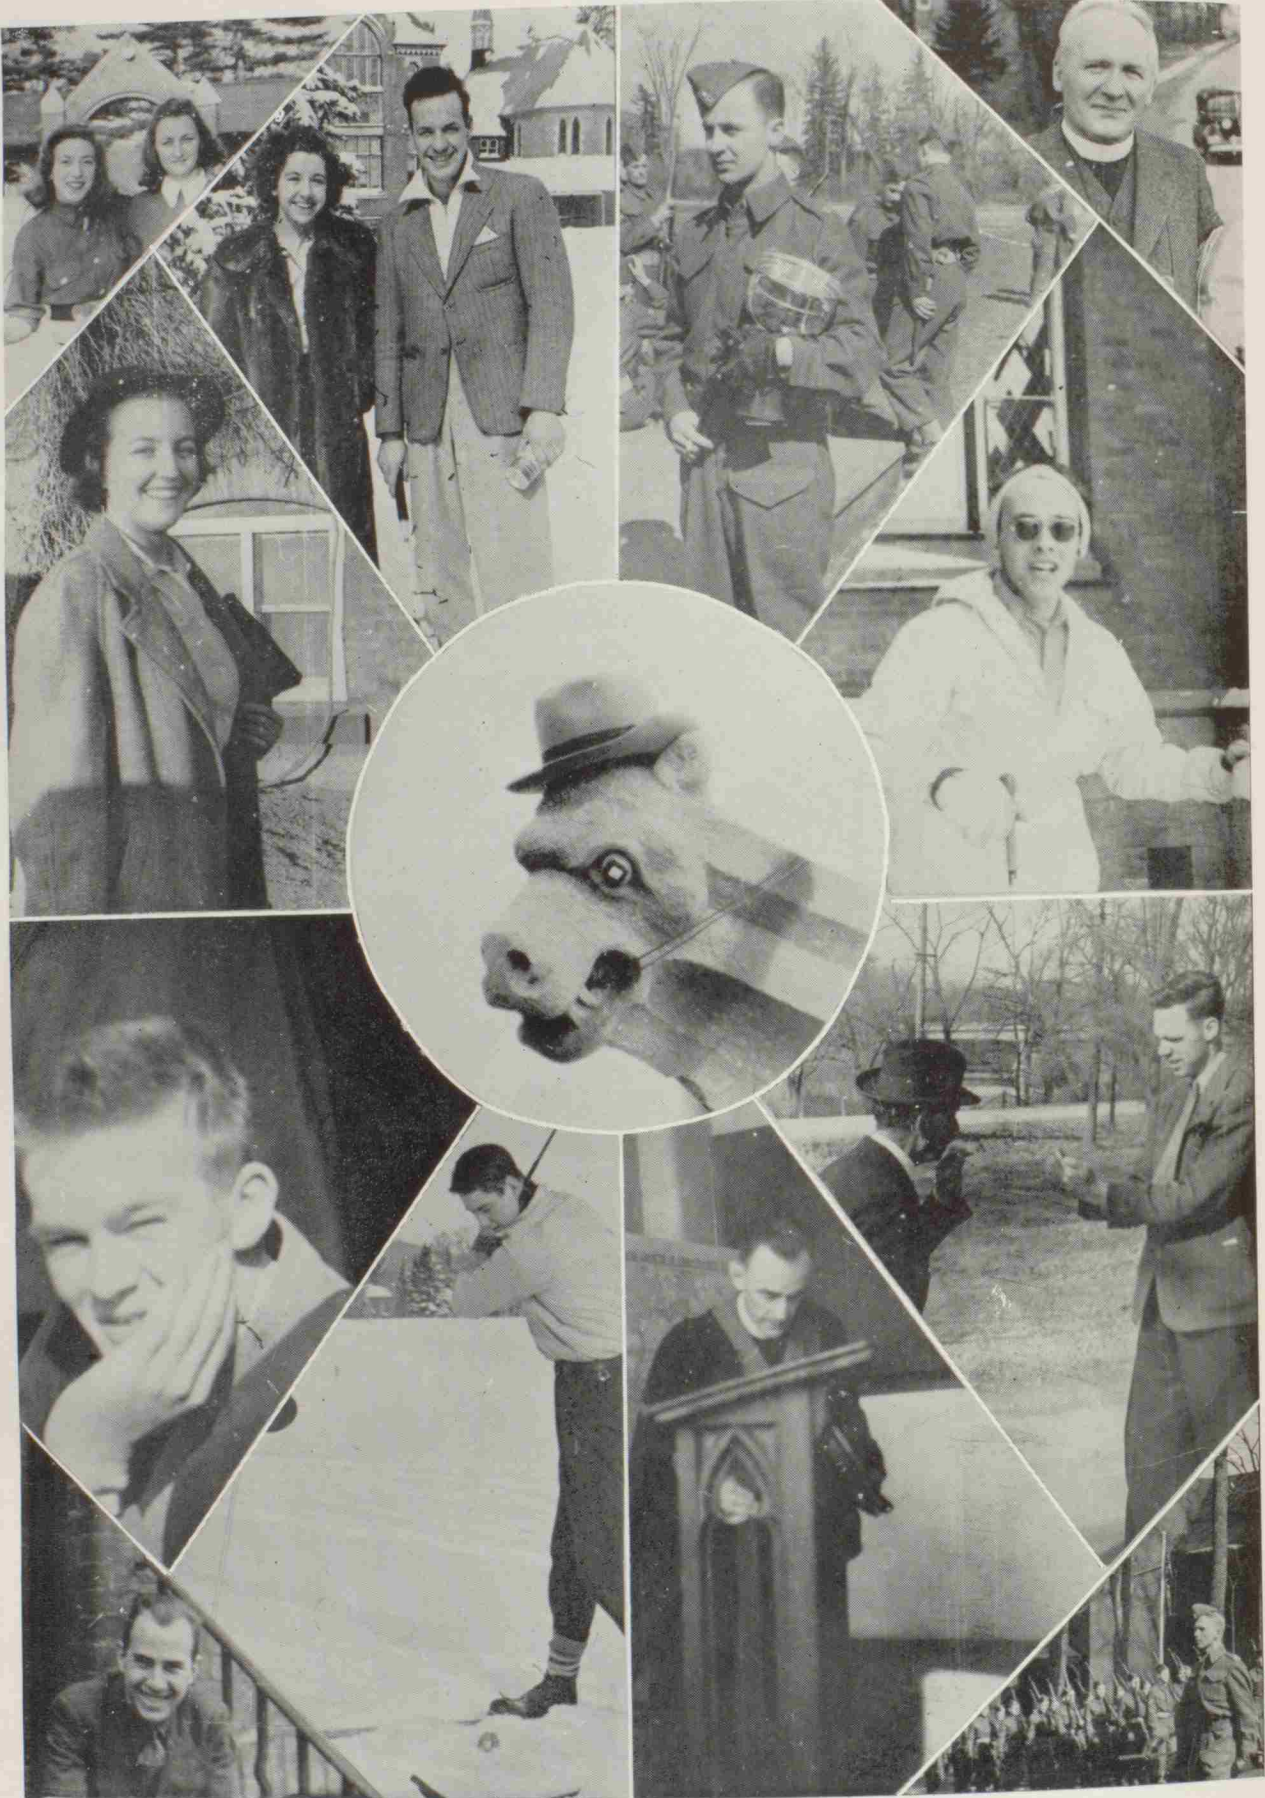

The annual platoon competition for the Ross-McMurty Cup was held on May 2nd., the judges being Lieut. Fisher of B. C. S., and S. M. I. Bouchard. After much deliberation on the part of the judges, No. 3 Platoon, under the command of 2nd. Lieut. R. J. Everett, was awarded first place. The points made by the three platoons were closer and higher than ever before.

The Inspection this year was held on the rugby field, and proved to be one of the most successful inspections held here. Major-General T. L. Tremblay, C.M.G., D.S.O., Inspector-General for Eastern Canada, and Brigadier-General E. de B. Panet, C. M. G., D. S. O., District Officer Commanding, Military District No. 4, were the inspecting officers. After inspecting the contingent on the field, they inspected the Orderly Room and the Q. M. Stores.

The year's activities will conclude this summer with two weeks at camp Mt. Bruno, thus bringing to a close a very successful year.

Committee on Athletics

On September 20th 1940 the following letter was received from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union:

"The Board of Reference of the C. I. A. U. after consulting with representatives of the several Universities and of the Government has ruled that there shall be no intercollegiate competition for the coming year."

In spite of this blow to organized athletics at Bishop's, it was decided unanimously by the Athletic Committee to promote major and minor athletics as in past years.

There being no organized football in the district, the team had to content themselves with exhibition games. Because of the number of players eligible for Junior Hockey it was decided to dispense with Intermediate Hockey in the College for the season. The Junior team formed the nucleus of the Eastern Townships Junior Hockey League. Basketball was the favoured sport this year; with a new set of equipment the team entered the Sherbrooke and District Basketball League.

The Athletic Committee found it necessary to introduce new constitutions for the Badminton and Ski Clubs which will, we feel, do a great deal to organize these Clubs, to broaden their scope and at the same time to maintain a perfect control heretofore not enjoyed.

The prime concern of the Athletic Committee is the management of all organized athletics in which the University indulges. In many respects this has been rather a hectic year due to the discontinuance of intercollegiate competition, but in spite of this we believe that the Committee has fully served its purpose.

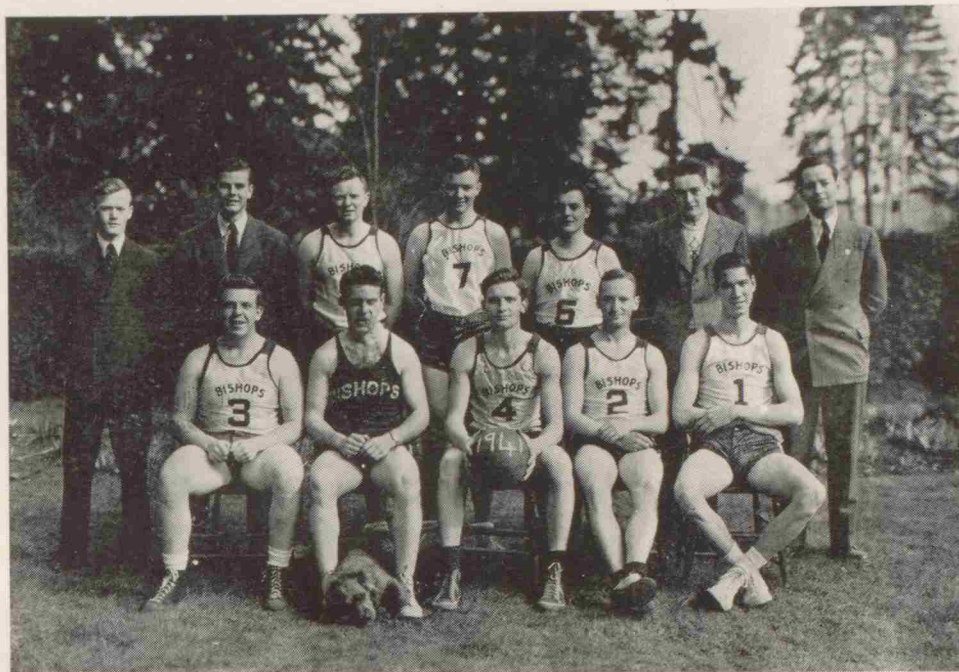

The Annual Rugby banquet was postponed until May when it was held in conjunction with the Annual Sports banquet. At this point awards obtained during the season were presented.

Once again we wish to acknowledge the excellent work done by the Honorary President, Prof. A. L. Kuehner, whose sagacity has always formed a pillar of this Committee. At this point we wish to sincerely thank him for his efforts on our behalf and trust that he will continue to serve in this capacity for years to come.

To the new Committee, Messrs. Mackie, Westgate, Stevens, Williamson, and Van, we extend our best wishes for a successful and pleasant term of office.

Basketball

This year, for the first time in the recent history of Bishop's basketball, the Purple and White intended to enter intercollegiate competition, but unfortunately the present crisis prevented the formation of a league. To compensate for this disappointment, basketball enjoyed the privilege of being the college's only major sport. The team, as usual, was entered in the Eastern Townships League.

The beginning of the season saw a small team composed of the most part of inexperienced players. Tubby Lane's return to take Education bolstered the line up, as did the veterans Ian Hay and Ivor Richards, the captain. The team's defensive strength was due largely to the efforts of Stevens and two newcomers, lanky Bob Carpenter and Lou Hollinger. McGilton and Scott also lent strength to the team in a reserve role. In the managerial department Bob Mackie, Dean Williamson, and Ronald Smith carried on most efficiently. Ralph Hayden's services were lost as a player but he volunteered to take over coaching duties. This was a hard position to fill, but Ralph proved to be as good a coach as he was a player.

Bishop's league record was by no means impressive from the won and lost standpoint, for the Purple and White squad wound up the season in the cellar. As the season progressed, however, steady improvement was noted and the squad won its last two games in convincing style. The highlight of the season came when the Sherbrooke 'Y' challenged the college to a 'rubber game'. In this game Bishop's displayed unusual speed and accuracy, overcoming the 'Y' by 35-20.

Football

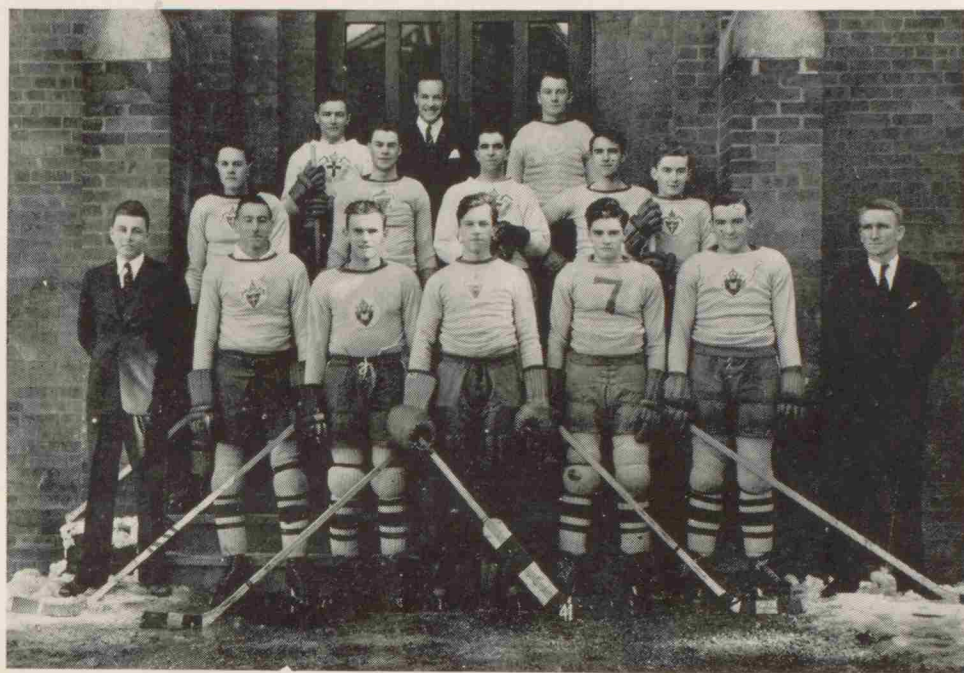

The football team this year deserves a good deal of praise for its efforts. If ever a team worked under difficulty it was this one. All intercollegiate athletics were discontinued this year because of the war. This left no chance of any league being formed in which Bishop's could play, and consequently there was little incentive for players to turn out other than love of the game. In spite of this the turnout was excellent and practices were attended faithfully.

With Ian Hay as captain, the team played some very interesting and exciting games. The first of the season, against Sherbrooke Y. M. C. A., fell to Bishop's, mainly on account of a brilliant run by Hay and a smashing plunge by Tulk in the dying minutes. A rather unusual game was that played against the R. C. A. F. Because the visitors had little equipment both teams were forced to play in running shoes. Add to this the fact that the field was covered with snow and it is not hard to see why many amusing incidents occurred. The Air Force took this game. Bishop's took on Stanstead College in the final and most exciting game of the season. The field was very wet and it was raining heavily, but this did not dampen the enthusiasm. It was a close battle, and the final quarter found S. W. C. leading 7-6. Then a Bishop's drive started which brought victory on the last play of the game when Robinson crashed over the line for a touchdown.

Graduation will as usual deprive the college of several star players, but those who remain should be able to hold their own with a little assistance from next year's freshmen.

Hockey

This year the C. I. A. U. decision that intercollegiate sports could not be continued under war conditions greatly limited our activities on the ice. Since no intermediate team was required, efforts were concentrated on a Junior team to be entered in a Junior league in Sherbrooke. With considerable difficulty a three team league was formed, including Bishop's, St. Pats, and a new team, the Pinards. After a schedule constantly disrupted by cancelled and postponed games, the Pinards emerged the victors, having tied one and won the other of their two games against the college. Bishop's was defeated by St. Pats in their one league game, the other being defaulted by the Sherbrooke team. Two interesting exhibition games were played against the Officers of the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment, whose team included several Bishop's graduates, Bishop's losing the first but winning the second. Other exhibition games were played against a North Hatley team, Bishop's College School, and Granby High: all of which Bishop's won.

Although there was a slightly disappointing list of defeats in the league games, considerable promise was displayed by the team, and Bar Westgate can look forward to having a fine team next year. Captain Van Horn, Savage, McKell, Lindsay, Peabody and Duval were the veterans from last year, while freshman talent included Giroux, Atto, Day, Tyler, Paine, and Schoch. Winnill, Perkins, and Johnson were occasionally on the line up. Bar Westgate turned in an excellent job as coach, while he occasionally donned skates to tip the scales in our favour in exhibition games. The management of the team was in the hands of Hugh Mackenzie, with G. Loosemore acting as assistant manager.

Badminton

This year the badminton club enjoyed one of its more successful seasons. Due to the curtailment of major sports minor athletics were given considerable support. Badminton benefitted from this in particular. Many new players took up the game, some of whom show great promise for future years.

Only two matches could be arranged against outside teams, both against Danville. The disbanding of many neighboring clubs made more games impossible. The first match, played at Danville, resulted in a well-earned 15-5 victory for the home club. The games, however, were hotly contested, and that the score might well have been closer was clearly shown by the return match. At home Bishop's was more fortunate, coming out ahead 10-6. Once more the games were all very close, a large number going to extra points before a decision was reached.

The annual college tournament was held during the last week of the Lent term. The singles events were divided into classes this year, in order to give more players a chance to compete. In the men's class A singles Hollinger defeated Savage to take the Meredith cup and Dr. Raymond's prize. Millar captured class B honors, while Lindsay came home in front in Class C. The men's doubles event was won by Dr. Raymond and Duval, who defeated Tanner and Day in a very exciting match. Ladies' doubles also provided a thriller when Kay Thompson and Betty Donaghy defeated Bessie MacDougall and Kay Hall in the finals. Ladies' singles, Class A, returned Kay Thompson once more as champion, while the Class B crown fell to Ernie Roy. The final event, mixed doubles, was taken by Jean Sutherland and Dave Savage, after a close match with Doreen Bishop and Barclay Westgate.

Towards the middle of the season it was decided that a new badminton constitution should be drawn up. This was done, and should do much to prevent the occasional misunderstandings which crop up every year.

The interest shown in badminton this year has been very gratifying to the badminton committee, and they feel sure that next year's activities will be even more successful.

Skiing

A few untimely thaws unfortunately prevented strict adherence to the schedule of the ski club this winter. Some meets had to be postponed, and others cancelled. In spite of this, however, the season was an extremely successful one.

In the first meet of the season, sponsored by the Hillcrest Ski Club, the college won all three events of the competition — crosscountry, slalom, and downhill. The Codere trophy was awarded the team as winners of the combined results.

The season culminated in the annual Eastern Townships Zone meet. The crosscountry and slalom events were held at Mt. Shefford, while the downhill event — opened by Harry Pangman and Bill Ball, noted Laurentian skiers — was held the next week-end on the new Power Trail on Mt. Orford. Competition in this meet was much keener than last year, but the college team gained first place in each event; thus winning the Eastern Townships Championship Trophy for the third consecutive year.

A Maple Derby was tentatively scheduled to be held on Mt. Orford in the middle of April. It had to be cancelled, however, due to lack of snow. This race would have been held on the new Three Creeks Trail which was cut last summer by Smith-Johannsen. The event would have attracted skiers from all parts of Eastern Canada and the United States. Such a race, made possible by the excellent trails on Orford, will be invaluable to the advancement of competitive skiing in the Eastern Townships — next year the ski team must expect even greater competition than that encountered this year.

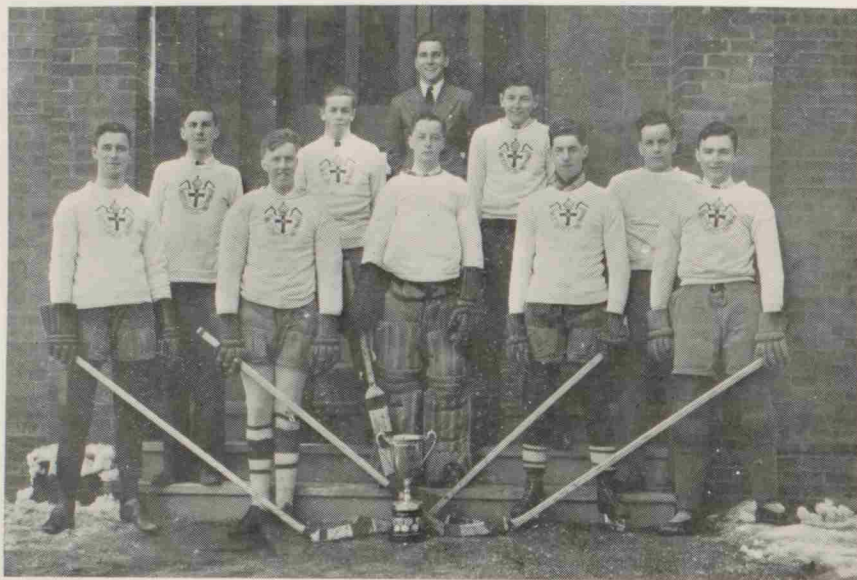

In the non-competitive field the C. O. T. C. trained men in the fundamentals of ski technique on a much more extensive scale than the ski club was able to do in previous years. This training created an interest in skiing which we hope will not die out in the future.

Women's Executive Council

The principal achievement of the Women's Council this year has been the redecoration of the Common Rooms. Early in the year the Council, with the help of Third Year women, had the furniture reupholstered and new hangings made for the Senior Common Room. A more ambitious reconstruction was undertaken, however, in the larger room. Its architecture is so peculiar and the break away from the traditional shabbiness of Bishop's such a drastic one, that the aid of a decorator from Eaton's was enlisted. The Bursar also lent his support to the project by undertaking the most serious repairs. Although there was little money at our command, we think we did a good job and are justifiably proud of the results.

There were, of course, besides this the regular meetings each week, at which tea was served by two members; a highly successful bridge for the Red Cross; and the annual Faculty Tea.

The Members of the Council this year were:

President.....	Ernestine Roy
Vice-President.....	Mary Ward

Basketball Manager.....	Bernice Brennand
Senior Freshette.....	Helen Kelley
Mitre Representative.....	Kay Thompson

Women's Basketball

Misfortune dogs the footsteps of the girls' basketball team — or so it appears — for beginning the year with excellent coaches, Ivor Richards and Bob Carpenter; with experienced players Bernice Brennan and Bessie MacDougall; with Gwen Weary and Ruth Taylor making up a strong defense; and with two promising newcomers in Helen Kelley and Kay Witty; success in the Eastern Townships League seemed assured. Hardly had the team shown its efficiency, however, when Bernice Brennan sustained injuries which forced her to the sidelines for the remainder of the season. Then Bishop's hopes dimmed, for, short of substitutes, the girls were unable to maintain the fast pace which characterized the beginning of each game. Consequently Bishop's placed third in the league, although with better luck she might well have taken first place.

Women's Skiing

This year, under the supervision of Les Tomlinson, a women's ski team was organized for the first time at Bishop's. As we started late in the season we were able to attend only two meets. March 9th. we met the Chalet Ski Club at North Hatley, and on March 27th. a meet was held at Hillcrest. Ann Armstrong won in both events. Gib Stairs and Hugh Mackenzie officiated.

We hope that the enthusiasm shown this year will not die out in the future, and that the club will go on to greater achievements.
