SHERBROOKE, Q.

We spent the night and most of the next day there and in the evening started to walk to Richmond. A six mile walk was a trifle to me when in good condition, but I had over-rated my powers, I thought I should never get there and when at length I did arrive I was in a state of complete exhaustion. My friends at Richmond were very much disturbed at my condition, in fact I may say they were surprised too; they had noticed in all my previous visits that I displayed the eating and digestive powers of a good average ostrich. My chum's cousin had long had a plan for camping out at Brompton Lake, a pretty place about 20 miles from Richmond, and he thought that no better time could be chosen for putting this plan into execution than during our stay. We were nothing loath, and on the Monday morning following our arrival we started for the lake. Although, as before mentioned we were not in the best of condition, all started in high spirits, for we were all ardent sportsmen and we had heard glowing accounts of the trout-fishing to be had in the neighborhood.

For the sake of convenience we will call my chum Jack and his cousin Harry. After we had gone 2 miles on our journey, we found that Harry had forgotten to include potatoes in the stock of provisions. Jack and I were going to lynch him, but as he was rather big we decided to let him off this time; we drove about 13 or 14 miles, and then we had to get out and walk through a forest road for about 6 or 7 miles. I remember reading in Tennyson's Mortimer's "His own thoughts drove him like a goad." Well I don't know what his thoughts were like, but I am willing to gamble on it that they were not a patch on the mosquitos in the forest; by the way, the forest was principally swamp, with what is known as a corduroy road running through it. Those who are acquainted with this kind of a road will at once perceive that our journey was far from an easy one. When we did reach the lake we felt repaid for our trouble. Brompton Lake is about 9 miles long by 4 wide, and is surrounded by the virgin forest on all sides with the exception of a few small clearings. We deposited the grub and fishing tackle in a lumberman's shanty, which was to be our headquarters' and went at once for a row on the lake. While at the lake, one day differed very little from another. We went to bed regular at 8 o'clock and for the space of 3 hours fought each other—and the mosquitos and black flies. Then we went to sleep and aroused with the lark or any other kind of bird that got up at the unearthly hour of four in the morning. The view of the lake at sunrise was well worth the effort however. One of the party, of a literary turn of mind, was so impressed with the beauty of the scene that he wrote some verses on it, which we copy for the benefit of the readers who will please pass no remarks on the merits of the effort.

From my restful bed of cedar, in the early dawn I rise,

To watch the perfect morning that now lights the Eastern skies. Like diamonds from the leaves and buds to ground the dew is falling,

From tree to tree in silvery tones the woodland birds are calling, No ruffle stirs the placid lake, no breezes o'er it pass. So perfect is the calm, the lake might seem a sheet of glass, And in this glorious mirror the bright reflection rest Of clouds and sky, and forest on the lofty mountain crests. The rising sun now shoots its rays on many a scattered cloud, And decks the woodod summit in a variegated shroud. So perfect is the picture when I view it as a whole That a sense of Nature's beauty must be felt within the soul. The lake so calm and lonely, in the woods so sweet a chime, That to mar that peace by human voice would almost seem a crime.

We had rare sport with the trout, and sent about 30 pounds to our friends in the city, so that we should have proof to show that our tales of prowess were not at all "fish stories," and we went back to Richmond at the end of a week, feeling immeasurably restored in health and spirits.

Notice.

The MITRE hopes the competition for the cash prize of $5 to be given to the student or boy who sends in the largest number of subscriptions before October 1st, will be teenly contested. Bear in mind that if you secure four subscribers but do not win the prize you get a copy of the MITRE for one year free. This is surely worth trying for.

Acknowledgments.

Our thanks are due to the following for one years' subscription H. R. Thompson, Rev. G. Nicholls, Mrs. Pattee, Miss Sadler, S. L. Clough, Miss Watson, S. R. McGibbon, Rev. R. Tams, Rev. Dixon, E. C. Dixon, E. H. McLea, Rev. J. S. Baker, J. Burkholder, Mr. F. J. Bacon B. A. has handed us his subscription for the year 1894-95. Subscriptions can be sent at any time to A. H. Moore Esq., Business Manager, Lennoxville Que. We hope that our readers will help us in bringing the MITRE before the attention of old students and boys.

Obituary.

The following, from the St. John Telegraph, will convey sad news to many an old boy of B. C. S. to whom Harold, better known among the boys as 'Grandpa' Smith was well known.

SUDDEN DEATH OF HAROLD S. SMITH.

"A sudden death is always a very sad event, but when a young man in the prime and vigor of life, with every prospect of a successful and happy future before him, is cut off, the event is doubly sad. Few if any of his friends thought for an instant that Mr. Harold S. Smith, when he said good-bye to them one week ago on his departure for a two months' trip to England, would never return alive. Yesterday afternoon Mr. George K. McLeod received a telegram from his brother Gordon, sent from Liverpool, N. S., where the vessel had put in, that Mr. Smith had died from cause unknown, and that he would bring the body home by way of Monticello to-day.

Those who knew Harold best alone are able to estimate his full worth, but the general expressions of regret which were heard on the arrival of the news of his death showed how generally popular he was. He was always kind courteous and obliging, always willing to do anybody any service which lay in his power. His father, G. Sidney Smith, and his family have the sympathy of The Telegraph and its readers in their sad affliction. It will be remembered that Mr. Smith sailed for England in company with Gordon S. McLeod and J. D'Orsay Murray on June 8th. His death took place on June 10th, two days after the vessel had sailed.

Presby of Sherbrooke has just finished a very good photo of this seasons cricket team.

Over twenty name-plates have been placed on the wall near the door of the Bishop Williams' Hall. The plates, which are very neat, bear the names of many who have just left. The idea is a good one, and all old Boys should send their names in September next.

PERSONALS.

"Roddy" Kane (B. C. S. 1888-93), who has lately returned from an extended trip to Europe, spent several days at the School during Convocation week and seems to have fully recovered his former health and spirits.

Jack Ross (B. C. S. 1886-88) also spent Convention week at the School.

C. Billingsley (B. C. S. 1889-90) was one of the Quebec Old Boys present at Convocation.

Mr. G. Balfour, Manager of the Union Bank, Montreal, (B. C. S. 1860) and his son, "Regy" Balfour (B. C. S. 1888-92) spent last week at Lennoxville, the latter winning the Old Boys race at the sports.

F. W. Mills (B. C. S. 1880-92) played in the Old Boys Cricket Match, as also did Dr. Robertson (B. C. S. 1872-78.)

H. McGreevy B. C. S. (1893-4) was a prominent Quebecer at the Sports and events of last week.

H. B. Johnson while driving near the Compton Ladies College recently, was thrown out of his vehicle, and unfortunately broke his left arm near the wrist, "Jettie", however, pluckily attended the closing Festivities of the Ladies College within an hour after his accident. He has now returned to his home in Texas, but expects to join the ranks of the fifth form in September.

Mr. B. Auden, B. A., Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and Mr. A. Allen Brockington, B. A. (Lond.) have accepted the vacancies on the resignation of Messrs Lloyd and Lyster. Mr. Auden has been Captain of his College Football and Cricket teams, and appears to be a first rate athlete. Mr. Brockington, who is an Honor man of the University of London, has also been prominent in athletic circles.

Rev. T. H. Lloyd M. A., who was lately ordained by the Archbishop of Ontario at Kingston, has been appointed to the Rectorship of Vankleek Hill, Ont.

B. R. Armstrong (B. C. S. 1890-91) has lately finished his second year at the University of New-Brunswick.

Ralph Markham (B. C. S. 1890-91) has spent the past year at the Rothesay School, as have also G. Hilyard (B. C. S. 1890-93,) and Arthur Thornton, (B. C. S. 1890-92.)

H. S. Smith (B. C. S. 1888-91,) after leaving the Halifax Banking Co., entered the Bank of Montreal, where he is now doing admirably.

The Chancellor's prize for the highest percentage of marks taken during the year, was this year for the first time in the history of the School—won by a boy in the lower School—W. T. Cameron, who obtained the very high percentage of 88.

Among those who have left the school this term are E. Burke, E. H. McLea, J. Thomas, H. B. Macdougall, E. Simpson, D. Atkinson, W. B. Kingsmill, H. Payzante, C. Dean, A. Smith, F. Campbell, J. Moir, A. Blaylock, E. Parker, M. Barretto and I. T. Lyster. The number of those leaving is rather smaller than that of previous years.

Medical Notes.

We will bid adieu to our medical friends until September when we hope to be able to give some choice contributions from our graduates. We wish one and all a happy vacation. As for our fourth year men we feel confident that they will return with an amount of reserve force that will surprise all the other year. To some of us this will be our last vacation for sometime, and boys let us make the most of it. After studying the "Laws of Health" and after groping through numerous pages of Hygiene you will surely be able to spend the coming vacation to advantage.

Dr. Grant Stewart, leaves in a few days for a vacation of six weeks.

Drs. Perrigo and Armstrong, sailed for Germany a few days ago. They will be absent for about two months and a half. We wish them bon voyage and a safe return.

Dr. McMally "94" left by the Steamship "Mirimachi" for Gaspe where he will spend a few months.

One of our Freshmen writes us from the Country that he is gaining a local reputation by his clever research work, which consists in examining "expectations with a telescope" in one case he found a given sample full of "common Priscilles."

Dr. F. W. Campbell in company with Mr. I. H. Stearns and others, is enjoying a rest and good sport at his fishing grounds on the Restigouche.

Our Editor received a very kind letter from Dr. Casey Steward of Chicago Ill., and an old graduate of Bishop's. The doctor enjoys one of the largest practices in the U. S. in his specialty as Oculist and Aurist in which he has gained a world-wide reputation by his clever clinical work and writings.

The prospects of having a large freshman class next session are very good. Already quite a few aspirants have taken the Matriculation room. It is to be hoped that many others will follow their good example. It has been rumored that several of our confreres at Lennoxville intend taking a medical course. We hope that they will not forget that the Medical Faculty of Bishops College is in Montreal, and we can assure them they will receive a ready welcome from one and all of its students.

W. Opzoomer "96" is still "Cheering" it and doing such a "mity" lot of work that we see very little of him. But if rumors be true we may expect to hear wonderful reports of his summer researches.

J. J. Benny "96" passed through the city recently en route for the seaside where he intends to spend the summer. He has rented a neat little cottage within a short distance of Boston, which is after his own heart. During his stay he will enter deeply into the study of human abnormalites which is his great hobby. "Beeny" looked very well indeed notwithstanding the fact that his "siders" needed trimming.

Cannibalism is not yet extinct. Even in parts of the world where civilization is thought to be almost perfect. E. J. Addison "96" has received a letter from his home in Tasmania which informs him of the tragic death of an old school fellow. While travelling toward the interior of Australia in search of a suitable locality for the establishment of a sheep ranch, he fell into an ambush laid by the natives and was cruelly murdered and then eaten. Such a horrible ending to a young life cannot fail to arouse the indignation of all our readers. Mr. Addison has our heartfelt sympathy in this his great breavement.

SQUIBS.

A stiff course.—Dissection.

One of our town school boys recently electrified his readers with the following comparison, "Sick" being the word given. Sick, Worse, Dead.

To Student at M. G. H.

"And do you think I'm going to die doctor," Student Compose yourself my dear Madam that will be the very last thing that will happen to you.

Mrs. O' Griffin Towne.

Well, well, those doctors knows little beside the doctors of long ago. Now to prove this to ye, Mrs. Ryan, let me tell ye a story, as ye knows, Mrs. Ryan, I tonke Jamesy to young doctor Grace. Well ye know the trouble Iv'e had wid Jamesy's mouth lately; well says he, says he, after he had examined Jamesy's mouth, "Its no organic disease Ma'am, no organic disease." Now would you believe me Mrs. Ryan, there stood Jamesy with a mouth organ in his hand right forinst him, and his lips all sore from a playin of it dye moind?

"Jones."—Can you tole me vere vas foundt der first diamondt?

Col.—"No; where?"

"Vy on der Ark: Noah's son vas a Shem of der first vater."

A Student's Outing.

In the early summer of '91, along with several of my college chums, whose condition was in one respect similiar to mine, in that we were all "dead broke," I went to work for one of the shipping lines. The work being full of variety and always in the open air, suited us well enough, but an extra amount of night work and the uncertainty and bad quality of our meals told on our health before long; and therefore when at the end of about a month's time we were temporarily discharged owing to a decrease in business, we were all exceedingly glad of a rest. How much the others were affected by the strain of overwork and bad grub, I dont know, but for my own part I was completely played out, my powers of sleeping and digestion having suffered considerably.

Just at the right time, I received a pressing invitation to go out to the country. This was the very thing I thought to recruit up again and in one day's time I started with an old fishing comrade of mine.

Our destination was Richmond, on the St. Francis River. This comrade of mine had an aunt who lived at South Durham, 6 miles from Richmond. In our harum scarum manner we decided to pay this aunt a flying visit, so stepping off the train at Lisgar Station we walked up to the farm-house, 2 miles distant, pouring rain of course.

And when we appeared suddenly before her, tired, wet and bedragged with mud, she was simply speechless with amazement, however when she had recovered her equanimity she made us heartily welcome.

Principal Adams, D C L; Vice-President, D W Sutherland, B A · Sec-Treas, N C Lyster; Auditor, A H Moore, B A.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, Rev Prof Watkins, M A.

The Auditor's report was read by the retiring Secretary-Treasurer, and showed the Association to be on a sound financial basis and with a larger balance at its credit than for many years. Mr Avery was thanked for his assistance to the Association during the past year as Secretary.

CRICKET.

Cricket has been "all the rage" in College and School whenever the stress of examinations was alleviated sufficiently to enable the men and boys to take part in the games of the season. Two games of cricket were played by the College Team, one with a Sherbrooke eleven, the other with Cookshire. Both matches were interesting the more so as the College won the former by 18 runs, the latter by 20. The weather was decidedly torrid on both occasions so we think the play on each side was satisfactory under the circumstances. The fielding was poor but we must allow for the intense heat. Several good catches, however, were made, Donnelly distinguishing himself especially in this way. Robertson made top score in the Sherbrooke match, making 17 runs, while Hibbard made 14 not out, against Cookshire. Riopel and Fell did some excellent bowling in both matches. The team was as follows:—Prof. Watkins, Ford, (capt), Riopel, Donnelly, Fell (pro.), Almond, Hibbard, Boyle, Watson, McClintock, Sutherland.

TENNIS.

Lawrence Hutton affirms that in the spring a young man's fancy fondly turns to thoughts of "love" and "let" and "doubles" and "vantage" and other Tennis terms. However true this may be Tennis has certainly been receiving its due share of attention with us: Compton was defeated on its own court by a score of 6 sets to 0. The match, however was closer than would appear from the score as many of the sets were well fought out. Nevertheless the College met its Waterloo on the School Court sometime later where it was beaten in its turn by 6 to 0, and the games were often hardly fought and won.

Bishop's College School Notes.

Another year of School life has gone by—the counting of months, weeks, and days is over; exams, sports and convocation are all things of the past, and those who have toiled, rejoiced—we shall not say sorrowed—during the year, are once more enjoying the longed for holidays. In the natural order of things, many of those who have left have finished their course in the old school and have stepped forth to enter business or engage in further preparation for professional life, carrying with them, we feel sure, tender thoughts and recollections of the time spent at Lennoxville, and a determination to show themselves worthy of the opportunities and training they have received. The School Editor of the MITRE, who with the present number lays down his pen, takes the opportunity of bidding a kind adieu to all with whom he has been connected during the past three years, wishing them every success, and commending the MITRE to their support.

The Principal's sermon on Sunday evening, June 24th, was listened to with great interest and attention by the boys. It is hoped that it will be published shortly.

The annual sports, which took place on Wednesday, the 27th June, were much interfered with by heavy rain which began about eleven o'clock in the morning, and continued during the greater part of the day, making the track very heavy, and preventing a large attendance of spectators. Notwithstanding this difficulty, however, the whole programme was carried out, the results of the events being in most cases very creditable.

Among those who distinguished themselves may be mentioned Kingsmill, who won the all round medal and the cricket-ball for the best bowling average, McLea Macdougall, Rothera and Roberts, all of whom figure prominently in the list which appears herewith.

Mention must also be made of the fine style in which Bowen finished the mile run, or in his case what should be called "the mile walk-round." His free and graceful gait was a subject of admiration to all, and called forth many expressions of praise from the spectators.

The following is the sports programme:

- 1 Throwing Cricket Ball—Open—1st McLea, 88yds 2 ft; 2nd Willett 88 yds.
- 2 Putting Shot (16 lbs.) open.—1st McLea 28 ft 7 in; 2nd Macdougall 27 ft.
- 3 100 yards—12 and under.—1st Gordon I; 2nd Porteous II
- 4 High Jump—Open.—1st McLea 4 ft 11½ in; 2nd Kingsmill 4 ft 9½ in.
- 5 Students Race (440 yds)—1st Lyster 1 min. 4 4-5 sec; 2nd Boyle 1 min. 5 sec.
- 6 Flat Race (100 yds)—Open.—1st Kingsmill 11 sec; 2nd Macdougall 11½ sec; 3rd Moir
- 7 Flat Race (440 yds) 15 and under—1st Roberts 1 min 5 sec; 2nd Winder 1 min 10 sec.
- 8 Mile Run—Open.—1st Rothera 5 min. 35 sec; 2nd Willett 5 min. 36½ sec; 3rd Bowen.
- 9 Flat Race (440 yards) open.—1st Macdougall 1 min; 2nd Rothera 1 min. 2 sec; 3rd Kingsmill 1 min 3 sec.
- 10 Broad Jump—15 and under.—1st Roberts 17 ft. 1 in; 2nd Porteous I 15 ft. 9 in.
- 11 Three-legged Race (100 yards)—Open.—1st Macdougall and Kingsmill 17 sec; 2nd McLea and Willett 17½ sec.

- 12 Sack Race (50 yds) Open—1st Kingsmill; 2nd Porteous.
- 13 Pole Vault—Open.—1st McLea 8 ft; 2nd Rowley 7 ft. 10 in.
- 14 Old Boys' Race (100 yds)—1st Balfour; 2nd Boyle.

The prizes won during the day were distributed in the evening by Mrs. Adams. Among them were a cricket bat given by Mr. R. Kane (B. C. S. 1888-93) won by Macdougall, and also a cricket bat given by Mr. Meredith of Montreal, won by Willett. The school bat (3rd average) was won by McLea.

The School Dance, which was held on the night of Wednesday, June 27th, was a very well attended and successful one, notwithstanding the heavy rain. About eleven o'clock the electric lights suddenly went out, and refused to be coaxed into shedding their radiance during the remainder of the dance. Lamps and candles were soon procured, however, and the few moments of darkness did not appear to have spoiled the enjoyment of the dancers.

The school prizes were distributed on Thursday afternoon by Bishop Dunn, after a short address referring to the work of the year, had been given by the Headmaster.

Short addresses were also delivered by the Bishop of Vermont, and the Rev'd E. I. Rexford, Rector of the Montreal High School.

The following is the prize list:

CRICKET.

Besides the Old Boys' Match, three matches have been played this season, of which a summary is as follows:

Bishop's College School vs. Bishop's College. School won by 11 runs. Willett made 12 runs, and Rothera 9.

Bishop's College School vs. McGill. McGill won by 3 wickets. McLea made 15 runs, Gilmour 16, the latter playing in fine style.

Bishop's College School vs. Montreal. School won by 22 runs. McLea made 16 runs, Kingsmill 13, Fell (pro.) 26, Lloyd 18, Macdougall 13

Bishop's College School vs. Old Boys. School won easily. Match played in rain. Score not taken.

It is greatly to be regretted that owing to various causes, the intended cricket tour has had to be cancelled, but is hoped that there will be no obstacles next year to prevent the idea being carried out.

The inspection of the Cadet Corps took place on the morning of Saturday, June 16th, Col. D'Orsonnens, Commandant of the St. Johns Military School, being the inspecting officer. The inspection, which lasted over an hour, was quite severe, but was, in most respects very creditable.

An excellent photo of the corps, and also one of the officers, has lately been taken by I. C. Peabody of Lennoxville. Both are well worth having, and are the first of the kind taken for many years.

The following is the programme of the entertainment given by the B. C. School Minstrels at Lennoxville on May 26th, and at Coaticook on June 9th. At the former place $90 was realized in aid of the cricket tour. The performance which has been favourably noticed by several of the papers, was greatly enjoyed by the audience. While all the boys did well in their various parts, the honors seem to be divided between Barreto—the star of the occasion—Burke max and major, N. Smith, Atkinson and last but not least Sergt Aitken.

FIRST PART.

Opening Chorus,....."Keep in the Middle of the Road." Mr. E. Burke.

Song and Chorus,.....Mr. C. F. Rothera.."Camptown Races." Quartette,....."Oh, who will o'er the Downs so Free." Messrs. Atkinson, Rothera, Burke, Barretto.

Comic Song,.....Mr. G. M. Barretto, Jr....."Prodigal Son."

Church extension taken by the missionaries from Iona and others who did not hail from Rome, even after the mission of St. Augustine had been commenced.

At 8 o'clock, meetings were held of the Chapel Building Committee and the Divinity House Committee, both of which prepared reports of progress made. The Divinity House is paid for; but much remains to be done for the Chapel:

- (1) The stalls.
- (2) The final floor.
- (3) Stained-glass windows:

Thirteen lights forming 5 windows are now promised as follows:—

- (1) East window (3 lights): presented by the Nicolls family, in memory of Bishop G. J. Mountain.
- (2) West window (3 lights), by Dr. J. J. S. Mountain: to commemorate his wife and daughter.
- (3) Three lights, by the Right Rev. the Bishop: to commemorate Dr. Lobley and Rev. L. Doolittle, (a single light.)
- (4) Window by Ladies of Lennoxville: to commemorate Dr. Nicolls, First Principal.
- (5) Window by the Chancellor, Dr. Heneker: to commemorate Bishop Williams. For these windows, after much consideration, the Corporation decided to employ Messrs. Spence, of Montreal.

On Friday, June 1st, at 7.15 a. m., the Missionary Union Celebration was held, the Bishop being Celebrant.

In the evening the Bishop gave an illustrated Lecture in the Bishop Williams' Hall, carrying on the historical sketch of English Church History to about 1400 A. D., including the struggle in Becket's time, the Pope's usurpations in the time of John, and the Lollard and Wyckliffe reaction. Views were shown illustrating the events given in Thursday's Lecture as well. This Lecture was given as a substitute for the usual Missionary Meeting and about 60 persons attended besides the residents of the Institution.

On Saturday, June 2, in the third Lecture, shewing the course of events, which led to the reformation in the organisation of the Church under Henry VIII, a masterly and fresh analysis of the character and views of Wolsey was given. The Professors and Students listened to this most valuable and solid lecture for one hour and three quarters without the slightest flagging of interest, and a hope has been expressed that the historic sketch will be continued from 1534 onward at some future visit.

In the evening a most impressive Confirmation Service was held, Miss Abbott kindly taking the Organ. The Principal presented twelve candidates from the School. The Bishop's addresses were solemn and suggestive.

On Sunday, June 3rd, at 7.30, there was a celebration, the Bishop being Celebrant, assisted by the Principal and Rev. N. P. Yates. There were 36 Communicants, including the 12 newly confirmed and 15 other boys already Communicants. At 9.45 the Bishop preached, and in the afternoon he left us for East Sherbrooke.

Convocation week is generally looked upon as a time for social and academic gathering, but it has its religious side, and the valedictory sermon of the Principal on the Sunday, the University Sermon and the services of the Thursday, have a serious import and strike a key-note which we may hope is not forgotten amidst the harmonious rejoicing and reunions of the week.

This side of the week's proceedings was this year emphasised by the early celebration at six o'clock, on the morning of St. Peter's Day. The Bishop of Vermont celebrated, Rev. Dr. Allnatt was Deacon, and the Principal was gospel-ler.

The Bishop gave an address on the call of St. Peter. In simple and forcible language, it was shewn how our Lord knew all about Simon Peter: his origin, his circumstances and his capabilities. And in the same way we ourselves are before the same Tribunal, and the same omniscience; and this all-knowledge of the Holy One should not discourage us, for He knows our tendencies and wishes towards good as well as our lapses towards evil. About 30 persons attended the service, which was most helpful, and which fitly ended the Academic year.

Arts Jottings.

Once more upon the stage of life old Bishop's drops the curtain and closes up the play of another year's work and exeunt third year. No more shall thy members rank among the number of her Arts men, but clad in the batchelor's gown and vested with the insignia of purple and ermine, go forth to join the busy crowd who throng the highways of life. Dear will thy Alma Mater cherish the memories of her sons of '94, and she asks in return a faithful remembrance from you of the many days spent under the shadow of her walls. In your future walks of life strive to maintain and support her honour, be faithful to the trust which she has committed to your charge, and strengthened by what she bestows upon you, go forth and conquer.

The following members of the graduating year return next term to take up residence in the Divinity House and enter upon the study of theology: Messrs B. Watson, B.A., T. Donnelly, B.A., S. B. Dickson, B.A., J. Almond, B.A., and W. Barton, B.A.

The Arts Faculty gives promise of being a large one next year. Several applications for admission have already been filed and many others are expected. May the old walls be taxed to their uttermost for accommodation is the hope of every Arts man of the institution.

The onerous task of enforcing the observance of rules in the house during the coming year will fall upon the shoulders of Mr. N. C. Lyster, who will be senior student of this Faculty. The MITRE wishes him every success in the discharge of this duty, and has every confidence in his ability to fill the position. Keep the "Freshies" in order, Chris. No. 9 is always ready to serve as an able assistant in maintaining order.

The graduating year of 1895 gives promise of great things, embracing as it does among its members six applicants for honours, four of whom are entering for classics, one for mathematics and one for theology.

The graduating class of this year were determined not to leave any prizes behind them which any of its number could possibly carry away. Every special prize open to its members but one was carried away by them. Among them may be mentioned the Prince of Wales Medal for classics, the Gen. Nicolls Scholarship for Mathematics, the Harrison Essay, The Latin and English Mackie Essays, the Hebrew prize, the Chancellor's prize for the best aggregate, the Educational Department's prize for French.

Among the guests at Convocation may be mentioned Messrs Bacon, B.A., G. H. Montgomery, B.A. and R. Howe, B.A. Mr. Bacon, who has been teaching in Montreal since his graduation in '92, has been appointed Principal of the Ann Street School in Montreal, one of the largest schools in the city, a position which reflects great credit upon his ability as a schoolmaster with only two year's experience in the profession. Mr. Montgomery has been studying French and other subjects of a like nationality practically, at Saint Pie during the past two months, prior to his entering upon his legal studies. Mr. Howe, as a disciple of Isaak Watton, is spending his McGill vacation at Hatley.

The following is the programme of an Organ Recital given in the Chapel by Mr. Arthur Dorey on Monday evening, June 25th, at 8.14:—

1. Hymn, "Praise the Lord (292).....Handel
2. Organ Concerto in B flat, No. 4.....Handel
3. a. Cantilene.....Maily
- b. Marche Solennelle.....Maily
4. Songs without words (No. 3 Bk 2, No. Bk 5) Mendelssohn
5. a. "Ave Maria,".....Schubert
- b. Gavotte in B flat.....Handel
6. Andante in F.....Batiste
7. Hymn, "Praise my Soul," (298).....Merkel
8. Christmas March.....Merkel
9. "La Serenata,".....Braga

OFFERTORY FOR THE CHAPEL FUND.

10. Offertoire in C minor.....C. Berridge
11. Chorus of Angels.....S. Clark
12. Fimale.....Lemmens

Rev. T. H. Lloyd, M. A., sang most acceptably and all present (although the number was rather small) enjoyed the evening very much.

Mr. W. H. Moor, of Grace Church, Montreal, and a member of the Canadian Council of the St. Andrews Brotherhood, intends entering the class of '97 in Sept. Mr. Moor visited us June 1st and made many friends during his short stay.

B. Watson, B. A., editor of the MITRE, sails for Naples on the 12th of July. He will visit Rome and points of interest on the continent, spending a few weeks in England on his return trip. In his absence A. H. Moore, B. A., is acting as editor.

W. Barton, B.A., will spend his summer in England. What with the ermine and purple, the French prize and the bracing air of the south sea we hope to see William back in fine form for next year's Divinity work.

J. McD. Ford, B. A., will enter the Medical Faculty of Bishop's in October. Donald will be much missed from our midst. Nearly all our athletic teams have in turn been captained by him, and the MITRE wishes him every success in his medical studies. J. A. Chabot will also enter our Medical Faculty next year. This is as it should be.

Mr. A. H. Wurtele, son of Rev. L. C. Wurtele, M.A., of Acton Vale, one of our oldest graduates, spent the closing week with us. He will enter the first year next year. Mr. W. Balfour, also of Actonvale, nephew of Rev. A. J. Balfour, M. A., will help to swell the number of Freshies next Sept.

C E Bishop, B A, came from Stanstead for Convocation day and for his sermon prize. His many friends are pleased to learn that his eyes are improving rapidly.

E B Clare Avery, B A, will spend his vacation at Muskoka, Ont.

N C Lyster '94 has kindly acted as Business Manager for the Arts Faculty since Mr Stevens left College.

At the election of officers for the MITRE for 1894-5 B Watson was re-elected editor-in-chief and A H Moore business manager, also re-elected. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded these gentlemen for their past services to the College magazine, and the fact that in both cases the election was unanimous, shows that they have the united support of all the students and boys.

Rev N P Yates, B A, leaves soon for Germany to spend a year or two in one of her great universities in the study of philosophy. The MITRE regrets that he has seen fit to sever his connection with our Faculty and wishes him a pleasant and successful season of study abroad.

Rev Dr Allnatt and family left for their summer outing at Cap a l'Aigle, P Q, July 2nd. Mrs Allnatt's many friends will be pleased to hear of her improved health.

Prof Wilkinson and family will spend part of the long vacation at Cap a l'Aigle.

Prof and Mrs Watkins are at Beaconsfield, Que, where the Professor is taking Sunday duty.

We understand there is to be a Convention of all the Clergy of the Diocese at Bishop's College early in September.

Athletics.

The annual meeting of the Athletic Association was held on the 26th inst, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Rev more important than the granting of degrees, however interesting this last interchange illustrated that day, in his own reception of an honorary degree might be. The other degrees, those in course, represented the real work of the University. In olden times a man who had learned one subject well, would go to another University where there was an able professor in some other department of knowledge, and would, while attending the lectures there, support himself by teaching what he was already master of. Thus those who gained knowledge became the dispensers of knowledge. He spoke of the individuality of Universities and said while it would be absurd to compare such a University as this with such a University as Oxford, yet there was a work for this University in the Province of Quebec which the University of Oxford could not do there. Hence there was scope and outlook for Bishop's College: and wherever they went they would be able to dispense the knowledge and light they had received and they were bound to do this. The Bishop then spoke to the boys urging them to make use of their opportunities, their regular and well arranged hours for work and recreation. He instanced the case of a boy who had driven him from Concord to St. Paul's school on the occasion of his recent visit, and who attended school in the morning, worked on the farm or drove the hack in the afternoon, set up type in the evening and only had the very early morning hours to prepare for his recitations. That was the spirit of pursuing knowledge under difficulties which the boys should cultivate, and he trusted the comparatively easy distribution of hours for work and play would not enervate them; in conclusion he took the compliment of his own honorary degree as in some sense an ad eundem degree and thus indirectly an honour to Oxford. Bishop Hall concluded his practical and luminous address by a telling quotation from St. Bernard:

"Sunt qui scire volunt eo fine tantum, ut sciant, et turpis curiositas est.

Et sunt qui scire volunt, ut sciantur ipsi, et turpis vanitas est.

Et sunt item qui scire volunt, ut scientiam suam vendant et turpis quaestus est:

Sunt item qui scire volunt ut aedificentur: et prudentia est.

Et sunt qui scire volunt ut aedificent: et caritas est."

The Very Rev. the Dean of Huron briefly acknowledged the honor done him by the University; it was as welcome as it was unexpected. He referred to his former connexion with the Diocese; his affectionate remembrance of Bishop Williams, and his former visit when he received the degree of M.A. He briefly referred to the work he had been permitted to do in promoting the work of the Cathedral in London.

The Rev. Dr. Lubeck made a very telling speech. His speech rapidly glided without any suggestion of incongruity from grave to gay, from lively to severe. He touched upon the wearing of hoods, which suggested ritualism to the uninitiated: and which suggested the conversion of the heathen to another. He playfully told his own experience in wearing all he had in order to satisfy the demands of a friend where "full sail" seemed to be required: and told the old story of the man who wore a hood to which he was not entitled and how the man with a "lie on his back" was equivalent to a "falsehood." He then in earnest, persuasive and graphic tones spoke of the seriousness of life and the responsibility of educated men. Culture was made up of nature, art and life, and it was the duty of University men to disseminate true culture. They had duties as men, as University men, and as church University men. He contended that the truths taught by the Catholic church were not effete, but were vigorous and fertile. He shewed how a sceptical nobleman who visited Fiji was reproved by a converted Fijian, who assured the visitor that his personal safety was a practical proof of the great change that had come over the habits of a people formerly degraded, and that this change was entirely due to Christianity. He ended by a reference "to the light of our luminous souls" it should be our ideal, being illuminated ourselves we should here and elsewhere diffuse light. Dr. Lubeck's powerful speech was frequently applauded.

The Rector of the Montreal High School, The Rev'd E. I. Rexford B. A., followed in a few sympathetic and friendly words. Though he had never been at Convocation before he had taken part as a temporary resident in Teacher's Convention which had been held in the College during Vacation. He referred to the friendly rivalry of the School with the High School not only in preparing boys for the Universities and for life, but also in manly games: pointing out the advantage of the country over the town. As a graduate of McGill he also congratulated the University on the success of their Convocation.

The Bishop of Quebec summed up the proceedings of the two days, including the business meetings of the day before (Wednesday June 27) with clearness and felicity. Like Landseer with the animals he so ably depicted, Bishop Hall "peeped into our hearts" and that was the secret of his sway over us. He referred to the building of the corridor as a useful and practical thing. He is hopeful that the honour courses may be lengthened and strengthened and that well prepared boys may go to the college. He emphasized the needs of the college as threefold, (1) a completely restored chapel, (2) a new gymnasium, (3) the increased endowment spoken of by the chancellor and the Principal. There was to be unselfishness in study, in act and in spiritual life; our own spiritual health in fact was to be a basis for promoting the good of others.

The Following is a List of Degrees Conferred.

D. D. (Jure dignitatis)—Rt. Rev. A. C. A. Hall, D. D., Lord Bishop of Vermont; Very Rev. G. M. Innes, M. A., Dean of Huron.

The Alma Mater Society.

The annual meeting of this Society took place in the College at 9 a. m. on Thursday, 28th June. There were present, The Rev. John Kemp, B. D., Rev. Thos. Blaylock, M. A., Rev. Canon Foster, M. A., Rev. T. W. Fyles, M. A., Rev. R. Hewton, M. A., Rev. A. H. Judge, M. A., Rev. R. Tambs, M. A., Rev. G. Abbott Smith, Col. Forsyth, A. D. Nicolls, Esq., M. A.

R. Campbell, Esq., M. A., LL. B., John Hamilton, Esq., Rev. B. G. Wilkinson, M. A. Armitage Rhodes, Esq., Rev. A. H. Robertson, M. A.

A letter was read from Mr. Justice Hall, the President of the Society, apologizing for his enforced absence, he being kept away by the business of the law courts.

The Rev. J. Kemp, B. D., the oldest member of the Society, was then by acclamation voted into the chair. One new member, Mr. Armitage Rhodes, was elected.

In connection with the report of the Jubilee Committee it was resolved to reappoint the committee and request it to appoint local sub-committees. The special work of this committee is to arrange for a becoming celebration of the Jubilee of the College in 1895, and the members of it now are: The Rev. Principal Adams, convener, The Venerable Archdeacon Roe, The Rev. Canon Fulton, Rev. B. G. Wilkinson, A. D. Nicolls, Esq., H. J. H. Petry, Esq., Rev. G. Abbott Smith, G. H. Balfour, Esq., C. M. Holt, Esq., F. E. Meredith, Esq., Rev. L. W. Williams, Col. J. B. Forsyth, J. Hamilton, Esq., and A. Rhodes, Esq.

The following officers were elected for the year 1894-5:—President, the Hon. J. S. Hall; Vice-Presidents, Rev. J. J. S. Mountain, D. D., and Col. J. B. Forsyth; Sec.-Treas., H. J. H. Petry, Esq.; Committee: Rev. B. G. Wilkinson, H. Abbott, Esq., R. Campbell, Esq.

The following two members, by the payment of $5.00 each, became life members of the Society: The Rev. G. Abbott Smith and the Rev. A. H. Robertson.

General Notes.

We were favoured on Wednesday, May 23rd, by a visit from Sister Frederica, one of the "Sisters of the Church," commonly but inaccurately known as 'The Kilburn Sisters.' Sister Frederica has resided for many years in London. Four years ago, she and another sister came out to Canada; their headquarters are in Toronto. A meeting was called in the College Hall on 23rd May, at which the sister gave a most interesting address showing the uncelus from which the work had grown; particulars were given of the help provided for the poor, of the educational work, and of the purely spiritual work undertaken both in England and in Canada by this noble Sisterhood. An offertory was made and several ladies present became associates. Dr. Allnatt made some remarks sympathizing with the efforts which had been made. The Principal thanked the Sister for her visit and her address.

On May 31st, we welcomed the Bishop who arrived at 3. 30 in the Rev'd. E. A. W. King's conveyance from Waterville. At 4 o'clock the Bishop gave his first lecture on Church History, bringing the story down through the apostolic ages, with the suggested possibility of visits from St. Paul and Joseph of Arimathea, through the martyrdom of St. Alban, the mission of St. Augustine, the work of St. Patrick, St. Cuthbert and St. Aidan, to the Norman Conquest. The priority of the British Church to the mission of St. Augustine was dwelt upon, as also the large share in the work of God with "our mind" as well as with our soul, and heart and strength. Man, inferior to many other creatures in strength, by his superior intelligence employs them. Religion is a reasonable service. Religion is not a fanciful, fantastic thing, not a child of the imagination. True Reason will lead us to true faith. Faith can illuminate Reason, and Reason can shine on Faith. No antithesis exists, no divorce should be permitted between Faith and Reason. The use of a telescope or microscope does not destroy but enhances the use of the eye. Faith is like this aid to the natural reason. Reason can show us when and how to receive authority. If we wait patiently doubtless the difficulties will be cleared. Faith need not be childish, but it can be child-like. Our reason teaches us not to be fooled again and again by Satan, and causes us to be not ignorant of his devices.

In the fourth place, the eagle suggests to us something beyond strength, patience and intelligence: it represents "aspiration." "Knowledge by itself puffeth up, but love edifieth." God is pre-eminently love; and all our intelligence must be used for the general good. We must love in a God-like, unselfish way and spirit. Aspiration suggests love—love ascending towards God, love radiating towards humanity. As the eagle soars aloft and looks with unblanched eye on the dazzling glory of the sun, so the soul that loves looks up fearlessly towards God. Thus "excelsior" is our motto! and we recognize our spiritual paternity as beings who are men rather than "magnified tadpoles."

Let us cultivate higher aims, nobler aspirations, loftier conceptions, grander ideals. Forgetting both our past attainments and our past failures let us press forward and upward. Let us love God for His grandeur. Let us forsake and despise and bury all that is bad, mean, low, poor, vile and false! The eagle's flight suggests to us the eagle's point of view—which is God's point of view; from this height the eagle can see further and in truer proportion than one who remains on the earth. The psalmist when he went into the sanctuary beheld the end of those he had at first accounted successful; so from the standpoint of the eagle we can recognize the true bearings and proportions and import of God's various dealings with us. At this height we can see how obstacles are to be overcome, how sorrow and disappointment are to be borne, we see the relative lightness of the things of time and space, and the relative weight of the things that are eternal.

The true life should be a glorious combination of the four requisites:—

- (1). Strength and courage.
- (2). Patience and self-control.
- (3). Intelligence; intelligent faith and believing intelligence; a reasonable service.
- (4). True aspiration, true love.

The four give us a perfect picture to follow as an ideal and an incentive, and as a measure to remind us of our defects. They do not represent a dream, but a solid, an abiding and in some true sense an attainable reality!

The hymn "And now O Father mindful of the Love" was sung after the Offertory sentences were read. At the close of the service the hymn "Through the Night of Doubt and Sorrow" was sung as a recessional hymn. Thus ended one of the noblest services ever held in our chapel; it was felt that the service and the sermon had "lifted us into heavenly places."

Convocation.

The weather on Thursday was all that could be desired and when the members of Convocation appeared in the Bishop William's Hall they found it well filled.

After declaring the Convocation opened the Chancellor, Dr. R. W. Heneker, in his address, dwelt on many points. After regretting his inability to attend the business meeting and the chapel services in the morning, Dr. Heneker went on to welcome Bishop Hall and other friends from the United States, and the Very Rev. Dean Innes, of Huron. After speaking of the completion of the Divinity House Chapel and School corridor he went on to emphasize the more important being the need of an increase in endowments and new chairs in order to extend the curriculum. A new gymnasium was also pleaded for. In regard to the college the chancellor spoke at length. Its position demanded a high standard. The aim was quality rather than quantity. Dr. Heneker went on to speak of the high qualifications demanded by the Dominion, in its present position, from its public men and said that education was based on religion. Although Bishop's College was Church of England it was broad and liberal to all religious classes. Dr. Heneker was constantly interrupted with applause and concluded with a few remarks on the state of education generally. Following the chancellor's address was the report of the dean of the Faculty of Arts, the Rev. Dr. Adams.

THE PRINCIPAL'S ADDRESS.

Rev. Principal Adams, D.C.L., said:—The principal has already reported to the corporation on the general state of the college. The number of students has been thirty-one in all, which is above the average of the last ten years. The general health of the members of the institution has been good. Certain members have suffered from trouble connected with the eye, being a residuary effect of influenza. Hence one student has been allowed to take the third year over again, while another has only been able to take part of the work assigned. In the graduating class we have seven, one having dropped out through weak health. Two of these have taken honors. Mr. Donnelly takes a good first class, obtaining 75 per cent in the problem paper, and a total aggregate of 89 per cent. In six subjects he obtained more than 90. Mr. S. B. Dickson has done much patient work and obtains a second class. In classics Mr. B. Watson a good first class; in three subjects he obtained more than 90. Mr. Avery takes classics and science for his option. Mr. Almond took classics and philosophy, and both obtained 60 per cent. Messrs. Ford and Barton have taken the ordinary degree course, substituting two science subjects for mathematics in the final examination as is now allowed by the statutes. In the second year there have been seven students, the general work having been good. Three have qualified for classical honors and one for mathematical. In the first year two students have made very fair progress. The students of this year are not quite so strong as usual. The staff and work have remained as before. The principal desires to emphasize the need felt that should be increased, and he thinks that the occurrence of the jubilee of the college in 1895 offers a suitable occasion for making some effort to place the college on a firmer basis financially.

The three most urgent needs of the college in the opinion of the principal are the endowment of three chairs.

1. The professorship of classics, which is not endowed at all at present.

2. The professorship of pastoral theology, which is really a second professorship of divinity. The endowment of this stands at present at about $11,600; and this needs supplementing by $14,000 at least.

3. The professorship of natural science towards which the Alma Mater society has raised about $1,000 hence it is obvious that large endowments are necessary to carry on the work of the college efficiently.

Of course, it is necessary to complete the chapel but it is hoped that this too, may be done, but the friends of church education and the promoters of church principles are reminded respectfully of the great opportunity afforded here of doing a solid work for the church and for the country in which we live; and it is hoped that the friends of the college who have been so generous in the past, and the Alma Mater society, which has always expressed such anxiety for the well-being of the institution, will take up the idea of the jubilee of Bishop's college the work of which was begun in 1845 by the Rev. Jasper Nicolls.

The principal gratefully remembers that a year ago the Bishop told Convocation assembled in the Bishop William's Hall that we wanted a covered way from the college to the school. This is a benefit to the school, the members of which can now pass over in all weathers, and it is a cause of congratulation that a very suitable and substantial corridor has been built, connecting the two buildings. The principal ventures to express the hope that now the corridor is built, the boys of the school will pass along it not only at regular intervals to chapel and hall, but also in many cases personally and permanently to the college, so that more of our boys shall become members of the college. I am glad to say that two boys of the sixth form have qualified for the second year in college, and that one or two in the fifth form have qualified for standing in the first year.

DR. CAMPBELL'S MANIFESTO.

The Principal regrets that some of our medical professors in Montreal have been approached by gentlemen of high standing in the medical profession in Montreal who have told these professors that they will be supported for various hospital appointments if they will leave Bishop's College, and that they will be opposed if they do not leave. The corporation of our College are acting in this matter. We wish for our medical confreres fair play, and we are sure that our Medical Faculty will render a good account of themselves in the future as in the past. On entering on the 50th year of its existence the College expresses thankfulness to the Giver of all good for the success of the past, and with a good courage looks forward to future usefulness and success.

Dr. Allnatt then presented the report of the Divinity Faculty. He said that the past year would probably take rank as one of small things but the outlook was hopeful for next year. He spoke of his work both with arts and divinity students and read extracts from the reports of outside examiners. The Hebrew work stood the test of examinations very well and in Greek Testament Mr. Moore B. A., who got 77, and Vial of the Arts Faculty with 79 per cent came in for Honorable Mention. Mr. Moore secured 96 per cent in Pearson and 90 per cent in Butler's Analogy while Mr. Sutherland B. A., got a good second class. The sermons sent up for the prize were highly commended as being practical and excellent for first year divinity students.

We publish in another column the list of degrees which were now conferred.

The Chancellor called upon Mr. E. B. Clare Avery B. A., to read the Valedictory address for the graduating class. During the course of his address Mr. Avery spoke of some phases of education from a utilitarian point of view, and concluded with an apt quotation from the Bard of Avon. He was quite at home before his audience and his rich voice and clear elocution made it a pleasure to listen to him in any part of the Hall. Would that all our speakers would try to make themselves heard throughout the Hall as did the valedictorian.

Bishop Hall spoke with great force on interchange of thought between Universities as being Convocation Notes.

The closing exercises of the year 1893-94 are over and students and boys have spent with more or less success one more session within our walls. Now, however, the walls are becoming deserted, and the weary Professors and Masters seek the quiet rest of retired summer resorts, and the students repair to their homes to enjoy the long vacation, which will prove to be all too short.

There were many good things said, during the proceedings of Convocation day, which we cannot report owing to lack of space; but we hope that the following summary will give to those who were not with us an idea of the successful nature of the proceedings of the day. Those who were fortunate enough to be present will need nothing of the kind to impress them with the grandeur of the day, but we hope they too may be benefited by being enabled to carry away more than they would otherwise have done. The general opinion seems to be that the Convocation this year reached the high water mark of the Convocations of Bishop's College.

THE SERVICE.

The Convocation Service of June 28th, 1894, will long be remembered by those who were privileged to take part in it. There had already been matins at 7, said by the Principal, and an early celebration at which the Lord Bishop of Vermont was celebrant, Professor Allnatt, Deacon, and Professor Wilkinson, Gospeller. At the eleven o'clock service there were at least fifty persons robed in surplices. The processional hymn was "The Church's one Foundation." Mr. P. J. Illsley, Mus. Bac., organist of St. George's Church, Montreal, presided at the organ with marked ability and reverence. The Bishop of Quebec was the celebrant, the Principal acting as Deacon; the Rev. Dr. Lubeck, Rector of Zion and St. Timothy Church, New York, read the Epistle, and the Very Rev. G. M. Innes, Dean of Huron, read the Gospel. The Rev. John Kemp, B.D. as the oldest graduate present, took a seat within the sanctuary. About twenty of the neighbouring clergy appeared robed and sat in seats on the level just outside the sanctuary. The Rt. Rev. A. C. A. Hall, D.D. Lord Bishop of Vermont, was the preacher. The text was Revelation iv, 6, 7, 8. The vision of the four living beings. "What is the meaning of these four mysterious beings?" the preacher asked. The current interpretation identifying the four living creatures with the four evangelists or rather with the four gospels as showing different aspects of the life of Christ was briefly touched upon as probably conveying a valuable truth. The subject was, however, treated in a more general manner as conveying a fourfold way of regarding the service of God in general, and one which would bear very close application to the service of God and His church in our Institution of religious education, as well as representing to us as the words do in the first instance, the spirit of the angelic worship of heaven. St. John is describing the worship of heaven as it was revealed to him in Patmos. In his ecstasy, rapt in devotior, he sees as it were a door open, he beholds the throne and upon it the Sovereign Ruler. He is permitted to gaze on the worship; he sees the four and twenty elders, representing the old and new dispensations; the twelve patriarchs standing for the Jewish Church, and the twelve apostles for the Christian Church; their white raiment significant of purity, their crowns of gold significant of victory. They lead the praise and adoration of the Thrice Holy. The preacher then pointed out that symbolism taught real truth, while the truth taught was not usually the literal truth of the words used. The joy and the harmony of heaven were shown under the figures of song and coronation. It was the truth of allegory not of portraiture. So likewise the symbols for the lost, the fire, the chains, stood for grim realities. Metaphors stand for realities. We sowed our actions and reaped our habits. We sow our habits and reap our character. We sow our character and we reap our destiny. By dwelling on the inward truth, rather than on the outward sign, which was its exponent, we should reap the deep poetry, the true significance of the figurative language of the Bible.

Nor are the four characteristics those only of worship of the sanctuary. God's service was in our life, and the services of the sanctuary, the sacrament of Christ's body and blood, the prayers and study of God's word, were meant to inspire and to sweeten and to permeate daily life. The chapel was like a keystone; it was like a radiating centre of pure influences. We were to dedicate all our gifts, not only spiritual, but mental and bodily gifts. The fourfold aspect of the true life then came under review, the four Zoa or living creatures. First the lion stood for strength and for true aggressiveness. One who was asked if he had found "peace," replied that he had found "war." We must not be content with a peace of feeling: our peace must be one that follows war, a peace of well won victory. To him that overcometh the promise was given. We must be strong and courageous. Courage was the first, second and third requisite of the Christian life as St Bernard tells us.

Second, the ox stood for that creature which had been so useful to man, the patient, yoke-bearing creature, and the one most used for sacrifice. Hence to our courage we must add self-control and self-sacrifice. The same Christ is represented as a Lion and as a Lamb. The latter aspect harmonized with the figure of the ox. We must endure as well as do and dare. We must not inflict pain but bear it. Thus we should be truly gentle.

Third, the face of a man signifies that which is the crown of humanity—intelligence. We must serve important schemes which we hope to see continued as soon as college re-opens. The Dramatic Club and the public debate should become, as the politicians say, "real live issues" next year. So too the suggestion with regard to a Reading Club might be acted upon. In all parts of the University and School the indications at the closing point to healthy progressive life, but if this life is to be fully progressive we must not allow the laws of natural evolution to be hindered in our midst, and when next year opens we must carry out such schemes as have been formed but not completed this year.

How Some Proposed Changes Will Affect Future Medical Students.

Regarding the movement of our sister University, McGill, to make her medical course four sessions of nine months each, we believe such a move will prove disastrous to her best interests or to the best interests of any college in Canada which attempts a similar change. It is a well known fact that fully one third of her medical students (and an equal if not a greater percentage of those attending other colleges) are persons of very limited means and in fact it is only by dint of hard saving, and the addition to their home remittances of the earnings of their six months vacation, that they are enabled to carry through their meritorious object. The vacation of six months is absolutely necessary, for in that time a fair sum of money can be made, whereas a vacation of three months would prove of no value whatever, as no employer would take them for so short a period. Surely the McGill governors would sanction no order which would deprive these, often her best students, from following their chosen profession. Far better since extension is necessary (as every medical student knows) that five sessions of six months be substituted with a vacation of six months intervening between sessions. The rumored increase in fees is another stumbling block placed in the road of ambitious young men. Colleges so heavily endowed as McGill need not do this. Far better lower the fees and increase the percentages of marks required in pass examinations. Discrimination should not always be in favour of the rich student. A lower fee would bring more students and students of as much intellect. Colleges are not mercantile establishments and when fees are so increased as to shut out the poor students then the object of that college fails. An increase of sixty dollars per annum to a body of wealthy governors may seem trifling, but this amount means the abolishment of all ideas regarding a medical education in the case of from twenty to fifty young men annually. Any University or institution should find out before announcing such radical changes, the average means of her students and what the effect of such a change would have been in the case of the present students.

Our students endorse the views of our Dean Dr. F. W. Campbell, re the action of certain McGill graduates in a recent election to fill vacancies on the staff of the Montreal General Hospital. Several of our professors and lecturers were approached by individuals connected with McGill and told that their support would be forthcoming provided they gave up all connection with the Medical Faculty of Bishop's; such proceedings are hardly worthy of the Alumni of so great a University. It is to be regretted that three of our professors were "found wanting" and that they agreed to accept the support at the price named. At the election which took place on the 19th of May one of these persons was elected without opposition, the other two were opposed with the result that only one secured an appointment and then with the small majority of six votes. Dr. Campbell's speech at a meeting of the governors of the Hospital, a few days previous to the election, evidently had a telling effect. With abundant proof of the methods employed he challenged anyone to prove any incorrectness in his statements and as these were not contradicted we must conclude that they were but too true. We have every hope that these attacks will have the effect of strengthening the position of our Medical Faculty in the public mind. The students of the Medical Faculty count among the students of McGill a host of friends, and these were not slow to denounce the action above complained of, when the facts were made public through the medium of the daily papers.

John Keats (1796—1820.)

He was the youngest of immortal peers,
Whom health forsook and purblind critics spurned
And made his short span torture. He has yearned
For beauty and for love Amongst the seers
Of time enrolled his verse his name endears.
Keats gazed on this vast beauteous sphere and learned
The secret of its harmony and turned
Its message into liquid notes, our ears
Entrancing, like his own sweet nightingale's.
The secrets of the Grecian myths he knew
Dispensing rhythmic joy from inward pain.
Those lustrous eyes saw clear the light that pales
Our weaker faces, while the hidden clue
That weds the soul with sense he did attain!

Editorial Notes.

There are many things which we should like to say to our readers at the close of the first year of the MITRE'S existence, apologies to be made for imperfections, acknowledgments of the great kindness which has been extended to us, and requests for renewed support. On each one of these subjects there is much to be said, but our parting words must necessarily be brief. When some twelve months ago we set ourselves, conscious as we were of our inexperience and the magnitude of our task, to establish an University magazine, we, (I speak for the Board of Directors) expected to encounter many difficulties; but believing in the worthiness of our object, relying on the loyal support of the friends of the institution, and hoping that our imperfections might be charitably excused, we determined to do our best. The reception which the MITRE has everywhere encountered has been such as to show conclusively that in some degree at least, we have supplied a want long felt among the members of the institution at large both past and present. We have been able during the past year not only to meet all expenses connected with the management of the MITRE, but also to lay aside a small sum towards our enlargement fund. We are glad to be able to report this, and our thanks and more than we can express in mere thanks, are due to all who have either by their literary contributions or pecuniary support helped us in our time of need. However, we do not forget that the obstacles which we have encountered in the past are not greater than those which we may expect in the future. Novelty always possesses a certain attractive power. It is much easier to arouse interest than to retain it; and keeping this in mind we do not imagine for a moment that the future presents no grounds for anxiety; still we have every reason to be grateful to our readers in the past and it does not seem likely that they will withdraw their aid now that in place of a possibility we can appeal to them on behalf of a living reality. And now farewell till another term. Our examinations are over, our battles fought and either with the spoils of victory or with vanquished mien we shall soon be wending our several ways homewards, some of us with our courses as yet uncompleted, others to return no more or to a different field of work. With the beginning of next term the duties of the new directors will commence, and the MITRE will enter its second period, a period in which we trust it will meet with the same loyal reception which has been tendered it during its days of infancy.

In postponing the issue of this number beyond our usual date we have of course been governed by expediency. We judged that it would be more interesting to our readers as a whole to hear the report of our convocation doings at once than to wait for the September issue, and as it was also a difficult matter for us to give up the necessary time during examinations we are even later than we expected. We hope, however, that our contents this time will prove of interest. Did our space permit we should have liked to publish a much fuller report of some of the features of our breaking up festival. The University sermon, the brilliant convocation addresses alone, would fill our pages with matter of absorbing interest but to give these is at present beyond our power. Perhaps another year we may be able to give a more satisfying account to those who may themselves have been unable to be with us.

As we cast a lingering glance over the year just closed it seems to us that many new features have been inaugurated among us. It is too often the case in a place like Bishop's College that all those things which were suggested or partly acted upon in each year, but not pushed to completion, are laid aside with the time in which they were born and simply because a short vacation intervenes these efforts are allowed from sheer neglect, to die in infancy, and the next year is commenced where this one was begun instead of where it left off. Such was the effect of the Christmas vacation on our Literary Club. But no one questions the advisability of having such a club, and its claim on our attention should not be forgotten when next year opens. Again the Chess Club vanished into thin air and cannot now be found even with our new microscope. But there are two
