AGR 462  Honours Thesis in Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems  3-0-0
This course is a continuation of AGR 461. Information and data collected for the Honours Research Proposal, plus additional data collected will be analyzed, discussed and presented in an Honours thesis. Research findings will be presented at a Departmental seminar to be scheduled during the last two weeks of classes; the final submission of the thesis must occur before the last day of the formal examination period. The completion of both AGR 461 and AGR 462 is necessary to satisfy the requirements for Honours in Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems.

Prerequisites: AGR 461 and permission of the Department.
A minimum of 75% in AGR 461 is required to be admitted into AGR 462.

AGR 471  Experiential Learning in Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems I  3-0-0
The aim of this course is to expose students to the application of what they have learned with a practical, field project or placement. Students will be expected to engage in a project or field placement, with off-campus, community projects preferred. A project proposal will be required. Each experiential learning project will include an “external supervisor”, and an internal supervisor (a departmental faculty member). The project will be expected to take significant time to complete, at least 100 hours. The student’s performance during the practical work will be evaluated by the external supervisor. The student will also be required to produce a final report concerning the project outcomes, and/or a presentation of the findings. The course is normally restricted to students with a cumulative average grade of at least 70%.

Prerequisite: This course may only be registered during the final 30 credits of the student’s program and by permission of the Department.

AGR 472  Experiential Learning in Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems II  3-0-0
This course follows the same course structure and requirements as AGR 471 and builds further depth in this field of study.
Prerequisites: AGR 471 and by Permission of the Department.

Program Overview
Knowing the political system increases one’s capacity for choice. Therefore, a knowledge of how political systems work in Canada and abroad, as well as the impact of globalization on the emergence of a new international economic and political order, presents a student with not only an understanding of power, authority and decision making in the system but also with greater opportunities and advantages within their society. Lectures, seminars and individual tutorials are normal methods of instruction and the department stresses personal contact with students as much as possible in order to assist them in choosing a postgraduate career in government, business, non-profit or the academic fields. Guest lectures are given by visiting politicians, academics, interest group representatives and industry leaders.

The department offers the following programs of study: Honours, Major and Minor in Political Studies; Honours, Major and Minor in International Studies; Honours and Major in International Political Economy.

* Students in any major or honours program must also complete a one-credit lab course – ILT 104.
* Grade requirements – To enter or continue in an Honours program, students must normally obtain and sustain a cumulative average of 75%. This minimum cumulative average must be met in order to graduate with the honours degree.
 Offered jointly by the Department of Politics and International Studies and the Department of Economics.

Cross Counting and Program limits
- A maximum of 9 POL credits (3 courses) can be counted towards the multiple Honours/Majors and Minors in the Department of Politics and International Studies.
- The maximum number of Honours/Majors/Minors (POL, INT, IPE) offered through the Department that a student can simultaneously register in is limited to two (2).

Political Studies – Programs and Requirements
Political Studies provides students with a working knowledge of power and authority in society and how decisions are made. Governments, politicians, leaders in private industry and ordinary individuals function within a framework of accepted political norms, e.g. notions of justice, freedom, rights and duties. Over time, these received norms are challenged by conventional methods such as voting, political parties, interest group lobbying and protest movements; or the challenge may be by militant, revolutionary or terrorist means. Political Studies systematically examines and presents these phenomena. This program looks at the Canadian political system, as well as other systems around the world, and considers conflict and cooperation between states internationally. It also allows for a critical evaluation of society and its institutions through a study of the history of political theory. The program is divided into six divisions: I) Canadian Politics, II) Political Theory, III) Comparative Politics, IV) International Relations, V) Research Theory and Methods, VI) Honours Thesis, Independent Studies, Practicum and Internships.

Honours in Political Studies (60 credits)

Required Courses
- POL 100 Introduction to Political Theory
- POL 101 Introduction to Comparative Politics
- POL 112 Introduction to Canadian Politics
- POL 140 Introduction to International Relations
- POL 229 History of Political Philosophy - Modern
- POL 262 Methods and Approaches to Political Science
- POL 361 Techniques of Quantitative Research
- ECO 103 Principles of Economics: Macroeconomics
- ILT 104 Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills for the Social Sciences (1 credit lab)

Plus either:
- Two POL courses at the 400 level

Or
- POL 550 Honours Thesis (6 credits)

Plus Structured Electives in Political Studies:
- One additional course from the Political Theory division
- One additional course from the Canadian Politics division
- Two additional courses from the Comparative Politics division
- Two additional courses from the International Relations division

Plus Free Electives in Political Studies
- 12 additional POL credits (4 POL courses)

Additional note: To enter and to remain in the Honours program, students must normally attain a cumulative average of 75% in program courses. Honours students who do not meet this cumulative average requirement at graduation will automatically revert to the Major program.

Honours Thesis and Independent Study
The Honours Thesis and Independent Study courses are open only to advanced level Honours students. They are offered exceptionally and at the discretion of the Department. These courses are also governed by departmental regulations that are available from the Chair of the Department.

Cognate Courses
Honours students are normally expected to take at least 60 credits of Political Studies courses. However, students in their final thirty (30) credits of study, may petition the Department for authorization to take six (6) credits of cognate courses. This is to be done immediately following the formal registration period, but before the last day in the semester to add, drop or change all three-credit courses. It is understood that this is an exceptional measure to be granted at the discretion of the Department.

International Studies – Programs and Requirements

The International Studies programs provide students with working knowledge of the global community in which they live, and prepare them to pursue careers involving international interactions. The programs consist of an integrated group of courses reflecting international aspects from cultural, economic, environmental, legal, political and social perspectives. Foreign language training and study abroad experiences are also incorporated into the programs.

Honours in International Studies

60 credit program

HONINT

Honours in International Studies involves some required POL courses, some language courses, a semester abroad, and additional courses within one of two concentrations.

Required Courses (33 credits):
- POL 101 Introduction to Comparative Politics
- POL 140 Introduction to International Relations
- POL 262 Methods and Approaches to Political Science
- ILT 104 Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills for the Social Sciences (1 credit lab)

Plus one of:
- POL 241 International Affairs
- POL 242 International Organizations

Plus three of:
- POL 141 Introduction to Diplomacy
- POL 240 International Political Economy
- POL 338 International Law and Human Rights
- POL 340 Strategic Issues: Questions of War and Peace
- POL 345 Introduction to Public International Law
- POL 352 United Nations Practicum I

Plus:
- Two POL courses at the 400 level
  Or
- POL 550 Honours Thesis (6 credits)

Plus:
- Four language courses (at least two of which must be at an advanced level)
  Plus:
  - One semester exchange abroad
  Or
  - International Studies Internship

Plus Elective Courses (21 credits)

Students choose one of the following two concentrations:

Global Governance Concentration: Seven (7) courses from the Global Governance concentration list

Global Culture Concentration: Seven (7) courses from the Global Culture concentration list
Notes:

1) To enter and to remain in the Honours program, students must normally attain a cumulative average of 75%. Honours students who do not meet this average requirement at graduation will automatically revert to the Major program.

2) Language Courses:
   a. 12 credits of language courses other than the student’s mother tongue. The language courses can be taken at Bishop’s or from a program at another university, approved by the Department of Politics and International Studies and the Department of Modern Languages.
   b. Depending on a student’s entry-level competence, extra courses at the beginner or intermediate level might be required.
   c. Upon entering the program students should (a) consult with the appropriate Modern Languages faculty, regarding the language requirements for the program and (b) familiarize themselves with the language competency required for any intended exchange destinations.
   d. Students with no previous familiarity with a foreign language should anticipate two years of study (normally a minimum of 6 courses) in order to attain a level adequate for exchange studies in that language. This may vary according to the country of exchange.
   e. To count as language courses, culture courses in Modern Languages should be taught in the language being credited. For students pursuing English as the language option, English-language courses coded ESL as well as two of CDC 100, CDC 201 or ENG 116 are accepted.

3) Any additional required course can count as one of the electives in either of the two concentrations. In addition, students who have passed both POL 241 and POL 242 need take only two further courses from the third required list.

4) POL 441, POL 442, and POL 443 cannot be simultaneously counted as electives in the Global Governance concentration and as fulfilling the 400-level course requirement.

5) The addition of a Minor language concentration (8 courses) to the Major in International Studies is strongly recommended.

6) Students taking the International Studies Honours will normally be required to spend a semester at one of the many universities abroad with which Bishop’s has an exchange program. Such programs are developed in consultation with the Chair of the Politics and International Studies Department. Note, however, that students must normally maintain a 70% average to be eligible for the exchange program.

Major in International Studies (48 credit program) MAJINT

A major in International Studies involves some required POL courses, some language courses, and some courses within one of two declared concentrations. Students are also encouraged to spend a semester studying abroad.

Required Courses (30 credits):

POL 101 Introduction to Comparative Politics
POL 140 Introduction to International Relations
POL 262 Methods and Approaches to Political Science
ILT 104 Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills for the Social Sciences (1 credit lab)

Plus one of:
POL 241 International Affairs
POL 242 International Organizations

Plus three of:
POL 141 Introduction to Diplomacy
POL 240 International Political Economy
POL 338 International Law and Human Rights
POL 340 Strategic Issues: Questions of War and Peace
POL 345 Introduction to Public International Law
POL 352 United Nations Practicum I

Plus:
Four language courses (at least two of which must be at the intermediate or advanced level)

Plus Elective Courses (15 credits)

Students choose one of the following two concentrations:

Global Governance Concentration: Five (5) courses from the Global Governance concentration list

Global Culture Concentration: Five (5) courses from the Global Culture concentration list

Notes:

1) Language Courses:
   a. 12 credits of language courses other than the student’s mother tongue. The language courses can be taken at Bishop’s or from a program at another university, approved by the Department of Politics and International Studies and the Department of Modern Languages and the Département d’études françaises et québécoises.
   b. Depending on a student’s entry-level competence, extra courses at the beginner or intermediate level might be required.
   c. Upon entering the program students should (a) consult with the appropriate Modern Languages and Études françaises et québécoises faculty, regarding the language requirements for the program and (b) familiarize themselves with the language competency required for any intended exchange destinations.
   d. To count as language courses, culture courses in Modern Languages should be taught in the language being credited. For students pursuing English as the language option, English-language courses coded ESL as well as two of CDC 100, CDC 201 or ENG 116 are accepted.
2) Any additional required course can count as one of the electives in either of the two concentrations. In addition, students who have passed both POL 241 and POL 242 need take only two further courses from the third required list.

3) Students are strongly encouraged to consider taking an International exchange abroad during the course of their degree.

4) The addition of a Minor language concentration (8 courses) to the Major in International Studies is recommended.

International Political Economy – Programs and Requirements

The International Political Economy program provides students with the tools to understand the interaction between economic and political forces in the global environment. Offered jointly by the Departments of Economics and the Department of Politics and International Studies, this area of inquiry examines the complexities of the increasingly interdependent global economy and its relationship to decisions about the governance and redistribution of resources locally, nationally and globally. In the process, students will be able to see how their individual decisions and local environments are intertwined with a worldwide system of economic and political processes that affect people around the globe.

The B.A. Major Program in International Political Economy consists of at least 48 credits, with 24 credits drawn from Politics and International Studies and 24 from Economics. The Honours program in International Political Economy consists of at least 60 credits, with 30 credits drawn from Politics and international Studies and 30 from Economics.

List of Courses

I. Canadian Politics

POL 112 Introduction to Canadian Politics 3-3-0
An analysis of the Canadian political process. This course will examine the social and economic environment of Canadian politics, political culture and socialization, political participation, voting behaviour, political parties and interest groups.

POL 118 Constitutional Law and Canadian Government 3-3-0
An analysis of the impact of leading constitutional decisions on the structure of Canadian government.

POL 213 Canadian Sport System and Policy 3-3-0
This course examines the key sport policy and governance issues in Canada. Students will develop an understanding of the bodies and organizations that guide the delivery and regulation of sport, and the resulting multilevel policy system that integrates the public, private, and not-for-profit sectors. They will also develop an understanding of policy analysis and sport governance models.

POL 214 Public Administration 3-3-0
An introduction to the theory and practice of public administration in Canada. The structure of the public service, organization theory and motivation theory, public planning and finance, public personnel administration, the growth of administrative discretion and administrative responsibility will be studied.
Prerequisite: One POL 100-level course or permission of instructor

POL 216 Canadian Provincial and Territorial Politics 3-3-0
A comparative analysis of contemporary trends in provincial and territorial politics, with special emphasis on Quebec. The structures and processes of provincial and territorial policy making will be examined. Topics include regional political development, provincial and territorial political cultures, Indigenous-provincial-territorial intergovernmental relations, and policy development in such areas as health, education, language and resource development.
Prerequisite: POL 112, or permission of instructor

POL 246 The Politics of Gender and Sexuality 3-3-0
A theoretical and empirical study of the relationships among gender, sexuality, and politics in Western democracies, with a special emphasis on Canada. Drawing upon feminist, queer, and intersectional theories, the course explores such issues as reproductive rights, LGBTQ politics, trans* rights movements, sex work, political masculinity, and the representation of women in politics.

POL 249 Canadian Foreign Policy 3-3-0
An analysis of the development of Canadian foreign policy and defense policy. Canada’s relations with the Superpowers, the European Union and the Third World will be studied. Topics will include Canada’s role in the U.N. and N.A.T.O., Canada’s antinuclear diplomacy, and Canada’s domestic interests in relation to energy, the Law of the Sea and aerospace law.
Prerequisite: POL 140, or permission of instructor

POL 312 Federalism in Canada 3-3-0
Federalism is an essential yet often misunderstood element of Canadian politics. This course will examine the meaning and purpose of federalism and consider the historical evolution of Canadian federalism, alongside its key institutional features. It will subsequently address the topics of constitutional design, national unity, and the place of Quebec within Canada’s federal framework as well as how major policy issues are shaped by Canada’s division of powers. Finally, the course will move beyond federal-provincial relations to examine how federalism affects gender politics, Canada’s indigenous peoples, and the governance of large urban areas.
Prerequisite: POL 112

POL 315 Indigenous-Settler Intergovernmental Relations 3-3-0
This course examines contemporary intergovernmental relations between Indigenous and settler governments in Canada. The course emphasizes political science approaches to Indigenous-settler relations that are grounded in postcolonial, settler colonial, and institutional theory. Topics include treaty federalism; the incorporation of indigenous political and legal orders within Canadian constitutionalism; the political and administrative development of Indigenous government; and federal/provincial/territorial policy relationships with Indigenous peoples. State-based responses to reconciliation are explored. Contemporary developments in Yukon, the Northwest Territories, and Nunavut are highlighted.
Prerequisite: POL 112

POL 317 Canadian Welfare State 3-3-0
The course will focus on the 20th century development and expansion of the Canadian welfare state, as well as the subsequent global period of welfare state retrenchment, or scaling back of the welfare state. More recently, increased socioeconomic inequality, changing labour market patterns such as the gig economy, and questions surrounding social solidarity amidst growing ethnocultural diversity have placed pressures on existing social policy arrangements. In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic has led some to question long-held assumptions about welfare state politics. This course will consider how such challenges are affecting the Canadian welfare state, with frequent comparisons to other advanced democracies.

POL 318 Elections, Parties and Voters in Canada 3-3-0
This course examines some of the defining features of Canadian democracy: elections, parties and voters. It focuses on Canada’s electoral system, election campaigns, the structure, function and role of parties, and factors which influence the preferences of voters.
Prerequisite: POL 112

POL 233 / PHI 324 The Philosophy and Politics of Karl Marx 3-3-0
A study of the philosophy and political theory of Karl Marx, with emphasis on Marx’s theory of society, political economy and history. The course will consider a variety of Marx’s texts, but focus on Capital, Volume 1.

POL 325 / PHI 366 Topics in Critical Theory 3-3-0
This seminar course will explore the development of Critical Theory from its roots in dialectical philosophy (especially Hegel and Marx), to its appropriation of psychoanalysis (especially Freud), to its engagement with contemporary politics, society and art. Authors studied may include Walter Benjamin, Theodor Adorno, Max Horkheimer and Herbert Marcuse.
Prerequisite: POL 228 or POL 229, or one course in Philosophy.
A critical examination of the nature and role of ideologies in contemporary politics. Conservatism, liberalism, socialism, communism, fascism and other relevant ideologies in theory and practice will be covered.

POL 217 Business and Government

This course examines the multifaceted relationships between business and government. It focuses on the ways that business seeks to engage with public policy and governance, as well as the role of governments in supporting business interests, both historically and in contemporary politics. It also examines the ways business advocacy has adapted to changing government structures and the global economy and looks at the response of business to challenges faced in the public policy process.

POL 230 The Politics of Sport

This course examines the various intersections of politics and sport at the domestic and international levels. Some topics include the role of the state in regulating sport, the use of sport in promoting national identity and other political agendas, the politics of international sporting events and the potential of 'sport and development' as a tool for social change.

POL 231 European Union: History, Institutions and Policies

A study of the history, operation, and policies of the European Union (EU). The first part of the course examines the history of the EU, the second part looks at its institutions, and the final part explores EU policy making processes and several different policy areas.

POL 232 Politics in Asia

This course will examine one or more Asian countries, such as China, India or Japan. It will focus on the character of domestic political institutions, processes, and culture in the context of a changing international environment.

POL 233 Politics of the Iberian Peninsula

An analysis of the structures and processes of governance in Spain and Portugal, including their relationships with each other, the European Union, and international organizations.

POL 234 Politics of Africa

Students are exposed to the approaches of political anthropology in the examination of ancient kingdoms, tribal societies, traditional cultures and the development of contemporary nations in Africa. Present political structures and processes are examined within the framework of Third World politics.

POL 236 / RSC 234 Introduction to Middle Eastern Politics

The course will focus on the forces that have shaped current Middle Eastern politics: particularly the growing influence of Islam and Islamic fundamentalism on political life and thought; the enduring legacies of westernization, colonialism and secular nationalism; and the Arab-Israeli conflict. Arriving at an understanding of Middle Eastern politics in this course will also entail study of the challenges of modernizing states, parties and leaders are confronting today, and the profound impact of Western interests and policies on the region.

POL 237 Politics of Japan

An analysis of the structures and processes of Japanese governance, including an analysis of Japan's global relations.

POL 239 Politics of Russia & Eastern Europe

A study of the formation, development and the breakup of the USSR, as well as an examination of politics, society, economy and public policies of Russia and Ukraine.

POL 246 The Politics of Gender and Sexuality

A theoretical and empirical study of the relationships among gender, sexuality, and politics in Western democracies, with a special emphasis on Canada. Drawing upon feminist, queer, and intersectional theories, the course explores such issues as reproductive rights, LGBTIQ politics, trans rights movements, sex work, political masculinity, and the representation of women in politics.

POL 301 Contemporary Political Ideologies

An advanced study of the European integration process from a political science / political economy point of view. The relationships between Europeanization, internationalization and globalization of public policies in Europe will be examined.

Prerequisite: POL 231

POL 331 Canada-EU Relations

This course examines the political relationship between Canada and the European Union (EU) and its forerunners. Particular attention will be devoted to exploring theories and practices of transatlantic policy learning between Canada and the EU.

Prerequisite: POL 231

POL 361 Techniques of Quantitative Research 3-3-0
An introduction to empirical political research: the formulation of research problems, the selection of samples, interviewing, questionnaire construction, analysis and interpretation of data.
VI: Honours Thesis, Independent Studies, Practicum and Internships

POL 259 Topics in Politics and International Studies 3-3-0
The United States and Canada share many political similarities, but one important difference is how elections are conducted in the two countries. This course will focus on public engagement in electoral politics, how elected representatives are chosen, and the institutional incentives that constrain politicians once in office. While voters in both countries are increasingly skeptical towards politicians and the electoral process, elections remain an indispensable mechanism for selecting who governs and ensuring political accountability. By comparing the two countries, broader insights can be drawn about the capacity of each system to improve its responsiveness and inclusiveness in the context of representative democracy.

POL 300 International Studies Internship 3-3-0
Student must apply, in writing, to the Department to take a Department-sponsored or student arranged internship abroad for credit. A faculty member will be appointed to oversee the internship and to supervise the written component.
