Program Overview

The Department of Sociology provides students with theoretical and methodological tools and substantive insights which can assist them in understanding social life, social organization, and action. The program is designed to provide students with a broad intellectual and sociological background which will help prepare them for a variety of careers and for advanced study at graduate school. The small size of our program and the dedication of our faculty allow us to provide personal attention to students and access to faculty. Through required courses and a study concentration option, students are given substantial flexibility in meeting individual intellectual pursuits and preparation for satisfying employment after university. We offer a minor, major, or honours in Sociology as well as a concentration in Criminology, Law and Social Policy (see below). Students are encouraged to participate in the Experiential Learning program which is linked to their academic field of studies and involves course work and placement in an organization.

The subject matter of our courses ranges widely from theoretical to applied study and our professors employ diverse pedagogies to facilitate student learning. The department has particular strengths of faculty expertise in the areas of Indigenous-Settler relations, criminology, theory, policy, health and family, digital communication technology, and gender and diversity studies.

Careers in Sociology

Recent graduates of the program have embarked on many careers including: education; media, communications, public relations and journalism; policing and corrections; health, human and social services; a wide variety of careers in both the private and public sector, management and business; graduate degrees in Sociology, and related disciplines and in law and other professional schools. To view a more comprehensive list of career options and for more information, please consult Sociology Department's website.

Sociology Program Guidelines

All Majors and Honours in Sociology (with or without concentration) must complete the lab course ILT 104: Information retrieval and Evaluation Skills for the Social Sciences.

The Major in Sociology (with or without concentration): all new students enter the department with a major in Sociology and are encouraged to take a concentration or a second Major or minor(s) from other departments.

Majors and Honours in Sociology should complete the six required courses in their first two years and the 7th course at the 300 level in their third year. Majors seriously considering graduate school should complete an Honours in Sociology.

During the first year, students should complete SOC 101 and SOC 100 in the Fall term, during the Winter term of the first year, students should complete SOC 102 and SOC 110. SOC 211 and SOC 221 will be taken in the Fall term of their second year. SOC 222 will be taken in winter of the second year.

The remaining 27 credits of the Major are electives and may be chosen from any SOC course listed. The student may request up to 6 credits from other disciplines be considered (by the Chair) for cognate credit in the Major or Honours in Sociology. Any student who wishes exemption from a requirement should submit a request and relevant documentation (course outlines) to the Department Chair and the professor of the course before registration is completed. The Sociology Department may offer Spring/Summer courses online upon Departmental approval.

Sociology Honours

The Honours in Sociology

In the final year of the Honours Program (Year 3 or 4, whichever is last), students are required to complete SOC 402 (Honours I: Special Topics) and SOC 404 (Honours II: Research Strategies). The Thesis is optional (6 credits and done in the final year of Honours). The Department reserves the right to review the overall academic performance and integrity of students in its programs. Students wishing to graduate with an Honours degree combined with a concentration should consult the previous concentration section for additional requirements.

Sociology Major with a Concentration

The major in Sociology with the Criminology Law Social Policy concentration consists of 48 credits, plus ILT 104.

Elective courses the concentration and for the Gender, Diversity, Equity Studies Minor are often offered on a rotation rather than every year so you are advised to watch for them in the timetable and register for them when they are available.

Criminology Minor

We offer a number of courses germane to the pursuit of a degree in criminology. Many criminology programs originated in, and take for granted, sociological research, theories and methods. Students seriously considering graduate studies in Criminology should complete the Honours Concentration in Criminology, Law and Social Policy. Students consult with the Department Chair and Calendar course descriptions to assure completion of program outlined below. No limitation on cross-counting of courses between this and other programs is in effect.

Gender, Diversity & Equity Studies Minor

This minor consists of a minimum of 24 credits (see course list from Gender, Diversity & Equity Concentration). WOM 101 is required.

List of Courses

- SOC 100 Sociological Imagination 3-3-0
The primary objective of this course is to stimulate curiosity about that part of people's behaviour that is determined by relationships with others and by membership in groups. This course examines and evaluates the contribution sociology makes to the ongoing process of attempting to understand the surrounding social world. This course is intended for students who are either lacking introductory sociology or need to improve their effective writing skills in the discipline.
- SOC 101 Introduction to Sociology 3-3-0
This course introduces the foundations of sociology by examining numerous theoretical and empirical issues/debates. Special emphasis will be placed on understanding "the social" or "society" as a distinct and unique object of scientific analysis. Students are also encouraged to use sociological understandings to "make sense" of their personal lives.
- HIS 102 / SOC 102 Québec Society I 3-3-0
How did Quebec society reach its present state? Topics include the French-Indigenous relationship, religion, the evolution of a market-oriented economy, conflicts between French and English Canada, Quebec's international relations, and successive waves of industrialization and urbanization. The course will also deal with cultural development and the emergence of multiple social identities including nationalism(s) in Quebec, language politics, inter-culturalism and feminism.
This course is required of all Sociology Minors, Majors, and Honours students.
- SOC 105 Media and Society I 3-3-0
An introduction to the impact of media upon society and the social structuring of contemporary media as industries which produce values and ideology.
- SOC 107 Indigenous and First Nations Peoples in Canada 3-3-0
An introduction to the study of First Nations in Canada.
- SOC 110 Research Methodology 3-3-0
Sociological research will be dealt with in its quantitative and qualitative orientations. Students will be introduced to techniques of conceptualization, hypothesis formulation, and operationalization.
This course is required of all Sociology Majors and Honours students.
- SOC 129 Sociology of Gender and Society 3-3-0
This course critically examines the ways gender informs the social world in which we live. It explores how we experience gender in the world around us; considers how we develop our gendered identities; explores the workings of the institutions that shape our gendered lives, and leads to an understanding the relationship between gender and the social structure.
- SOC 190 Introduction to Postcolonial Study 3-3-0
An introduction to postcolonial theory and sociological issues arising from the cultural and economic conditions left behind by colonizers and the colonized. By looking at events in countries such as India, Nigeria, the Congo and other former colonies we come to understand the challenge of developing theoretical perspectives which grasp the complex influences of colonizer and colonized upon each other.
- SOC 202 Directed Independent Study I 3-3-0
A tutorial course in which the student (normally a major) may pursue his or her interests in a selected area of sociology, under the direction of a member of the Department.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and the Department
- SOC 203 Directed Independent Study II 3-3-0
See SOC 202
Permission of the instructor and the Department
- SOC 204 Experiential Learning in Sociology I 3-3-0
The course integrates a sociology student's research interests with the opportunity to participate with and explore a community organization or other coordinated social phenomena. A required component is a minimum 30 hours of active participation. A substantive written analysis based partially on the student's participatory research experience, and partially upon a study of the relevant literature is also required. It is up to the student to get agreement from the appropriate organization representative(s) for participation in the course and to recruit a professor to be their instructor.

- SOC 205 Family I 3-3-0
Changing forms and functions of the family in Western society; growth and decline of the symmetrical family, definitions, theories, marital and sexual roles, and child rearing.
- SOC 207 Sociology of Indigenous / Re-settler Relations 3-3-0
The course examines the sociology of strategies of assimilation and the forms of resistance to these strategies in North America.
- SOC 208 Criminology 3-3-0
A survey of theories of crime and criminality in relation to class, race and gender. Substantive issues will include murder, prostitution, legal and illegal drug use, woman abuse, white collar crime, and organized crime.
- SOC 209 Youth Justice 3-3-0
This course provides an introduction to the youth justice system. It examines the evolution and impact of youth justice philosophy and legislation in Canada and the experience of youth at various stages within the system.
- SOC 211 Quantitative Methodology and Research Design in the Social Sciences 3-3-0
This is an introductory course to quantitative data analysis. The course covers the principles of research design and statistical analyses frequently used in the social sciences. This is an important preparatory course for more advanced courses in quantitative methods.
Prerequisite: SOC 110
- SOC 214 Aging 3-3-0
Aging and the life course perspective. Sociological theories on aging in relation to gender, class, and ethnicity.
- SOC 219 Sociology of the Body 3-3-0
Notions of the body as the cultural representation of our contemporary "embodied" selves will be explored. This course will uncover the strategies of social, political and economic forces as theses problematize the body and seek to control, manipulate, and alter behaviour.
- SOC 221 Modern Sociological Theory I 3-3-0
An introduction to the nature and purpose of sociological theory. Students will learn the foundations of theory (ontology, epistemology, methodology) and social theory's historical development before examining the work of Emile Durkheim.
Prerequisite: SOC 101
- SOC 222 Modern Sociological Theory II 3-3-0
Building from the ideas established in SOC 221, this course pursues an extensive analysis and critical evaluation of Karl Marx and Max Weber's respective work.
Prerequisite: SOC 221 or permission of the instructor
- SOC 223 Women and Global Inequalities 3-3-0
This course considers the social location of cis and trans women within political economy and globalization. Understanding women's diverse lives required attention to public, private and geographic locations.
- SOC 225 Québec Society II 3-3-0
Selected topics for analysis of the values, ideologies, behaviour patterns and material culture of Québec society. The course critically examines Québec society during modernity and early post-modernity and draws heavily on artistic and cultural representations (painting, sculpture, literature, etc.)
It is recommended that students take SOC 102 or SOC 101 prior to this
- SOC 229 Masculinities 3-3-0
This course examines both dominant and variant interpretations of gender with an emphasis on the narratives and proscriptions of masculinity. We consider how proscribed definitions of masculinity impact institutional structures, personal lives, safety, relationships, health and professional opportunities.
- SOC 230 Deviance I 3-3-0
Definitions of deviant behaviour, social roles of deviants and the structure of control.
- SOC 232 Sociology of Criminal Justice 3-3-0
An overview of the criminal justice system from initial contact with the police through to arrest, prosecution, disposition, incarceration, and release to the community. Emphasis is on the role of the police, prosecution, courts, and corrections with a consideration of moving towards alternative approaches to justice.
