For the Class of 2021, the final semesters of your academic career have not been what you imagined. It would be an understatement to say that this has been a unique and challenging year.

I want to express my admiration for the resiliency, determination and positive spirit that you have demonstrated in this difficult and unprecedented time.

You all adapted to different ways of learning as you completed your studies at least partially online.

I would also like to recognize your commitment to keeping one another safe as we navigated these uncharted waters together.

And I would like to thank you for the support and encouragement you have shown to each other during this turbulent year.

The pandemic has affected all of us. But it will not define us, and it will not define your time at Bishop’s.

You have found ways to remain connected and to keep alive the spirit of what it means to be a member of the Bishop’s community.

While much of Bishop’s endures over time, it is also true that each generation of students reinvents the university. The Class of 2021 has contributed to Bishop’s being an intellectually vibrant, ambitious and caring community.

You embraced and embodied Bishop’s values of integrity, curiosity, ambition, courage, self-discipline, and community engagement, ensuring that these values will be passed on to the students who follow you.

I am confident that you leave Bishop’s equipped with the knowledge, skills and determination to make the better world you believe in.

The pages of this yearbook are filled with many of the memories that you and your classmates created along the way to graduation. They represent not the end, but important steps on a great journey.

In five, ten or fifty years’ time, I hope that you will look back upon the path you have taken, both personally and professionally, and remember with fondness the time you spent at Bishop’s as a period of personal growth, intellectual discovery and enduring friendships.

I wish you success and happiness in your post-Bishop’s journeys.
EDITORS’ NOTES

CASEY HEBERT, Class of 2021

When discussing the direction we wanted to take for the yearbook, it was hard not to acknowledge that Sophia and I were at bookends of the Bishop’s experience; she was starting her first year and I was embarking on my last. With that in mind, we wanted this yearbook to represent the full spectrum of time spent at Bishop’s, from move in day and O-Week to Grad Formal and everything in between.

Our respective experiences of the COVID-19 pandemic on our time at Bishop’s also coloured our representations of the year. Sophia has never known Bishop’s any other way, whereas I was able to have a more traditional Bishop’s experience leading up to March 2020. We wanted to approach the year from both perspectives, highlighting the year as it was as well as how it differed from previous years. I am proud of the account we have made of this uncommon experience we all shared, and hope you will find joy in looking over the year despite the challenges it brought on.

SOPHIA STACEY, Class of 2024

Although one might assume that creating a yearbook to commemorate the academic and social events of the year amidst a pandemic is rather counterintuitive, it has proved quite contrary. The pandemic forced many traditions to be foregone this year, thus every student from first-years like myself, to graduates like Casey, lived the Bishop’s experience in a way that had never been done before. Despite the many activities and events that Bishop’s did without, you will still find yourself reminiscing with sentiments of both nostalgia and gratitude as you flip through these pages. This yearbook is intended not only to acknowledge the traditions that were missed, but to reflect all the ways in which the Bishop’s community compensated, creating a year that is not remembered by what was missed, but a year that is remembered by inventiveness, creativity, gratitude, and unwavering purple pride.
ENZO EVANGELISTI
SRC PRESIDENT

Dear Gaiters,

I won’t lie and say this was the year I had hoped for. The pandemic has taken away a lot of the experiences we were looking forward to having during our time at Bishop’s. But even as we faced one of the most challenging experiences of our time, we rose to the occasion.

Over the last year, despite the ever-changing rules and regulations and the uncertainty that every opportunity presented, we tackled it head on. We have demonstrated what it truly means to bleed purple.

For those of you who were new to Bishop’s this year, you started your journey with hope. Before coming to BU, you saw pictures of football games with waves of purple in the stands, concerts with friends shoulder to shoulder, and classrooms filled with peers sharing ideas. Your hope for us sparked hope in us. As you return for the rest of your journey, my hope is that you get to fully live the BU experience the way so many before you have.

For those of you who have experienced the before, the during, and soon, the after, you have demonstrated the resilience of our community. As you continue your journey at Bishop’s, you are now tasked with keeping our purple spirit alive.

For those of you who are graduating, this is not what you thought your final year would look like. But you, like graduating classes before, have left your purple mark. It may not feel this way right now, but based on what I’ve seen, you have everything it takes to succeed. Now go show the world what it means to bleed purple.

It has been a privilege serving you,
Your SRC President,
Enzo Evangelisti

IZZY AUDET
VICE PRESIDENT STUDENT LIFE

Hi, my friends!

This year has marked us all incredibly, perhaps as a year that has challenged us mentally, emotionally, socially and physically. But it is not a year without connection, drive towards addressing issues requiring unison, compassion, and mutual support. The drive within the student community has been unforgettable.

Together, we managed to connect and deliver the 2nd Annual Leucan Headshave with the brave Gaiters Athletes, the Pride Alliance, and beyond, amassing over $5000 for childhood cancer. Incredibly powerful student voices came together to organize the very first Active Anti-Racism Workshop to be delivered to all incoming students during O-Week. Immense thanks go to Alicia, Shawna, Sabrina, Filder, Natalia, Sufia, and Wilton for instilling this precedent at our Uni. In response to identified needs among Extracurricular Groups, we restructured and introduced BUSRC Extra. Students banded together to put together for the first time Free Exam Care Packs provided to any and all who needed one, in collaboration with various stakeholders of the university (Jack.org, SRC, Residence Life, Student Services), and executed an incredibly wholesome feat. Food was introduced at the Gait! BUUnited was implemented and elegantly introduced by passionate students, along with the establishment of the Community Cupboard. The Students’ Associations and Representatives connected to provide feedback for and to create the Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Committee, leading to the conception of our first Culture Week. And students continued to take matters into their own hands in creating the Sexual Culture Committee, bringing together voices and assessing student need through perspectives, including Take Back the Night, Sexual Assault Support and Healing Group, Indigenous Cultural Alliance, BU Pride Alliance, SRC, and to create movement and bringing about substantial change with the university.

This year was tough in terms of living and functioning through a pandemic, but students stepped up to the plate and showed incredible endurance, matching with strong response. There have been innumerable movements for social change and collective support, and it has been such an immense honour and blessing to work among such a passionate and driven student community. Cheers!
GEORGES-PHILIPPE GADOURY-SANSFAÇON
VICE PRESIDENT ACADEMIC

Dear Gaiters,

Everyone is going to say that, but I can’t believe it’s already been a year. And what a strange year. When I ran for VP Acad in February 2020, I never imagined that’s what my mandate would look like – but I am happy that I was able to fight and advocate for you in a year when it’s more crucial than ever to be compassionate and understanding in everything we do. I learned so much. I hardly have the words to describe how proud of all the student body I am, simply for getting through the year. What incredible resilience. You have all the reasons to be proud of yourselves, no matter the grades or the involvement. As part of the graduating class, I can’t help but wonder what our class is leaving behind after such a year. This year, more than ever, we understood that the Bishop’s experience is about connection, about belonging. We missed that connection, we tried getting it back in alternate ways. Sometimes it worked, sometimes it didn’t. I truly believe that this piece is central to our legacy: we have shown the world, and ourselves, that we are able to lead the way, to innovate no matter the circumstances, and that we understand that mistakes are part of the journey. We embrace those mistakes and fail forward, until we reach out goals. I am certain each and every one of us has what it takes to make the best out of whatever we face in the future – this class has shown me that there is hope for this future, for our future. Thank you for that. It has been an honour, fellow Gaiters.

Take good, good care.

I never thought I would go anywhere near student government when I first started university. At CEGEP, I never really felt or saw their presence, and therefore unfairly just assumed it was another student job that was more of a title than anything. At Bishop’s, I very quickly began to see the impact and appeal that student government could have. From countless amazing events to very reliable student support, I surprised myself by suddenly thinking I should apply for a position within the SRC, and perhaps surprised myself more by finding myself elected. From then on out, it has been an amazing experience. Not only have I been able to see the inner workings of the school, I have a whole new perspective on events and classes and day-to-day operations that I may never have known if I did not get into this position. Although at times challenging, especially this year, the experience from this job is one of the rewards I would reap the most. I absolutely love this school, and like almost anyone else here wishes to “never graduate” and stay here forevermore. While I know this is impossible, I am more than grateful for my time here as both a student and an SRC Executive, and once more surprise myself when I say that I honestly think everyone interested and willing to put the effort should at least seriously consider running for an SRC position. Bishop’s, to many people, myself included, has given so much. From amazing experiences to lifelong friends and memories, it is only right that we should help make it the best it can be. I am sad to graduate, but very grateful and happy of what I have been a part of and done here during my time at Bishop’s University, and I cannot wait to come back as an alumnus and see how much more it has grown.

CEDRIK MOORE
VICE PRESIDENT EXTERNAL AFFAIRS
Hi all! My name is Bernard Duchesne and I was this year’s Director of Finance for the SRC. I wanted first to thank the Board of Student Representatives, my coworkers, all those that worked with the SRC and the student body as a whole for this experience!

This year was quite different from my expectations for my last year here at Bishop’s, as it probably was for many others. The online classes, the absence of the popular events happening on campus, and all the restrictions were very difficult and it took a long time to adapt to these circumstances. However, this is not what I will remember from this year. I will remember that by working together, we were able to keep the BU experience alive, and that the pandemic couldn’t stop us.

We were able to make significant changes to address this year’s circumstances but also later down the line. Even if it was for a short time, we introduced food in our campus bar the Gait, we made much needed changes that will make it better than ever and will have a new patio for our students returning in 2021-22! I was able to work with clubs and help with many new and creative initiatives that kept the BU spirit strong. We grew the online Gait and were able to offer our usual trivia, jeopardy, and other activities at your houses, and even started providing our clubs with affordable clothing and merchandise.

Despite the hardships, I believe this year was a success and that, as a community, we accomplished a lot! We were forced to think outside the box and created new opportunities, which will hopefully set a precedent and encourage all the Gaiters around to have an impact and leave their mark!

I will be visiting BU again, and hope that I’ll see you all at Convocation and Homecoming, wearing purple and ready to raise a toast! Cheers, Bernard Duchesne

Bye Bish!

Hard to say if this year has felt like the shortest or longest one yet but it was definitely anything but what I expected! Being able to participate in so many initiatives and events has been such an enriching experience that will stay with me far beyond Bishop’s. Above this, the amount of great people I’ve had the pleasure to meet and work with both in person and virtually was really a gift.

Despite my short time at BU, I was given the opportunity to be a part of so many experiences that have contributed more to me as a person than I can say. My time at the SRC started only a month after I came to Lennoxville for the first time so it’s easy to say that it has really shaped my Bishop’s experience and I’m beyond grateful for the direction it’s given to my time beyond BU.

Hope to see more of everyone off the screen soon and raise a toast!
Hello Bishop’s Gaiters!

What a wild time we have had this year! I’m so happy I was given the opportunity to be your Director of Events and work to bring as much joy, and free bundles, as possible to our community. I am forever grateful for the amazing students I have been able to work with throughout my time at Bishop’s. It truly is only when people collaborate and start sharing their ideas that some of the best most creative solutions come to life. A heartfelt thanks to all those who volunteered during O-Week to make it the only in-person Orientation Week in Canada possible. Another huge thanks to every single SRC representative that helped ensure that each project reflected the diversity of our campus. Finally, thank you to all of the Execs that have worked tirelessly all year.

To all the Gaiters that have made this year possible, fun, and kept the essence of Bishop’s alive, thank you so much for Being U!

A NEW SRC INITIATIVE

Given the circumstances this year, the SRC had to find innovative ways to provide for students in accordance with the COVID-19 regulations. With most events put on hold or moved to virtual platforms, it was crucial make students feel connected to each other and to Bishop’s despite being physically distant. That’s where the SRC’s bundles came in! Instead of hosting events for students to attend, the SRC provided everyone with the means to throw their own small and safe gatherings to mark special events. Whether it was Thanksgiving, Winterfest, exam season, Culture Week, or anything in between, the SRC had a different bundle ready for every occasion and gave students all the tools necessary to make the most of the year.
One of the most welcome arrivals at Bishop's this year was the new BUnited Peer Support Centre and the team of students that comprised it. This devoted group saw to the welfare of all their fellow Bishop's University community members through a variety of initiatives and events hosted on campus in what used to be the International Centre behind the Student Union Building. There, not only could students take advantage of organized social events, they could also benefit from one-on-one confidential support from the trained BUnited team.

All students can take advantage of Peer Support Centre initiatives, whether on campus, in town, or further afield; the group’s Wellness Wednesday talks are all broadcast on and subsequently shared to their Instagram page for any student who couldn’t make it, and events are generally hosted both in person and virtually via Microsoft Teams.

The BUnited Peer Support Centre is certainly a welcome addition to life at Bishop’s. On these pages, you will find highlights of their first year.

With the advent of the Peer Support Centre came the installation of the Community Cupboard, a free resource students in need could turn to for basic necessities like food or cleaning and hygiene supplies.

WHAT DOES BEING A PEER SUPPORTER MEAN TO YOU?
It means being able to make a difference in people’s lives and making amazing friendships with both co-workers and visitors!
- Elizabeth McBain

Another great addition offered by the BUnited team is the “Wellness Wednesdays” series. Every Wednesday, a new topic was broached by the team, who often invited a special guest with expert knowledge to provide insight. The informational sessions were hosted live and shared on social media for students who could not attend in person. Past events have focused on mental health, self-care, and specific training that helps make the BU community safer for all.
The BUUnited team keeps a busy schedule! Every Thursday night, they host events for students including video game nights, pumpkin painting, colouring parties, and everything in between! While these events go on, they offer one-on-one counselling for any student in need of guidance or someone to talk to.

The BUUnited team is made up of students Patricia Aubin, Colton Bennett, Amie Godward, and Elizabeth McBain under the supervision of Jordi Hepburn and Theresa Gagnon. Together, they organize and oversee events, and are trained to give students support.

WHAT DOES BEING A PEER SUPPORTER MEAN TO YOU?

It means I can be there for someone who needs the company or just needs to talk. I can potentially be making a positive difference for someone who needs it! It means so much knowing our team puts in so much effort every week to ensure students at Bishop’s know our centre is open to all!

For nearly every student starting their Bishop's journey, Orientation Week is a rite of passage that begins from the very moment of arrival on campus. However, despite tradition and a theme pointing to the past, the welcome for this year’s incoming students was like nothing we’ve ever seen at Bishop’s before! When COVID-19 regulations threatened to put a damper on the O-Week fun, a dedicated team stepped in to ensure this year’s welcome for new students would be just as social and activity-packed as ever. Creative innovations like team bubbles, swapping out Frosh Houses in favour of events exclusively on-campus, virtual events, and challenges promoting social distancing guaranteed everyone a safe and gratifying O-Week.
Some never before seen O-Week activities included speed dating, a Coney Island activity course, archery, and outdoor bars set up on campus. Classic favourites were also adapted to COVID regulations to ensure no Bishop’s student miss out on any of the fun. Field Day, Principal Goldbloom’s serenade, Opening and Closing Ceremonies, and other activities all managed to carry on despite changes.
The Homecoming tradition at Bishop’s usually includes several sports games and a tailgate in the parking lot, which we unfortunately couldn’t host this year...
Despite games and festivities being cancelled, we were able to enjoy good weather and lax COVID restrictions for this HoCo weekend!

Although no alumni could join us on campus this year, the Alumni Association organized a giveaway contest for the chance to win BU branded gear and a stay at Manoir Hovey!
With the precarity of the yellow, orange, and red COVID-19 alert zones, travel has been strongly discouraged over the course of the year, and Thanksgiving was no exception. To limit the spread of the virus, students were urged to stay in Lennoxville for Thanksgiving to keep themselves, their families, and their community safe. Recognizing the difficulty of their request, Bishop’s put together a number of events and initiatives to encourage students to stay in town and make their sacrifice worthwhile. For instance, the SRC provided students with free Thanksgiving food baskets financed by donors filled with Thanksgiving must-haves like poultry, butternut squash, and pumpkin pie! Though this year’s Thanksgiving may have been different from usual, it was certainly just as fun as always!

Students took it upon themselves to celebrate Thanksgiving with their found families right here in Lennoxville. The food baskets provided by the SRC paired with their culinary skills allowed them to prepare their own meals and enjoy the day together.
The SRC organized several events over the long weekend to make sticking around Lennoxville worthwhile. Nightly trivia, daily workout sessions, and study halls all came together to breathe some life into the weekend. In addition, a trip to the Foresta Lumina trail in Coaticook was coordinated by the Outdoors Club. The SRC also encouraged students to take advantage of their weekend by making a trip to one of the many hiking trails near campus, which they compiled into a list. And if that wasn’t enough, the SRC additionally promoted the Old Lennoxville Golf Club, which offers discounts to students at BU, and festive pumpkin picking at Verger la Pommalbonne. This slew of activities certainly made for a spirited Thanksgiving celebration, even away from home and family traditions!
Lucky for us all, Halloweekend made it through the COVID-19 pandemic relatively unscathed! The COVID alert zones had not yet swept the Eastern Townships into red-level restrictions, so students were free to enjoy the night in close company. They could host small groups of friends at their homes, dressed in costume and celebrating in spirit! The Gait remained open as a next stop, though the capacity was reduced compared to previous years, and the BUnited Peer Support Centre hosted a Halloween movie marathon for those interested in something more low-key. Despite certainly being different from what we have been used to in past years, there were dozens of opportunities for students to make the most of the extra-long Halloween, landing on the change to Daylight Savings Hours.
EEKEND

Bishop's University's take on trick-or-treating!
Students came together in solidarity of sexual violence survivors. Armed with signs and candles, they spoke out against the culture of sexual assault and harassment on campus.
Take Back the Night 2020 was a night like no other! Even between the COVID-19 restrictions and lack of students on campus, TBTN managed to innovate a new Stay at Home March to light up Lennoxville with sound. This year, we marched to empower the voices of people affected by sexual violence in the Bishop’s community, and to demand change in the university’s system and culture. The first event held was a forum in Cleghorn and over Zoom. Here, we identified the problem areas and most important issues that students deal with today. This included discussions participants from the safety of their homes. The event was live-streamed and chants were led by team members scattered throughout Lennoxville’s core housing hubs. Between chants, speeches were made by Anika Malone, Scotia Sharpe, Geneve Juneau, and Kailey Karahkwinehtha Nicholas. For the week following the stay at home march, posters were seen hanging in windows and off balconies throughout Lennoxville in support of the movement.

- Anika Malone and Scotia Sharpe
The SRC put together Winterfest celebration kits so students could celebrate safely from home while still sticking to the Winterfest spirit! Bundles included Winterfest gear like posters, stickers, and playing cards, as well as items from Red Bull, a disc sled, colourful masks, and $20 to spend at Doolittle’s Co-op! A contest was organized to guarantee students a Winterfest bundle before they ran out. Bundles were given free of charge and helped ensure a fun time!
Saint Paddy's gets the green light!

Saint Patrick’s Day at Bishop’s University is usually celebrated by throngs of students huddled tightly on Reed Street, all donning their greenest apparel. With this year’s restrictions, we unfortunately had to pass on the Reed Street party we were used to, but that didn’t stop anyone from having a good time! Students took it upon themselves to host their own little shindigs in celebration. Just as green as ever, St. Paddy’s was celebrated on lawns, in parking lots, and on porches around Lennoxville.
GRACE VILLAGE
This year’s charity
We are very excited to partner with this amazing non-profit organization that takes care of those most at risk in our community to COVID-19. This pandemic has affected many people, but those that we have chosen to support have been hit the hardest with illness and isolation.

This year, we raised funds for the cost of care for the elderly that live at Grace Village as many of them cannot afford it.

As students, it is important to remember the generations behind us to have appreciation for the future ahead of us. Our beloved Bishop’s University community was founded by those who walked before us, and our impact will go on to impact those after us.

Our shift into the red zone meant that the Gait had to shut its doors in late November. For the rest of the year, they hosted virtual trivia and bingo nights for the chance to win amazing prizes and to keep spirits up! Every Thursday and Saturday night, students could log online and partake in a very different kind of Gait Night.

The Gait was still able to operate for most of the Fall semester, although regulars would have found it very different from previous years! To abide by COVID-19 regulations, the Gait saw its capacity drastically reduced. In addition, students had to reserve seats before coming and wear masks when not seated at their tables. The bar was off-limits, so students had to place orders with the Gait's staff who would then bring drinks to the table. Students couldn't go hit the dance floor (even when "Mr. Brightside" started playing!) to reduce the risk of spreading COVID. Despite all of these changes, the Gait remained students' favourite watering hole, and the campus bar continued to host unforgettable nights for students to cherish!
Although favourite events like the Gait Gatsby, Two Years Eve, or Holiday themed nights weren’t able to go on, The Gait still hosted dozens of themed events that everyone enjoyed!

Tables could seat up to 10 students and masked mingling between tables was permitted, giving access to the social interaction we had so been missing!
Dewie’s had to change its operations as a result of the pandemic. Capacity was reduced to accommodate the need for social distancing, with tables and chairs placed much further apart than usual. Students could no longer serve themselves, needing Dewie’s employees to serve them instead to reduce the number of things they touched.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS QUARANTINE IN NOPO

Due to the mandatory two-week quarantine when returning to Canada from abroad, many international students were not able to return to their rooms in residence or off-campus apartments upon their arrival. Residence stepped in to offer up NoPo as a quarantine hotel. At a fee, students could complete their isolation there with meals delivered and gifts offered to help make the two weeks easier and more joyful!
Move-in day was more quiet than in past years, but the Residence Life team was still working hard as ever to make sure everyone had the best possible introduction to life at Bishop’s!

Residence Life this year was deeply affected by the coronavirus pandemic. The Norton and Pollack residences were closed altogether, except for students in quarantine, and all double rooms were reduced to singles to reduce the risk of infection. Students couldn’t mingle freely in residence as they have in the past, but "Family Units" were implemented to group students together and allow them to spend time in groups and socialize. Hosting other students in your room was forbidden, and RAs and Security made sure that rule was enforced. As the number of cases went up, the restrictions tightened, cutting the family units down to duos.

Even with stricter regulations, the Residence Life team did everything in their power to keep students busy and social, hosting in-person and online events alike, for instance using Centennial Hall as a movie theatre!

In the Winter semester, saliva pool testing ensured that students were safe and that any illness was caught early, reducing the spread of the virus.
Tree Planting

On Sept. 24, 2020, National Tree Day, a number of Bishop’s students came together to plant trees around campus and near the Peter Curry Conservation Area. Twenty semi-mature trees were planted by students from the BU Environmental club and Dr. Richardson’s Biology class. They were also joined by three alumni. The trees were donated through the Paule & Hugh Scott Beautification Fund.

BU Commerce Society

Though departmental wine and cheese events were cancelled this year, the BU Commerce Society nevertheless found a way to connect students and professors from the Williams School of Business through the Business mixer they put on in October, 2020. Hosted in the Gait with accommodations made for COVID-19 restrictions, students were able to socialize and network within their department. Professional-looking headshots were also taken for students to use in business settings.
Recognizing the constant need for blood for hospitals and healthcare purposes, the SRC teamed up with Héma Québec to host blood drives on campus in the Denver Gym. The men’s hockey team lent a hand at these blood drives so that everything would run smoothly.

Blood Drives

The university came under heat this year for its plans for the Indigenous centre on campus, Kwigw8mna. The outlined use of the centre did not devote sufficient space to the Indigenous students it was supposedly being built for. It has since taken a new direction with ICA approval.

Rubber Ducky Fundraiser

Though the Fashion Show was unable to go on due to the pandemic, the team of volunteers nevertheless succeeded in raising funds for their charity of choice. One of the ways they achieved this was through the Rubber Ducky Golf Tournament Fundraiser. Set up across Lennoxville were a number of golf targets for students to aim rubber duckies at. This event helped raise $2,400.
Events that were greatly missed...

The challenges we faced brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic meant that several traditional Bishop's events had to be put on hold for the year. For returning students, it was a shame to miss out on favourite events that make this time spent at Bishop's so memorable, although they were given the chance to make these events truly their own and carry the Bishop's spirit through makeshift parties and celebrations. For new students, this year was perhaps more tame than the rest of their time at Bishop's will be, so they have a lot to look forward to in their upper years!

Departmental Wine and Cheeses

It is traditional that every semester, each department host a wine and cheese for students and professors to mingle outside of the classroom. It gives students a chance to get to know each other and make friends they will share classes with, and creates a relationship between students and professors that transcends the classroom. These events are part of what makes Bishop's such a great learning environment for students, who are seen as more than just a face in a lecture hall.

The Gait Gatsby

Though we recently entered the ‘20s ourselves, we were unable to celebrate in 1920s style as is customary every November. One of the Gait’s most popular events, the Gait Gatsby, was unfortunately cancelled due to the restrictions we’ve had to abide by this year, like a prohibition of our own. No one donned their pearls or flapper dresses this year, having to stay in as the Eastern Townships went from an orange- to red-alert zone. Celebrating the 2020s in 1920s style will have to wait another year!

Two Year’s Eve

Though we can’t celebrate the transition into the new year all together on January 1st, Bishop’s nevertheless finds a way to commemorate the start of the new year within the BUbble! Once the Winter semester picks up, the Gait usually hosts a party to welcome the new year as Gaiters do, but not at the stroke of midnight... Here at BU, we celebrate the belated start of the year at 2 a.m., giving the celebration its name. Still in a red zone with curfew looming past 8 p.m. and many students still at a distance when the semester started, there was no celebration of the new year at BU.
WINTERFEST

The SRC was able to give us a version of Winterfest despite the pandemic, but nothing beats the traditional party in the quad and the Rail Jam event. Winter always feels brighter when the giant rail appears in the quad and promises a fun-filled weekend ahead. Fur coats, bright colours, and snow gear are all musts to celebrate the cold Canadian winter together, warm and in style.

BUFF

The BU Film Festival, BUFF for short, is like our very own movie festival and award show all wrapped into one! Hosted in Centennial, student-made short films are premiered for a full theatre audience and a number of judges. Everyone votes on the best film in a number of categories, and after a brief intermission, the movie screening turns into an award ceremony. This year, the event took place online and we were invited to host our own red carpets, but nothing beats the real thing!

THE PARTIES!

In a regular year, Lennoxville is usually bustling with activity! Animal House, Reed Street, and the Lion have their doors open to welcome students for a fun time. Whether it’s the Halloweekend onesie party at Animal, the ABC party on Reed Street, Saint Patrick’s day, or anything in between, Lennoxville knows how to get down and have a good time! This year was certainly more quiet, and we look forward to seeing the Bishop’s community as full of life as it has been in past years.

TO LOOK FORWARD TO IN THE FUTURE!
EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES
The Bishop’s Running Club offers an easy going atmosphere for students looking to get outside with fellow runners without the commitment of rigorous training from sports teams. We meet twice a week for runs throughout Lennoxville with distances ranging from 5-10k. Lace up your sneakers and meet us under the arches!

BISHOP’S RUNNING CLUB

Founded in 2018, the knitting club is the go-to club for needle work, crochet and knitting. We met online almost all year, with the first few meetings hosted on campus in the gazebo! This year, members participated in a Canada-wide knitting project to honour those affected by the pandemic. Keep knitting Gaiters!

BISHOP’S KNITTING CLUB
Bishop’s University has a wealth of clubs for students to get involved in. Even though a pandemic kept us at a distance, clubs on campus found innovative ways to stay busy and keep the BU community connected. They provided a much-needed social safety net in times when interaction and social stimulation can be all too hard to come by. Let’s see how students kept active at the university!

BU Snow, established in 2006, is the gathering of Bishop’s University’s finest and brightest students who all share a passion for hitting the slopes. Every year, the club provides its members with the most luxurious and economical deals for the best mountains of the region, with stylish merch, and with invites to the most wholesome of gatherings.

The Bishop’s Outdoors Club aims to boost student wellness by creating an inclusive space for students to get outdoors. Our goal is to promote a community that upholds inclusivity and empowerment through our many trips and events. One of our main objectives is to reduce our impact as a club and teach land-based values. When planning our events, we make it a priority to reduce our footprint.
Enactus is a global non-profit that encourages youth to use the power of entrepreneurial action to transform lives by focusing on economic, social and environmental issues. Enactus Bishop’s is currently working on a new project, Mindfulness Moments, which aims to make a positive impact on the mental health of Bishop’s students.

Encounter Student Ministries is a faith-based Christian Association seeking to love and serve Bishop’s students and the Lennoxville community. Our desire is to provide students with a place where they can experience Jesus’s love through conversation and friendship. We’ve spent this time of social distancing planning for next year, gathering in-person when allowed, participating in online prayer meetings, and distributing care packages to students.
After months of preparation, The Williams School of Business sent 20 Delegates to participate and compete in the first ever JDC Central competition in January 2021. Throughout the weekend-long event, four academic teams competed in their respective disciplines, and the social team partook in a 24-hour livestream challenge. The Finance Team earned first place while the Marketing and Business Strategy Teams each placed third. In addition, Quinsea McKenna earned the Bishop’s Delegate of the Year award and Amanda Mumford was awarded the Captain of the Year award.

Englit is an all-inclusive, student-run organization working from the Bishop’s English Department. Over the course of the school year, we host poetry nights, hold bake sales, fundraisers, and other student-specific events, often working in conjunction with other clubs and promoting a wide variety of interdisciplinary fraternization. Our big claim to fame is the themed murder mystery party we host every semester!
The BU ASL (American Sign Language) Club encourages bridging the gap between the hearing and hearing-impaired community through ASL and learning about Deaf culture. We have weekly meetings at the beginner and intermediate level open to all who want to learn and practice ASL! Come and socialize with us while learning a new language in a fun, interactive way!

PISA

PISA is a student-run association for all students in the Politics and International Studies department here at BU. We run events such as speaker nights, trivia, graduate school info sessions, and more. We are here to help the students in our department make the most out of their time at Bishop’s, and to help them take advantage of all the incredible opportunities our school and department offer!
BUHA strives to uphold the values of BU’s small community by embracing each one of it’s members. Despite the prevention of in-person meetings, the History Association continued to be informative of all things historical; from posting about important historical events, to commemorating Black History Month, to advising students about history classes; BUHA did not fail in using this year to continue embracing each of its members.

The Men’s Hockey Team is a club sport that brings Bishop’s Students together who have both a passion and a talent for hockey. Despite only being granted a brief season this year, the Hockey team did not cease to use this time to give back to our community through cancer support initiatives, as seen in this photo, and by volunteering at the Bishop’s Blood Drive.
Not all clubs were able to share a photo and blurb for a spotlight in the yearbook, but Bishop's has many extracurriculars to offer! Here is a full list of opportunities on campus for students to get involved in.

SRC AWARDS

MICHEL FONTAINE EXPERIENCE AWARD
The Michel Fontaine Experience Award, which is accompanied by a monetary award, is given to one or two student(s) who, in the opinion of the Executive Cabinet has exemplified the “Bishop’s Experience” through campus leadership, athletics, and/or community involvement. The SRC podium was made by Michel Fontaine’s father in his memory.

Sabrina-Binta Koné, Izzy Audet

SRC MERIT AWARD
The SRC Merit Award(s), which is accompanied by a monetary award, shall go to the one or two student(s) who, in the opinion of the Executive Cabinet, has/have rendered outstanding service to the SRC in various areas.

David Piperno, Casey Hébert

SRC EXTRA LEADERSHIP AWARD
This award is given to an SRC club head (or heads) that has shown dedication to not only the club but to the greater Bishop’s community. A student can be nominated for this award by members of the club that they oversee, or can be nominated by someone in the Bishop’s community that has felt an impact by the club. Nominees for this award can be a graduating or non-graduating student, and the award winner will be selected by the SRC Executive cabinet.

Maia Lugar, Marie-Pier Allard (PISA)

SRC EXTRA COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARD
Each year, two clubs are given these awards based on the change they have made in the Bishop’s community and/or the Lennoxville community. The criteria are that a club has promoted social values in the community, making the university a truly better place to live in. Clubs can be nominated by any student at the university, and the award winners will be selected by the SRC Executive cabinet.

BU Outdoors Club, Psychology Club

OUTSTANDING DEPARTMENT
This award is an award meant to recognize the academic departments that go above and beyond the call of duty to improve the educational experience of Bishop’s students. Note that this is not meant to be a reflection of teaching performance.

Music

OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC SUPPORT/SERVICE AWARD
This award is meant to recognize staff or employees outside of the classroom who have helped students along in their academic journey.

Mike Andrews, Dr. Michael Teed

JOY CHANDLER COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT AWARD
This award is presented to one or two internal or external community members for outstanding contributions to student life, someone who helps bring the community and the students together. Nominations are reviewed and voted upon by the SRC Board of Student Representatives.

Anika Veilleux-Malone, Theresa Gagnon

RAY LAWSON AWARD
The Ray Lawson Award, which is accompanied by a reduction in tuition, is given to the returning student who, in the opinion of the SRC Board of Student Representatives as decided by majority vote, has contributed the most to the life of the university during the past year.

Sufia Langevin
Every year, the SRC recognizes students, professors, academic departments, and clubs of note. Everyone had a hard task this year in standing out, but many rose above and beyond to make this year exceptional. Here are this year's winners, congratulations!

JOSHEPHE E. CASSAR AWARD

The Joseph E. Cassar Award, which is accompanied by a monetary award, is given to the student who, in the opinion of the SRC Board of Student Representatives as decided by majority vote, has contributed the most to the SRC during the past year.

OLGA REID MEMORIAL AWARD FOR JOURNALISM

Awarded annually to the student journalist or writer who, in the opinion of The Campus Editorial Board, has written the best article or series during the academic year.

SRC ACADEMIC IMPACT AWARDS

These awards were created by the SRC Executive cabinet to recognize the students, faculty, and community members who have made a significant contribution to academic life at Bishop’s. Winners were selected by the Executive Council as a whole.

SRC STUDENT LIFE IMPACT AWARDS

These awards were created by the SRC Executive cabinet to recognize the students, faculty, and community members who have made a significant contribution to student life at Bishop’s. Winners were selected by the Executive Council as a whole.

PURPLE LETTER AWARDS

This award is given to those students who have made a consistent contribution to the life of the university and community and who might not otherwise be recognized for their efforts. Award winners are nominated by members of the university and the community. The Purple Letter Award recipients are selected by a committee chaired by the Dean of Student Affairs. Recipients receive a gold pin at the SRC Awards Night.

JOAN & ALEX PATERSON AWARD

Awarded to a graduating student who, during their years at Bishop’s University, contributes the most to volunteer work and activities in the off-campus community. This is accompanied by a monetary award. The Selection Committee for this award is chaired by the Dean of Student Affairs.

GOLDEN MITRE AWARD

The Golden Mitre Awards are the highest non-academic honour that graduating students can receive. Recipients are elected by the prospective graduating class. The names of the new members are announced at the annual SRC Awards Night, while their personal pins and certificates of membership are presented at the Spring Convocation ceremony. Members shall have their names engraved on the Golden Mitre Honour Society plaque in the order of their rank.

JULIE BRADSHAW MEMORIAL AWARD

Established in 2003 in memory of Julie Bradshaw ’80 and given to the Golden Mitre winner with the highest number of votes. This is accompanied by a monetary award. Julia Marie Bradshaw was a BU student who died in 2001. In the last months of her life, she identified her undergraduate years at Bishop’s as among the happiest in her life.

Dear students!

Last year (2020), I wrote the following: “While the 2019-20 academic year was like no other in my memory, each and every academic year is unique in its own.” I never dreamed that I would have to refer to COVID again one year later. Sadly, I cannot avoid it.

I will try not to dwell on the negative—the many challenges of COVID, the isolation and lack of human contact... I broke my femur skiing on December 24th, 2020. Une année plate, in so many ways. But there are always silver linings buried somewhere within those clouds.

I am confident that every one of you enjoyed and learned a lot from your classes delivered by excellent professors. I know that many of us struggled with the technology from time to time. How many times did I forget to unmute myself when I wanted to speak? How many times did I try to share the darn Teams screen and it did not work? Nevertheless, I know that we all managed much better than we expected we would. I am confident that you learned a lot from your classes.

Many of you experienced an inspiring classmate whose class presentation evoked an emotional response. Some of you will remember a transformational, thought-provoking novel, play or article that you read as part of one of your courses. Some of you worked alongside a professor as research assistant and will have learned amazing skills that will prepare you for your chosen career or graduate studies. A Donald Lecture speaker may have inspired and challenged your perspective on an important world issue. Jane Goodall anyone? WOW!

The academic and intellectual realm at Bishop’s is central to the overall student experience. You register at our university to obtain a degree or certificate, to gain knowledge and to develop competencies that will equip you to contribute constructively to the world in which we live. Access to higher education is such a privilege. Sadly, not all citizens of the world have easy access to the kind of high quality university education that we offer at Bishop’s. I feel so fortunate to play a part in making it possible for you to study at Bishop’s.

Cherish your time on the virtual and real-time shores of the Massawippi. The COVID-19 global pandemic will soon be a phenomenon of the past, but your intellectual growth and the lifetime BU friendships will remain with you forevermore.

Sincere congratulations to those who are graduating this year. We look forward to celebrating your success in August! Come back to see us at Homecoming—often.

We look forward to welcoming those of you who are not quite ready to cross the stage back on campus soon! In person.

Get vaccinated. Stay safe.

Cheers! Courage et santé!

Miles Turnbull
ASSOCIATE VICE DEAN
ACADEMIC’S NOTE

This has been an unusual year for me since I assumed the new administrative position of Associate Vice Principal Academic in September 2020. As interim Dean of Arts and Science I had shepherded the transition of over four hundred courses from in-person to remote delivery for the final weeks of the Winter 2020 semester, so was not entirely unprepared for the challenges of an entire year under pandemic conditions. However, responding to what seemed like ever-changing public health parameters as we juggled the demands of our academic programming, the needs of faculty and of students has kept me very busy. I’m hopeful this will prove to be an aberrant year and not the new normal and that the skills we’ve all acquired will stand us in good stead.

It has been challenging but exciting as we’ve worked collectively to maintain some semblance of the “Bishop’s experience” despite not being able to meet regularly in person. My highlights of the 2020-2021 academic year are no doubt the opportunities I had to welcome our new tenure-track hires in early Fall as I organized various workshops and get-togethers, and established a mentoring system with senior faculty, to welcome them to Bishop’s. Another highlight was the opportunity to establish a student intern for the Grace Village- the local residence for the elderly. Our first intern, Dara Barton, has worked to create opportunities for students from Bishop’s, and local schools, to virtually interact with the residents. This has offered us all a glimpse into the challenges of being in a retirement home during the pandemic and heightened our awareness of the importance of community outreach. Dara devised ways for students to present seminars, for residents to view class presentations, and most popularly for residents to join us for Jane Goodall’s amazing Donald lecture. I will work to strengthen our connections with the Grace in the coming years.

The lack of physical interaction wore increasingly thin this term so I established the weekly “proof of life” Hot Chocolate stand. Each Wednesday, from 11:30-1:30, I organized a copious supply of free hot chocolate and whipped cream to be served outside the LLC in the main quad. I envisioned different departments would “staff” the table each week. To this end I coerced my colleagues from the Department of English, Drs Brophy and McBrine, to join me for the first week. I was delighted to find that students immediately volunteered their various clubs to staff the table going forward. To date we have had members of the Dragon Club, the American Sign Language club, Bishop’s Running Club, Peer workers, and the Campus editorial board all lend a hand. It has been a fun, though sometimes chilly, couple of hours, during which time staff, faculty and students meet for a delicious drink and a socially distanced chat. The opportunity for students to showcase their clubs is something we will continue well beyond the pandemic.

My hope is that the resilience and creativity we have all shown this year bodes well for the future as we plan to be largely back in person on campus for Fall 2021.

Throughout the academic year, the Eastern Townships shifted in and out of various stages of COVID-19 alert. This meant that the restrictions varied throughout the year. At times, we were free to host events and attend classes in person, but at others, we were all confined to our homes. Our experiences of classes and Bishop’s varied along with those restrictions.
Anyone returning to campus after March was in for a shock due to the many changes that the pandemic inflicted. Rooms and areas that had once been full were stripped bare to abide by COVID regulations. The Library Learning Commons, Sports centre, Dewies, and classrooms all saw their capacities reduced drastically. In addition, new installations were set up on campus to keep everyone as safe as possible. From signage on the walls, doors, floors, and furniture to hand-washing stations, hand sanitizer dispensers, and plexiglas shields, all precautions were taken to keep our community safe.
Despite shifting in and out of different restriction levels, the Library Learning Commons remained a go-to study spot for students throughout the year. Though there were several differences compared to previous years, one thing was consistent: the LLC atmosphere is perfect for getting work done!
With classes this year being a mix of in-person, hybrid, and online delivery, students could stretch across town, Canada, and the globe while completing their semesters at Bishop’s. This lead to a year of creative and adapted study spaces being adopted by students; bedroom desks, dining room tables, living room couches, and even beds were converted into work stations—no space was spared!

When possible, many students chose to return to the comforts of a traditional learning environment. In-person sections of classes were usually full, and the Library Learning Commons remained a study-hub, COVID permitting.

It became necessary for students to distinguish their spaces as much as possible: since school work was relegated to students’ homes instead of the classroom, the line between home and class became increasingly blurry. One remedy for this was to designate a specific working area at home or to take school work to the local library or coffee shop while that was still allowed. In any case, students and teachers alike demonstrated resiliency and inventivity in transitioning to online learning.

Last year’s show, The Miracle Worker, was cancelled on opening night due to the pandemic. Students had worked tirelessly to bring the show together, so collected here are some photos from their rehearsals to honour their dedication.
Theatres may have been shut down for the year, but that didn’t prevent the Drama Department from putting on a show! Although none of the festivals or performances in Turner Studio or Centennial could carry on, the Drama Department stayed busy by recording a performance of L’Affaire Tartuffe by Marianne Acker-man. COVID-19 was certainly an obstacle to the department and the recorded show, with the ever-shifting alert zones and students being spread across the globe, but as they say in the business, the show must go on! Through a series of innovations and creative solutions, the Drama Department was able to virtually put on one of the four shows it usually does.
Over the course of the year, every department was hit by changes brought on by the pandemic. Though it may seem like the Fine Arts Department got through relatively unscathed, able to maintain many in-person classes, that was not the case. Like everyone else, they had to make a number of accommodations to account for the pandemic. Nevertheless, they were able to deliver quality courses, as demonstrated by the artwork produced by students.
SHOWCASES

The customary Fine Arts Department showcases that turn Molson into a museum of students’ work every semester had to give way to a virtual platform this year in the Fall semester, with artwork being posted to the Fine Arts Department’s Facebook page. In the Winter semester, the department was able to expose students’ artwork in the Foreman Art Gallery on campus, giving everyone the chance to see final results in person as opposed to online.
On Nov. 10, this year’s Donald Lecture series kicked off with a talk by Marie Wilson, one of the three commissioners of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada (TRC) from 2009-2015. Warranted by her long and wide-spanning career as a journalist, Wilson has become a highly distinguished and recognized figure in Canada, but she called her role on the TRC “the great pride” of her life. Tuning in from her home in Yellowknife, NT, Wilson spoke earnestly and profoundly of the thousands of cases of which she had heard during her time as commissioner and of which she continues to hear. […]

At its conclusion in 2015, the TRC, the first such commission in the world to specifically address child victims, presented 94 calls to action to the Federal and Provincial governments. These calls, written to incite remedy and change, consist of wide-spread and elaborate directives on how to begin addressing reconciliation. Five years later, Wilson recognizes some successes, such as the subsequent Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women launched in 2016, and some failures, most notably how the current Trudeau administration has still not implemented a National Council for Reconciliation. Wilson also pressed the fact that the Trudeau administration has still not implemented a National Council for Reconciliation. Wilson also pressed the fact that the Trudeau administration has not, since the TRC’s conclusion, presented a single yearly report as to whether the situation is improving or not. “There is no way to see if we’re getting better,” Wilson says, “as we keep flying blind.”

Nonetheless, Wilson’s lecture was extremely heartfelt, informative, and hopeful. She remembered her experience, many decades ago, whilst studying in France and stumbling randomly upon the house where Victor Hugo was born. The famed author had come alive at that moment for a young Marie Wilson, and she related the experience to what Indigenous people are undergoing today. We are, according to Wilson, in the early stages of realizing that Indigenous people in Canada are trying to be recognized as human; to be seen, to be heard, and to be loved. They are—and in most cases ‘they’ refers to survivors of residential schools and intergenerational survivors—looking for their lost homes, identities, and language. […]

As part of the TRC’s mandate, Wilson and her colleagues chose to focus on the seven sacred teachings found in many North-American Indigenous traditions: respect, courage, love, truth, humility, honesty, and wisdom. The TRC organized seven national events modeled around these seven teachings, from which, Wilson says, she heard thousands of stories and perspectives. Speaking of these stories today, Wilson is still moved to tears. She was also surprised at how little blaming was included in the testimonies. Rather, Wilson pointed out that she heard much more of reclamation, resilience, and courage in the heartbreaking stories of survival.

On Feb. 25, as part of the Donald Lecture Series, Bishop’s University hosted a talk with Dr. Jane Goodall. As an online lecture, the spectatorship was no longer confined to Centennial Hall, and as such approximately 2,000 attendees tuned in. After the usual opening remarks from Principal Michael Goldbloom, Kailey Karahkin Nicholas, a first-year student and the University’s Turtle Island intern, introduced Jane Goodall.

For over six decades, Dr. Goodall’s research and work have transformed the scientific perceptive and relationship between humans and animals. She has become famous notably for her work with apes, and, remarkably, Dr. Goodall introduced herself in chimpanzee language, explaining how every chimp has a different, unique call for their name. [...] Dr. Goodall noticed that one chimp, which she named David Greybeard, began to lose his fear of her. As such, it was easier for young Jane to study its behaviours, and she eventually observed that the chimpanzee would sit on a termite mound, break off grass stems, and use them to fish out termites. David was making and using tools. Until then, it was understood that a primary distinction between humans and animals was the former’s ability to use tools. Dr. Goodall mentioned the striking similarities she noticed in studying chimps between their behaviours and ours. Though these ideas may seem common today, they were quite controversial for the period. [...] Since then, her work has expanded to defend all wildlife and its environment. In 1977, Dr. Goodall founded the Jane Goodall Institute for Wildlife. The organization has found, and continues to study, ways to restore fertility. [...] The organization also uses cutting-edge technology to help rural communities plan out the use of their land for a sustainable future.

Travelling around the world to talk about environmental problems faced in Africa, Dr. Goodall met many young people who seemed, despite all efforts, to have lost hope. “We have compromised their future,” she says. “We have stolen from our children and are still stealing. We brought COVID on ourselves by our absolute disrespect of the environment and of animals by bringing species within too close contact with humans. Selling them in wildlife markets, crowding them together in horrible conditions—this pandemic was our own making.” Dr. Goodall also recognizes the problem of poverty and how it contributes to environmental destruction. “People can’t afford to ask themselves if their products harm the environment, harm animals, or use child slavery. The poor are struggling to fish the last fish and feed themselves.”

Despite the grim understanding of our world, Dr. Goodall maintains many reasons for hope. “We are coming up with more and more ways to make things better. We’re beginning to think, in our own lives, how to leave a lighter ecological footprint.” After answering a few questions, Dr. Goodall thanked the university and urged everyone to do their part, leaving some 2000 attendees with a feeling of hope rather than despair.

COVID-19

I was inspired by people’s positive attitudes this year and how hard they tried to make the best of the year.

I wish I could have been in a classroom. Working online did get easier as it went, but all year I longed to sit in a classroom with other students and be lectured to. I’m graduating so I hate knowing I’ll never get that chance again.

As a first year student, I’m bummed not to have gotten to experience all that Bishop’s has to offer. I really hope my next years here pick up.

I wish people had been respecting the guidelines.

I feel bad for profs. Adapting classes couldn’t have been easy and engagement was so low this year.

I hate that I had to give up so much of “the best years of my life” to COVID.

I really hope next year is different.

I’m worried about going back to regular classes in person. I’m just getting used to online learning and I feel like I’ve lost regular study habits, so re-adapting is going to be hard...

As hard as everyone tried, this year was just nothing like the real thing.

I miss my friends.

I really hope my next years here pick up.

My grades have never been better! It was a real comfort being able to work from home and not be at BU all the time. I felt a lot safer studying online. My anxiety can make it hard for me to get to class, so being able to watch recordings after the fact was really useful to me. In some ways, COVID-19 was helpful to me. I far preferred assignments and quizzes given this year to midterms and exams. I hope profs try to keep the grading scheme from this year.

I can’t wait to give all my classmates a nice wet kiss when this is all over. It’s a very bittersweet moment to graduate. I feel very sad not having been able to say goodbye to some of my closest friends, or give my time here a proper goodbye. I can’t believe how many profs assigned group work.

Where one might assume a pandemic would slow the world down, the lack of normalcy only invigorated the Bishop's community in amplifying our voices.

“As a son of Egyptian immigrants, issues surrounding Radicalized groups and Visible Minorities have always been a concern for me. Having the opportunity to serve on this task force with great people who want to make our institution better by making it more Equal, Diverse and Inclusive is an honour and a privilege.”

AN ERA OF ACTIVISM

Being on the EDI task force is important to me because it affords me opportunities to drive true change for students who look like me. Saying you want change is easy, but action is what truly matters; hence, this is one way for me to hopefully help make BU a much more culturally inclusive institution.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE
Graduating students lost a lot in their two final years at Bishop’s. From their penultimate year being unexpectedly cut short to their final year being swept by the pandemic, it was hard to feel like they were giving the proper send-off to their time at Bishop’s. Consequently, the Grad Formal Committee felt it was essential to make a COVID-safe event that would put a memorable cap on the years each graduating student had spent at Bishop’s, regardless of the pandemic.

The goal of the event was to connect students from a safe distance and give them a ceremonial event to conclude their time at Bishop’s. By giving students bundles with dinners, drinks, and decorations, the committee hoped to make students feel like they were all sharing one event despite it being spread across households. Hosting photobooths on campus was another way to make the event feel more formal and special. Finally, a slideshow of photos from their time at BU and an award ceremony allowed students to reminisce over their time spent together at Bishop’s.
No matter how many years they spent at Bishop’s, all students in the graduating class undeniably changed in their time here.

We fondly remember who we were at the start of our Bishop’s journeys and are proud of the progress that we have made as students and as people. Through the many opportunities Bishop’s put in our paths, we were able to grow into the individuals we are today.
This space is reserved to reminisce over how we began our journeys and what Bishop's was to us in the years spent here.

These college days certainly will linger ever in our hearts, and we are grateful for the experiences we shared here together.
RAISE A TOAST
Adapting to online learning, regardless of your year of university studies, has certainly proven to be a difficult feat. Whether in your first or last year of studies, or anything in between, the circumstances this year were a lot to overcome. Several parents wanted to take an opportunity to congratulate their children for their resiliency, adaptability, and perseverance this year in the face of the pandemic and throughout their university career more broadly. We all deserve to give ourselves a pat on the back for making it through the past year, but parents chose to give specific recognition to...

Although this year was definitely different from what we are used to, we all still found ways to make the best of it and pack our year at Bishop's full of indelible memories! Through adaptability, humour, patience, and good-nature, the Bishop's community was able to strive as though there was no pandemic holding it back. The students, faculty, and administration all managed to uphold the traditions that make our time here so memorable, showing proof of resourcefulness in a time when we faced daily challenges we had never known before. This approach to the year, centered around the events and experiences that make Bishop's so unique, helped us all find our footing in these unprecedented times. A dash of familiarity in our purple home grounded us and kept us sane, and we are grateful for the dedication of the entire Bishop's community that made this possible.

We hope that this yearbook has been a faithful representation of the past year, and that despite the changes and hardships we faced, it helps you look back on all the good times we've had throughout this unforgettable year!
... BE PROUD OF HOW YOU LEAVE.
