

Categories of Job Titles Relevant to Psychology Bachelor's Degree Holders

Related to psychology	Related to business	Other areas
Academic advisor	Administrative assistant	Advisory director
Alcohol/drug abuse counsellor	Advertising agent	Assistant youth coordinator
Behaviour analyst	Advertising trainee	Assistant youth coordinator
Career counsellor	Affirmative action rep	College admissions officer
Career planning/placement	Airline reservation clerk	Community organizer
Counsellor	Bank management	Community recreation worker
Case management aide	Claims specialist	Community relations officer
Case worker	Customer relations	Congressional aide
Child care worker	Customer service rep	Crime prevention coordinator
Child protection worker	Employee counsellor	Director alumni relations
Community outreach worker	Employee relations assistant	Director fundraising
Community support worker	Energy researcher	Driving instructor
Corrections officer	Events coordinator	Educational coordinator
Counsellor aide	Financial research	Fast food restaurant manager
Day care centre supervisor	Hotel management	Foster home parent
Director of volunteer service	Human relations director	Film research/copywriter
Eligibility worker	Human resources recruiter	Historical research assistant
Employment counsellor	Insurance agent	Hospital patient service
Family services worker	Insurance claims underwriter	Representative
Gerontology aide	Intelligence officer	Juvenile probation officer
Group home coordinator	Job analyst	Lab assistant
Housing/student life coordinator	Loan officer	Law enforcement officer
Life skills counsellor	Lobbying organizer	Neighbourhood outreach worker
Mental health tech	Management trainee	Newspaper reporter
Mental retardation unit manager	Marketing rep	Nursing home administrator
Parole officer	Marketing researcher	Park and recreation director
Political campaign worker	Media buyer	Private tutor
Probation officer	Occupational analyst	Research assistant
Program manager	Office manager	Security officer
Public affairs coordinator	Personnel worker/administrator	Statistical assistant
Public relations specialist	Property management	Statistical report compiler
Publications researcher	Public information officer	Store manager
Radio/TV research assistant	Sales rep	Task force coordinator
Rehabilitation advisor	Small business owner	Teaching
Residential counsellor	Staff training and development	Technical writer
Residential youth counsellor	Store manager	Vocational rehab counsellor
Secondary school teacher	Technical writer	Volunteer coordinator
Social services assistant	Warehouse manager	Warehouse manager
Social services director		Work activity program director
Social work assistant		Youth minister
Urban planning research assistant
Veterans advisor

From:

Landman, R.E. (2001). I'm getting my Bachelor's degree in Psychology – What can I do with it? Eye on Psi Chi, 6, 22-24.

What Graduate Programs (including non-psych) Can I apply to with my Bachelor's Degree in Psychology

The ways in which you may further your education after your bachelor's degree in Psychology are limited only by your imagination. Nonetheless, there are certain programs which seem to attract Psychology students.

- All areas of Psychology
 - Social Psychology
 - Consulting Psychology
 - Industrial/Organizational Psychology
 - Health Psychology
 - Clinical Psychology
 - Counselling Psychology (often found in faculties of Education)
- Marriage and Family Therapy
- Law
- Optometry
- Naturopathy
- Osteopathy
- Physical Therapy or Occupational Therapy
- Nursing
- Speech Pathology
- Audiology
- Public Health
- Social Work
- Human Resources
- Business Administration
- Marketing
- Communications, Public Relations
- Cognitive Science
- Neurological Science
- Education
- Art Therapy, Music Therapy and Drama Therapy
- Criminology
- Genetic Counselling
- Psychoeducation
- Gerontology

N.B. Some universities and programs may require you to complete a qualifying year before admission to the master's or doctoral program.

For further information:

Steinberg, R.J. (2007). Career Paths in Psychology. Where your degree can take you (2nd ed.) Washington, DC American Psychological Association